HEADQUARTERS FOR FASHIONABLE GARMENTS.

NEWTON PEOPLE who want the most reliable Electrical Appliances in their residences, should insist upon having the new "Triumph" Automatic and the "Tip-Top" Ratchet Burners, the "Tirrell" Gravity Drop Annunciators, the "Victor" and "Standard" Call Bells, and the "Sarsen" Battery, — the strongest and most durable open-circuit battery in the world. — and other supplies made by the Electric Gas Lighting Co., whose warehouses are at 195 Devonshire St., Boston.

You can doubtless buy cheaper material of other concerns; but this company has the best reputation for first-class electrical goods extant; and, as a result, its trade extends throughout this country and parts of Europe. It does no construction work, but can always put inquirers in communication with the most competent and reliable Electrical Contractors and Fitters, as such parties are most generally customers of ours, whom we are glad to recommend. Always select the best in this line, and you will find it the cheapest in the long run. Respectfully, first meeting on Thursday, and another meeting will be held the last Thursday afternoon of the month. The objects for which ladies will work are given in a circular recently issued.

LOUIS W. BURNHAM, THE ELECTRIC GAS LIGHTING CO.

22 & 24 TEMPLE PLACE.

Mr. J. Wallace Goodrich will be at Eliot church, Tuesday morning, on and after Oct. 14th, from 10 to 12, to meet any who may desire to arrange for piano or organ lessons. His address for the winter is 35 St. James avenue, Boston.

The R. M. Phillips estate at Allston, sold by J. F. C. Hyde to Samuel Hano for about $100,000, has proved a good venture, as it is understood that Mr. Hano has already been offered a handsome advance on the cost, but prefers to develop the property.

The Newton Savings Bank added over $18,000 to their deposits this week, preparatory to beginning the new quarter. The increase was a remarkable one considering the tightness of the money market and the hard times that people have experienced the past three months.

Mrs. M. A. Moore, late of Philadelphia, will receive pupils and form a class in instruction in oils, water colors and crayon work after October 9. Mrs. Moore is highly endorsed as a skillful teacher by former pupils to whom she refers, and her studio is at 44 Jefferson street.

The fifth regiment of infantry participated in the annual state contest at South Framingham last Saturday and came out first in the regimental competition matches. Private Scott made a score of 40 and Lieut. Edes tapped the bullseye for 30 points. In the individual contest Capt. Appleton scored 32.

At the state bicycle meet in Lynn, Saturday, A. W. Porter of this city, won the one mile handicap, ordinary, took third prize in the one-third mile ordinary and fourth in the one mile ordinary. He is among the list of entries for the Boston Athletic Association 25-mile road race to take place Oct. 4.

"Juvenile" will be the name of the millinery store, in Eliot block, formerly owned by Mr. H. J. Woods. The proprietor is still Miss Robbins, who gained many patrons by her tasteful work last spring, and the ladies of Newton will find here a choice assortment of goods, and skilled hands to suit all tastes.

Aban, Trowbridge & Co. sold the Holbrook house on Jefferson street on Saturday, for $2800, to Mr. H. E. Hibbard, who already owns most of the street. There was a good attendance of bidders. It is said that Mr. Hibbard has already disposed of the house to a gentleman who will put in modern improvements and fit it up for his own residence.

The choral services at Eliot church will be resumed next Sunday evening, October 5th, at 7:30 o'clock, with the following program: Anthem, "O Come, let us Worship"; Mendelssohn; anthem, "Be Glad, O ye Righteous"; Smart; hymn, "The Day is Past and Over"; written for the choir; quartet, "Come unto Me"; Gounod; Festival Te Deum, Dudley Buck.

Mr. J. W. Barber has recently returned from a tour of Colorado with a party of five; a hunting trip was made from Glenwood Springs on horseback, the permanent camp being at Traffen lake, which is about ten miles beyond the Marvin peaks. Before joining the party home Mr. Barber in company with W. B. Closson, the artist and engraver, visited the largest canon in Colorado.

The Waban Racquet Club held their annual dinner at Young's Hotel last Saturday evening. The following officers were elected for the coming year, besides other business which was transacted: H. A. Sampson, president; J. C. Brinkman, sec.; W. L. Sampson, vice pres. and treas. Messrs. Solis and Wetherbee were appointed a committee on grass. Mr. J. R. Griswold was elected member at large on the executive committee.

A merry party of ladies and gentlemen took possession of the steamer John Brooks, of the Boston & Portsmouth line, at Snow's wharf, last Friday evening, and returned to Mr. W. E. Pearson, the popular and courteous manager of the line, with an elegant silver water service. The evening was then passed in a social manner with music, dancing and a collation which was served by Caterer Smith. Many Newton people were included in the company.

Rev. Mr. Hornbrooke will begin Sunday evening a series of lectures in Channing Church Chapel, entitled "Religious givings by Scotch little girls on Richardson street, 1832; Baptist Sunday school, cake, bread, watermelon; Eliot church, rolls; Newtonville, box of dolls, furniture and clothing; Newton Centre, milk, tomatoes, corn, cucumbers. These gifts were all highly acceptable to the inmates of the home. Nothing comes amiss in the way of food, clothing and other household needs in raising and growing family of twenty children.

The new Unitarian club of Newton met at the Channing church parlors Monday evening and voted to hold meetings the third Thursday evening in each month from October to May. The following officers were elected: President, Winfield S. Hutchinson; vice presidents, Hon. R. C. Pitman, F. W. Stone; secretary, J. Herbert Packer; treasurer, Geo. W. Crosby; executive committee, Henry E. Bothfield, Geo. B. Jones, R. A. Ballou, Reuben Ford, H. C. Hunt; membership committee, Bruce R. Ware, J. Edward Hills, C. H. Fowkes; entertainment committee, A. W. B. Hunt, N. L. Ripley, John W. Fisher; music committee, C. Bowditch Coffin, F. A. Weatherbee, Geo. H. Brown.

The executive committee of the Newton branch of the Massachusetts Hygiene and Emergency Society met in the parish house of Grace church on Tuesday evening. The special subjects considered were Emergency and Nursing lectures. Causes and Prevention of Malaria in Newton and Play Grounds for Recreation and Health. Applications were received for two courses of lectures to be delivered this fall, and others are in consideration. The following resolutions were adopted: 1. That the committee ask the attention of the Newton board of health to the growing need of some system of sewerage whereby the prevalence of malaria may be checked, and that the board of health be requested to present this subject to the city government. 2. That this committee recommends the securing of land for the purposes of a play ground at Nonantum, believing that such a measure is timely and that it would aid the public health in a rapidly growing community.

A large number of ladies visited the millinery opening at The Juvenile, as Miss E. J. Robbins has named her store on Elmwood street, in Eliot block, and the opening continues this afternoon. The store has been enlarged during the summer and a large parlor added, for the convenience of customers and the exhibition of trimmed hats and bonnets. The display is an unusually fine one, this year, judging from the comments of the ladies. The variety was unusual and some beautiful combinations and effects were shown, made from the new colors in velvets and feathers in vogue this season, and many who usually go to Boston either purchased one of the opening hats or left orders for one, which shows that taste and skill are appreciated by Newton ladies. All the hats and bonnets exhibited were made or trimmed in the store, as Miss Robbins wished to give a practical illustration of the style of work done in Newton, and the result seemed to be more than satisfactory.

The letters containing votes for Superintendent of Streets have been coming to the GRAPHIC office all the week, a great majority of them containing only one or two votes each, showing that the citizens take a lively interest in the matter. One man endorsed on his vote for Mr. Stuart "I pay over $1,000 in taxes, and I think Mr. Stuart is the man." It has been decided to close the voting next week, as that will give all an opportunity to express their preferences, and will show what the sentiments of the citizens of Newton are in regard to the appointment.

George E. Stuart, 297
James F. Edmonds, 116
Arthur Muldoon, 25
William A. Prescott, 12
W. F. Harbach, 7
F. M. Whipple, 1

NAME

NEWTON ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

DR. MARY E. BATES RESIGNS.

To the Members of the Society:

Ladies and Gentlemen:—I hereby tender my resignation as president of the Newton Associated Charities. Owing to increased professional duties, as well as an ever increasing amount of work in the society, I am unable to stand at the head any longer.

I shall always work in whatever way I can, to promote the best interests of the society and the grand work it is doing. I wish to thank each and every member for ever ready willingness to work. You have given more than money; you have given yourselves, your best thoughts and energies, realizing that everyone who elevates a human being, raises the average standard of the world. I wish especially to thank those directors, including the secretary and treasurer who so cheerfully responded to the pioneer work, and who, by their ability and presence, have largely aided in making the society what it is, a public benefit to the city of Newton.

Trusting that some good strong man or woman of philanthropic spirit and executive mind will come forward and lead us, I am fraternally yours, Mary E. Bates.

Messrs. Raymond & Whitecomb's Winter Trips to California.

It goes without saying that California is the most attractive and popular winter resort in America. Its remarkably salubrious and equable climate gives it an advantage over every other section of the world, in fact. That the coming winter will witness an increased tide of travel to the Pacific Coast, is already strongly indicated. The only remaining question, then, is as to the best way of reaching the land of perpetual spring and summer. This query is easily answered. Messrs. Raymond & Whitecomb's series of eight winter tours provide comforts and luxuries unattainable. Their parties move across the country in magnificent vestibuled trains, with dining-cars and every other first-class appointment. The journey becomes a pleasure even to those who dislike ordinary traveling. Independent tickets are sold, permitting the holder to exercise his own preferences as to the place and time of sojourn and the date of his return. He can travel eastward by any of four different routes, and in any of eleven different parties, or independently in any train, the return tickets being good until next July. The first and second parties leave Boston November 13 and December 11. Send to Raymond & Whitecomb, 206 Washington street, opposite School street, Boston, for a descriptive circular.

The Pomroy Home.

This is a non-sectarian, local charity to care for orphan girls. New residents, and all, are invited to visit the Home, Hovey street, and judge of its merits. Aid is needed, and earnestly solicited from all the Wards of the city to sustain this charity. The directors are Nathaniel T. Allen, Andrew S. March, (also treasurer), Mrs. George S. Barnard, Mrs. Henry M. Bates, Mrs. J. Sturgis Potter, (also secretary), Mrs. Henry C. Hardon, Mrs. Charles C. Bragdon. For current expenses the donations are $80 short. The financial year closes Nov. 7, 1890.

Newton Cottage Hospital.

The quarterly meeting of the Trustees was held at the hospital Monday afternoon Sept. 29th. Twenty members of the board were present; the President, Mr. Leeson, in the chair.

The Treasurer reported the following receipts:—

Newtonville Woman's Guild, acct. free	$150 00
Mrs. Lizzie Brooks, free bed, one year	300 00
Mrs. Mary T. Goldard, half of annual subscription	50 00
West Newton Congregational Sunday school	25 00
Mrs. Duane, Church donation	10 00
E. J. Dunning, donation	10 00
N. E. Telephone and Telegraph Co.	5 00
Girls fair at Mr. Pelton's, West Newton, for children's ward	100 00
Girls fair at Newtonville	35 40
Income from E. T. Eldridge Fund	200 00

The finance committee reported that a resolute effort should be made to secure a larger endowment for the hospital and emphasized the importance of obtaining a large number of annual subscriptions.

The executive committee reported a memorial minute in regard to the death of Miss Palmer, the matron, and that similar resolutions had been adopted by the medical board; that Miss J. C. Peters had been appointed matron; and Dr. Alfred S. Wiley, of Newton Highlands, consulting surgeon, of diseases of the eye. At one time in September the number of patients was twenty-five, now it is only twelve. The committee report that it is desirable that the number of pupils nurses should be increased as far as possible, but always judiciously. The memorial minute contained in the report of the committee was adopted as the sentiment of the trustees regarding the death of Miss Palmer. It is as follows:—

"In closing its outward relations with Mary Frances Palmer the executive committee would record its appreciation of the perfect service which she has rendered to the hospital. In all departments alike she has excelled. In the general superintendence of the hospital nothing escaped her watchfulness, nothing but the best that could be done was accepted. She was economical, but always judicious. In her selection of nurses and pupils, and in the training of them, her standard was high, as becomes what she justly regarded a noble profession. She was gentle and friendly in her relations with patients and physicians and visitors; but never for a moment lost sight of the proper usefulness and the interests of the hospital, and of her own position as its representative. She was a matron faithful and wise, to whom the hospital is greatly indebted for its excellent efficiency and its high standing in the community."

The building committee reported good progress on all the new buildings, which it was expected would be completed by Dec. 1st.

A letter was read from Mrs. Davidson, of San Diego, Cal., formerly Miss Pray, the first matron of the hospital, expressing her sorrow at the loss sustained in the death of Miss Palmer. She expresses the hope that $5000 can be raised for a permanent fund as a memorial to Miss Palmer. A committee was appointed to take this suggestion into consideration, and also to procure a photograph of Miss Palmer, suitably framed, to hang in the reception room.

The secretary then read the following letter:—To the Trustees of the Newton Cottage Hospital.

"Feeling a deep interest in the institution under your charge, and desiring to aid you in your humane efforts for the care of the sick and injured, I have had constructed an ambulance, which it has been my aim to have adapted in every way, according to the best approved principles, for the most comfortable conveyance to the hospital of those who may need its services. I have the pleasure of asking you to accept this ambulance as the property of the Newton Cottage Hospital, and to keep it always in such place and condition as may best subserve the use for which it is intended. It is my desire also to provide a fund for the maintenance of the ambulance. When, by a few months' experience, you have ascertained what the probable cost of using and keeping it in repair will be, if you will kindly let me know the annual amount which will be necessary, I will forward to your treasurer a sufficient sum for a fund, which I shall desire to have invested, and the income used for this purpose."

Yours respectfully,

ELIZABETH T. ELDRIDGE.

After remarks expressing a deep sense of gratitude to Mrs. Eldridge for all she has done for the hospital, the ambulance was by vote accepted with sincere thanks and a suitable acknowledgment was directed to be transmitted to the donor.

The Rev. Messrs. Shinn, Calkins, and Worcester were appointed a committee to take in charge the matter of the collection on Hospital Sunday, and to call special attention to the necessity of increasing the permanent funds by the endowment of beds, and by bequests to the hospital.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the formal opening of the new buildings when completed.

E. A. WHISTON, Secretary.

Board of Health.

At the meeting of the board of health, Tuesday, a hearing was given Mr. Hamlin of Gardner street regarding the sleeping arrangements of his tenement and a suggestion for abatement accepted. A similar arrangement was granted Mr. Kennedy. Mr. Doherty was granted an extension of one week. Hagerty Bros' tenement was extended 14 days, the agent to abate nuisance without removing the stable of John H. Hoyt, if possible.

A hearing was granted J. Sturgis Potter of Waban park, regarding the brook passing through his land, and the highway committee were present by invitation of the board. Mr. S. L. Powers presented Mr. Potter's case, stating that the brook was now used as a surface drain by the city, and for several years back the overflow and accumulating filth had decreased the value of the land and would in the near future become detrimental to health. A suggestion for the city to widen, grade and drain the brook was made by Mr. Potter, which it was thought would obviate the difficulty.

The hearings then closed.

Mr. McNeil was given leave to withdraw. Mr. Hind was notified to comply within 14 days or be served with a constable's notice. The agent was instructed to ascertain if Mr. Dimond had a cesspool. Mr. Warren was notified to comply within 14 days or be served with a constable's notice. The landlord of the Bartholomew estate was requested to conform to the rules of the board. Adjourned to a special meeting, Friday, Oct. 3, at 4 p. m.

"The proper food for her infant is a subject of the highest importance to a mother who cannot nurse her child. Mellin's Food is a perfect substitute for mother's milk, and is highly recommended by the most prominent physicians of both Europe and America."

GRADE CROSSINGS.

A CALL FOR THE MAYOR AND ALDERMEN TO ACT.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

An editorial note in the GRAPHIC of Saturday, speaking of the meeting of the Boston & Albany stockholders, which appropriated $500,000 for abolishing grade crossings, says that "if the company will make a beginning on Newton crossings all will be forgiven." It seems to be a common impression that it is necessary to wait until the railroad company does something about it before anything can be done to change grades at the crossings, but the impression is entirely erroneous. Under the new law, if the mayor and aldermen petition for the abolition of any grade crossing whatever, the railroad will be compelled to make the change, whether it wishes to do so, and has made any appropriation for the purpose, or not, unless the commissioners which look into the matter consider that the separation of grades is inexpedient. This is not likely to be the case, as the Massachusetts Railroad Commissioners have repeatedly, in the strongest manner, urged the separation of grades in Newton; but we may be sure that unless the mayor and aldermen act, the railroad will never do so. It is obviously for the interest of the railroad to use up the money which the state contributes as well as its own, in abolishing small grade crossings in the country, where the work can be done at slight expense and the cost of keeping a gate-tender will be saved, and to put off the expensive changing of grades in thickly settled regions as long as possible, until the citizens, in desperation, are willing to pay half the cost, as the people of New York did when all the grade crossings were changed from 42d street to the Harlem river. I suppose, of course, that the Newton city government will wait for some expression of opinion on the part of the citizens before taking any steps in the matter; but it is to be regretted that something was not done in time to secure a part of that five million dollars for Newton before it disappeared into the pockets of the stockholders. It is not too late, of course, for the railroad will have to raise the money somehow to what the commissioners order; but it will make more difficulties about it than it could about using for the purpose a part of the sum which was granted it by the legislature on the pretence that it was to be so used.

Of course, there will be some expense to the city. The grade crossing commissioners estimated, two years ago, that to abolish all the grade crossings in Newton would cost $1,300,000. Of this, under the new law, the city could, at most, be called upon for only ten per cent, or $130,000, and the sum might be less, at the discretion of the commissioners. Besides that, it is not necessary to change all the crossings at present; but some of the most dangerous ones ought to be abolished, and we must remember that the sewerage system, which we all look forward to, cannot possibly be even laid out for Newton until the separation of grades, which, in the opinion of the grade crossing commissioners, should involve the lowering of the main railroad tracks through Newton about 14 feet, is decided upon.

Very truly yours,

Clark University.

Dr. Arthur G. Webster of Newton Centre, has been appointed docent in physics. Dr. Webster graduated first class of '85, at Harvard University, where he was appointed instructor in mathematics for one year and afterwards Parker Fellow for three years, spending four years in further study in Paris, Stockholm and Berlin, receiving the degree of Ph. D. from the latter University.

In Paris he was a pupil of Appell, Bertrand, Hermits, Lippman, Poincare and Picard. In Stockholm he studied with Mittag-Leffler and Kovalevski. In Berlin with Helmholtz, König, Kundt, Netto, Pernet, Dillthey and Fuchs.

He has just returned from Germany. His thesis representing original work there is entitled, "Versuche ueber eine Methode zur Bestimmung des Verhältnisses der elektromagnetischen zur elektrostatischen Einheit der Elektrizität."

He will lecture throughout the year on electricity and magnetism, and his course will consist of a general treatment of the important phenomena of electricity and magnetism, with particular attention to the physical interpretation of the mathematical processes used, particularly such as are of frequent occurrence in the various other departments of mathematical physics.

Among the subjects treated will be some of the following: "Theory of the Potential," "Spherical Harmonic Functions," "Applications of the Theory of Functions to Electrostatic Problems," "Electromagnetic Theory of Light," "In treating the subject of electrostatics the equations will be deduced as far as possible from considerations of energy by the methods of mechanics—applications of Hamilton's Principle, etc., and predominance will be given to recent views on the transfer of energy in the electromagnetic field.—Worcester Spy.

Making Mugwumps.

Making Mugwumps is a process that has flourished in Massachusetts for some time now, and it is the professional politician who cause this growth. A few sprouts are starting this year in the Republican field, and the farmers and straight-out business men of this vicinity are planting seeds that will not grow a crop of Gould auditor votes. Come to think of it, a Democratic auditor with a Republican administration would not be bad policy after all.

A Scotch writer says that he has sprinkled wasps and bees with rose-colored powder and has found that this handicapped they could with ease keep up with the fastest trains. They were not carried along by the rush of air caused by the train, but would enter and leave the cars by the windows, sometimes disappearing for a minute or more and then returning.

An oculist in Breslau, Germany, has recently treated 300 cases of defective eyesight, for which the cause was not apparent. It rose as suddenly as an epidemic, and was confined to men entirely. At last he found the reason for it in a new fashion of very tight shirt collars. He made the young men unbutton their collars, and their eyes got well.

Hospital Notes.

The new building for the Hospital will be completed in December, when there will be some formal opening ceremonies, to which the members of the City Government and other citizens will be invited.

When our Hospital began the expectation was that $4000 would be enough to pay the expenses per year, but the number of patients has so steadily increased that more than twice that sum has been needed during the past year.

One main source of income of the Hospital has been the collections in the churches in the Thanksgiving season on Hospital Sunday. This year the committee hope the offerings will be double what they have ever been.

The endowment of Hospitals has always commended itself to the favor of many benevolent persons having property to dispose of by will. The corporate title of our Hospital is:—"The Newton Cottage Hospital."

A committee from a city in this state looked all around the different cities for the best Hospital Ambulance. They finally decided that the one built for our Newton Hospital by Murray & Farral was by all odds the finest and most satisfactory they had seen.

There is room now at the Hospital for more pupil nurses. It is a splendid chance for young women to learn a useful and remunerative employment. Persons who want to know more about it can address the Rev. John Worcester, Newtonville.

Some time ago a laboring man fell ill and his friends urged his removal to the Hospital. He was willing to go, but his wife like many others had a prejudice against all hospitals and strenuously opposed his being taken there. After holding out for a time she reluctantly consented to trying the experiment. Since his return home she tells all her friends that what she saw of the treatment of her husband has convinced her of her error, and she only hopes if she has any serious illness she may be her good fortune to be admitted to the Newton Hospital.

When I Was Sick:
My room looked like a drug store. I had so many bottles in it. The more I looked, the worse I was. Finally, I paid my doctor and told him he needn't come any more. I was troubled with Chronic Rheumatism, and couldn't get out of bed alone. Six bottles of Sulphur Bitters cured me.—Benj. Fitch, Adams House, Boston.

Hold It to the Light
The man who tells you confidentially just what will cure your cold is prescribing Kemp's Balsam this year. In the preparation of this remarkable medicine for coughs and colds no expense is spared to combine only the best and purest ingredients. Hold a bottle of Kemp's Balsam to the light and look through it; notice the bright, clear look; then compare with other remedies. Price 50c. and $1.

For wounds and inflammations, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is healing and soothing.

The women students have finally conquered Basle, which alone among Swiss universities, has hitherto refused to admit them. A formal decree now allows them to matriculate regularly, but only by way of experiment; and it is stipulated that if the experiment does not work well, the doors of the university shall again be closed to women.

The Boston Globe, apropos of the argument that if women were admitted to the fight, after noting the power of the women of Dahomey, says: "The whole theory of brute force and courage as the measure of the right of a human being to have a voice in saying who shall rule him or her and spend his or her money is altogether unworthy of this enlightened age."

Very truly yours,

Making Mugwumps.

Making Mugwumps is a process that has flourished in Massachusetts for some time now, and it is the professional politician who cause this growth. A few sprouts are starting this year in the Republican field, and the farmers and straight-out business men of this vicinity are planting seeds that will not grow a crop of Gould auditor votes. Come to think of it, a Democratic auditor with a Republican administration would not be bad policy after all.

A Scotch writer says that he has sprinkled wasps and bees with rose-colored powder and has found that this handicapped they could with ease keep up with the fastest trains. They were not carried along by the rush of air caused by the train, but would enter and leave the cars by the windows, sometimes disappearing for a minute or more and then returning.

An oculist in Breslau, Germany, has recently treated 300 cases of defective eyesight, for which the cause was not apparent. It rose as suddenly as an epidemic, and was confined to men entirely. At last he found the reason for it in a new fashion of very tight shirt collars. He made the young men unbutton their collars, and their eyes got well.

The Dining Room

The dinner is the principal meal of the day, and the housekeeper's greatest joy or deepest sorrow.

Which—depends on a perfect combination of three essentials:

- 1st. The Cook.
- 2d. The Service.

A well-trained tablemaid is one of heaven's choicest as well as rarest blessings.

3d, and possibly most important of all, the China, Glass and Silver with which the table is furnished.

A starving man cares little for the dish on which his food is served. Any one else cares much.

Delicate dishes in harmonious shapes, with refined decorations, add the completing touch to a perfect dinner.

T. & R. Boote, the English Dinner-set makers, have given years of thought to perfecting these goods.

Their latest Stanley pattern, 112-piece semi-porcelain Dinner set is unique in shape, refined in design, and tasteful in its decoration.

We control this set, and when we say the price is only $11.98, the perfection of surprises is attained.

We have large lines of Table and Kitchen Glassware which we offer at equally low prices; for instance, Jewel Top, Flint Glass Lamp Chimneys, 6c. each, 60c. a dozen.

NEWTON TARIFF REFORM CLUB.

The Tariff is a Humbug.

Every person interested in the subject of the tariff is cordially invited to take part in the discussions carried on in this column. Respectful consideration will be given to inquiries, criticisms and communications of every kind whether coming from Tariff Reformers, Free Traders or High Protectionists. Address Secretary of the Tariff Reform Club, Newton Centre, Mass.

Tariff Reform Club—The Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Newton Tariff Reform Club will be held in Nickerson's Hall, West Newton, Monday evening, Oct. 6, at 7.30 p.m. A full attendance is requested, not only of members, but of those who, believing in the principles of Tariff Reform, have not yet become members. Let us show that we are in earnest.

How Lodge Has Changed.

That was a hard but fair hit given to Mr. Lodge on the last day of the Tariff debate in the House by the New York member who read the following pregnant paragraph from Lodge's Life of Hamilton:

"In the year 1791, with all nations protecting their manufactures, Hamilton was a protectionist, favoring the protection of nascent industries. At the present day he would probably be the most in urging a revision of the tariff and a gradual reduction of duties wherever it could be safely done. In other words, he would now be a moderate protectionist, as he was when he sent in his report, but not one of those who support a heavy duty in order to funnel the industries already firmly established a protection which accrues solely to the benefit of the manufacturer, and of no one else."

Who can doubt that Lodge has "swallowed his principles" for the sake of getting and keeping office? Henry Waterson's scathing rebuke at the Reform Club dinner was universally recognized as deserved.

Does McKinley Believe It?

Does Congressman McKinley believe it when he says, in closing the debate on the Tariff: "The gentlemen on the other side would tax the people of this country to make an income for the government; the Republican party would tax the product of other people seeking markets in the United States to supply the revenues of the government." Is it possible that Mr. McKinley does not know that the revenue derived from the Tariff comes out of our people—and not only that but also the operation of the domestic products made possible by the Tariff. At least the Congressmen from Massachusetts know this, but only one of them, John F. Andrew, dared to say so.

The Crookery Tariff.

(From the Speech of Senator Plumb.)

I have a little contribution that I want to make to this discussion in the shape of a letter written to me by a dealer in the kind of ware which is under discussion. I am well acquainted with one of the members of the firm. It does business in St. Joseph, Mo., and in Atchison, Kans., under the title of the Regnier and Shoup Crookery Company. At the close of the letter, in which the question of the duties upon crockery found in this bill are discussed at some length, which I will not detain the Senate to read, this occurs:

To-day we pay over $1000 in duties to the custom-house in this city, and we pay many thousands of dollars annually. Upon one item I note the following differences:

Pay to-day $16.40; August 1, duty will be $33.32.

That is on account of the passage of the administrative custom bill.

When the McKinley bill passes will be $57.12; over 300 per cent. additional.

When the writer proceeds to say:

The American manufacturers in our lines have all grown immensely rich within fifteen or twenty years. An investigation into the cause of this increase require a reasonable, decent amount of protection, and have had it, and having prospered under it, what occasion is there for giving them more? As concerns wool, lumber, and all other lines affected, I confess I am not informed, but the average of prices paid for the crockery, glassware, toy, and cutlery lines, I know the acts referred to are wrong. Personally we will make perhaps from $10,000 to $20,000 by the change, but I beg to impress you with the fact that the masses of the people are being made the sufferers.

Mr. President, the argument by which this increase of duty is justified is that under high protection prices have gone down, and logically, therefore, the higher the duties the lower the prices to consumers. The argument for putting up duties 20 per cent., 30 per cent., 100 per cent., 25 per cent., or 10 per cent. would, of course, be stronger if it were proposed to put them up ten times more.

The whole tendency of civilization is the reduction of the prices of everything which results from human labor, and to claim that the tariff has been the sole or the main factor in the reduction of prices of manufactured goods is to ignore all the forces of civilization. The American people are entitled to have cheap goods if competition can bring that about.

Now, these people have been making this class of goods for many years, and every time we have touched the tariff we have put up the duty for them. They have had the benefit of years of experience, of ample capital, of unrivaled natural facilities, and of the best market in the world. When is the time coming when the people at large can get some benefit out of the establishment of these industries? Just as fast as we get to that point where we may expect that natural competition will do its work and prices will go down to the consumer, these people come in and say, "We need more duties," and up the duties go, whereby the progress of civilization is arrested. I say the people of the United States ought to have their innumerable times, and I think that time has come now.

It is not a question of comparison between the days when crockery were scarce and high and the present, because, as I said before, there has been a constant downward trend of the price of everything that has been the result of skilled labor and of the use of machinery, and the people are entitled to have such lower prices than prevail to-day as a more active competition will bring.

Cheaper Goods for Foreigners.

(From the Speech of Senator Plumb.)

A friend of mine came down here from Chicago a few years ago appealing to the Secretary of the Treasury against the rule of the custom house in that city in regard to certain manufactures of steel which he was importing. They were the ordinary tools used by laborers upon railroads—a pick, a half-pick, a sledge, a crow-bar, a shovel, and so on. I said to him, "Where do you sell these goods?" "The minimum duty upon which, as I remember now, was 45 per cent. 'Sell them,'" he said. "I sell them in Pittsburgh." "Import them," I said, "from Sheffield and bring them through the custom house at Chicago, pay freight and duties, and send them by rail back to Pittsburgh and sell them there?" "Yes," he said. "Do you not understand?" he asked, "that the American manufacturer does not manufacture anything he can not make a certain and great profit on, and that he stands out of the way of the foreign manufacturer as to other articles on which he can not make satisfactory profits?" . . . A shovel was part of the list. I understand that the American shovel, of which we are all so proud, the Ames shovel, can be bought on the other side of the Rio Grande at from 50 cents to 75 cents apiece cheaper than they can be bought for on the north side. I have been told so by men whom I consider entirely reputable. The manufacturer insists he will not take any chances, and so the Carnegies and Joneses, of Pittsburgh, and the Dolans and Dobsons, of Philadelphia, have prospered and grown rich beyond the dreams of avarice at the expense of the people of the United States, who are not getting the benefit of the present law imposes, to be increased by the bill before us, upon the article which they produce.

No Justification for McKinley Bill.

Mr. President, there has been no fact produced of any kind or description whatever, no attempt made to justify this proposed increase of duties. I have read the letter here of perfectly reputable gentlemen who say that some of the duties imposed by the McKinley bill, reduced slightly by this bill, are over 300 per cent. greater than they are in the present law. Will anybody dispute it? Let it be disputed, and supposing it to be some minor item, what a fact it discloses; how it opens up this whole question and shows that we need knowledge on this subject, and that every item on these schedules ought to be gone over painstakingly and carefully, with a view of maintaining what precise result the imposition of duties is to have, in order that we may know whether or not we are going to put the people under unusual and unnecessary burdens.

No attempt of that kind has been made. These manufacturing people have been lauded as generous, as enterprising, as worthy, as having largely expanded their manufactures. So be it. I hope they have. As I said before, I begrudge them nothing of all they have got. But they want more. They are asking for the power of taxation to be exercised in their behalf, which it has been truly said represents the power to destroy. They want something, the giving of which to them subtracts from what other people have. It is the great function of the law to do that thing, and it is the wisdom of a statesmanship to do it wisely and justly. Nothing has been offered here to show that what is proposed is either wise or just, and yet every table in all this broad land, humble and proud, is to be taxed additionally to any burden that it has heretofore borne without anything to justify it except simply the statement that these men desire it, and that they are good and enterprising and rich men.

Whatever we add to these duties is added to the burden which the great mass of the people have to bear, and it is not a burden, I beg you to observe, to be borne in accordance with the ability to bear. It is practically a per capita tax. A man on his farm uses nearly as much chinaware of this kind as Vanderbilt in his palace. It is not imposing duties upon the theory which has been heretofore advocated in regard to these tariff duties, putting them upon the luxuries, but it is putting them upon the necessities of life, whereby the burden is borne by all the people of the United States, while according to the further terms of this bill the men who are wealthy and who use articles which are indeed articles of luxury escape high taxes.

The Abbottsford.

The Saturday Evening Gazette says that those who have not been informed have wondered why the sidewalk on Commonwealth avenue, Boston, at Nos. 169 and 185, just below the Vendome, has been so long obstructed. They may know now that The Abbottsford has been constructed during the summer from plans of Messrs. McKay & Smith; owned by them and by Mr. A. V. Crowell; to be opened on the first of January, and to be managed by Mr. Joseph Lee who has won renown at the Woodland Park Hotel, in Auburndale.

The Abbottsford will be a European hotel, but so far as its appointments are concerned, it will not be for the accommodation of transient guests. The two houses combined are entered by two doors, but the entrance itself is the only separation. Both join at the office within. There are twenty suites, which are to be leased by the year. Each one contains a drawing room, library, one or two chambers, bath-room, and ample closet room. The prices are $1,000 for the larger and $800 for the smaller suites. The architecture of the hotel is admirable at all points, and the finish will satisfy the most critical taste. The water closet is open, and the pipes are of nickel. Special care has been exercised in the matter of plumbing. Mr. Lee is to be not only superintendent of Abbottsford itself, but he is to establish a cafe, which, he assures us, will have no superior in Boston. This will be open to all who incline to visit it, and the service as well as the cuisine will be what it should be in view of the class of patronage it invites. The chief will be a Philadelphian who is nothing if not a cook of pastry, of game and of terrapin; and his assistants will be secured for special capacity in special branches of the culinary art. Mr. Lee will not confine his efforts to the cafe of the Abbottsford, but intends that his hotel shall be the rendezvous for orders for catering of all sorts at Back Bay residences. His reputation, as well as his money, is at stake in this venture, and he will not lose. It will be a great convenience for many persons desiring to have a cafe of the highest class, well conducted, on a fair scale of prices, in the very heart of the Back Bay. Four suites in The Abbottsford have been unconditionally engaged, and the others will be eagerly sought as soon as its doors are formally thrown open.

A Hint to Teachers and Scholars.

One of the most common complaints made against school teachers is that they allow themselves to be easily fretted and vexed, and that losing their temper they become harsh and oppressive towards their pupils.

There is scarcely any calling where an equal strain is made upon the nervous energy, and it is not surprising that constant effort is needed to retain any degree of composure.

Now that there has been a period of rest and recreation, and teachers and scholars have come back with new vigor it is quite pertinent to suggest that it would be well for all who teach and for all who are taught to resolve that things shall move on smoothly in the classroom, and that all ugliness shall be eliminated.

There is no good reason why going to school should not become one of the most pleasant occupations of a young person's life, and why school days should not be remembered with pleasure. A little patience and good humor, some self restraint and some positive effort on both sides and the unpleasant things now common in school rooms will cease to be known there.

Resolutions Will Not Suffice.

If the Republican party makes a serious business to open new markets by reciprocity, it can put itself in the lead of public sentiment and perpetuate its lease of power, barring political accidents, for a long term of years. But if it thinks that all that is necessary to do is to pass a resolution which "will not open a market for another bushel of wheat or another barrel of pork," it will find itself deceived. The western farmers mean "business" as well as the House of Representatives, and Mr. Blaine's exhibition of West Indian and South American markets has the same effect on them as a universal pension on the veterans of the war. Resolutions will not satisfy the demand.

The Crandall Failure.

The affairs of E. L. Crandall & Co., paper manufacturers, Newton Upper Falls, are being investigated by Samuel Cutler of Hill & Cutler, William L. Corbett of William I. Corbett & Co. and Isaac S. Dillingham all of Boston. The assignee, Charles C. Barton of Boston, and Newton, is keeping the factory in operation, and will continue to do so till the unmanufactured stock on hand shall have all been worked up, the creditors thinking that it will be for their interest to do this. At the time of the assignment the amount of the unmanufactured stock on hand was about 50 tons, and it will be a week or two yet before its conversion into manufactured product will have been completed. The liabilities are about $28,000, of which $12,000 is secured on the mill property, and $16,000 unsecured, $11,000 of the latter being owed to banks. The mill property cost, it is said, $35,000 or $39,000, but it would not for the purpose of settlement be worth anything like such figures.

A New Title To Distinction.

Representative Walker's scheme to inflict a fine of $40 on members of Congress who refuse to vote gives a new title of distinction to the statesman whose fame has heretofore rested on the unique achievement of taking off his coat to address the House.—Providence Journal (Ind.)

DRUNKENNESS—LIQUOR HABIT—in all the World there is but one cure, Dr. Haines' Golden Sledge. It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it, effecting a speedy and permanent cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been cured who have taken the Golden Sledge in their coffee without their knowledge, and today believe they quit drinking of their own free will. No harmful effect results from its administration. Purely guaranteed. Send for circular and full particulars. Address in confidence, GOLDEN SLEDGE CO., 110 Race Street, Cincinnati, O.

THE NEWTON GRAPHIC HAS BEEN CONSOLIDATED WITH THE GRAPHIC

To Correspondents.

Letters containing notices or items for the GRAPHIC should arrive at the Newton Post Office on the Friday morning mail, as the paper goes to press shortly before noon. Every week a number of letters are received on the afternoon mails, too late for publication that week. It is not safe to mail letters at the other Newton Post Offices later than Thursday noon, if they contain matter intended for publication in the GRAPHIC of that week.

CITY POLITICS.

The State and Congressional contests are rather overshadowing city politics, but there is nevertheless a good deal of talk about the next city election and the officers to be chosen. The absurdity of carrying national politics into a city election is generally recognized, as on no question that ever comes up is there any division according to party, and men of all parties unite for the good of the city. In regard to the Mayor it is rumored that a movement is on foot to induce Mr. H. E. Hibbard to take the Republican nomination for Mayor, and that certain leading Republicans are back of this. Mr. Hibbard's phenomenal run as the Citizens' candidate last year, when he escaped being elected by so few votes, showed that he was an unusually popular candidate, and many prominent citizens think that if such a man can be persuaded to take the position of Mayor, all parties should unite in his support. They argue that the Citizens will nominate him anyway, and that it would sound better to have him elected as a union candidate, than to run the risk of defeat, with another Republican candidate.

This is one side of the political talk, and the other is that the Republicans should put up a straight out candidate, and show the Citizens' party that the Republicans still have a majority in Newton. With those who favor such a plan for the campaign, Alderman George Pettie of Upper Falls appears to be the favorite candidate, and his long term of service in the City Council has certainly earned him some reward. If a separate candidate is nominated, Alderman Pettie can without doubt have the honor if he wants it, and his nomination would lead to a very lively contest if Mr. Hibbard should again accept the Citizens' nomination. Wards five and six would probably be solid for Mr. Pettie; and wards one and seven for Mr. Hibbard. Ward two generally gives a majority for the Citizens, and the result of the contest would depend on Wards Two, Three and Four.

The contest would be such an interesting one that it would be almost a pity to have only a Union candidate, but as a same city election has never been known in Newton, at least in late years, the coming election will probably be no exception to the rule. At any rate both parties can unite on the officers below the mayor as they have done in the majority of cases in recent years, and certainly good men who are willing to accept such positions are hardly numerous enough to furnish a complete set for each ticket. Generally a man can be persuaded to run for either board only after delegations of prominent men from his ward have made his life a burden, and he would be glad to purchase peace by accepting any kind of nomination. There is a great deal of hard work, no glory, and few perquisites attached to a position in the city council.

THE COTTAGE HOSPITAL.

The quarterly meeting of the trustees of the Cottage Hospital is reported in another column, and contains much that is interesting to the general public. The names of generous donors who have made contributions during the quarter is given, and shows that the charity that begins at home is not forgotten in Newton, by either the young or old. Among the contributors are a number of children who are taught thus early the duties of those less fortunate than themselves. The Cottage Hospital has found strong friends, among whom Mrs. E. T. Eldridge is prominent, and her generous gift of a model ambulance, and a fund to pay the expense of maintaining it was warmly recognized by the trustees.

A very important matter came up in the letter of Mrs. Davidson, formerly Miss Fray, the first matron of the hospital, who suggested that a suitable memorial to Miss Palmer, whose death is so much regretted, would be an establishment of a free bed. Some $5,000 will be needed for this, and a committee has been appointed to take the matter into consideration, and see if this sum cannot be raised. Those who would like to contribute to such an object, would find their contributions welcomed by the committee, and such a fund would be of great assistance to the hospital.

A committee was also appointed to make arrangements for the Hospital Sunday contributions, which it is hoped will be generous this year and people can begin to save up their charity money for that purpose. The care of the poor and the sick in one's own city is the first duty, and in Newton especially this can be done in a very liberal manner.

A suggestion was also made at the meeting that the Sewerage Commission be urged to hasten forward the work of sewerage in view of the prevalence of malaria in certain sections of the city, and this is certainly the most pressing need of the city of Newton.

There seems to be no question but that Ward One intends to have the representative this year. Mr. S. W. Tucker is very warmly supported, especially by those who appreciate the necessity of amending the laws relating to legal matters which are oppressive now to both debtors and creditors, and which ought to be changed and simplified, and Mr. Tucker would be a strong representative, and would have a good deal of influence in the house. He has also a taking way with him, as those with whom he has had official dealings know, and he is a shrewd and conscientious worker in whatever he undertakes; no other candidate has been mentioned from the ward, who would accept the nomination, with any degree of unanimity, and from present indications the delegates from Wards One and Seven will favor his nomination. From the rest of the city, there will probably be candidates presented from Wards Two, Three and Six, and the convention will not lack contests enough to make it interesting.

MAJOR GOULD'S retirement from the state ticket shows the great difference between Massachusetts and Pennsylvania Republicans. Major Gould's friends say that he was perfectly innocent of any wrong doing, and that the charges could be satisfactorily explained, yet as the charge existed it was felt to be better for him to withdraw, as there must not even be the taint of suspicion against a Republican state official in Massachusetts. In Pennsylvania the atmosphere is different and Delmatar hangs on to the nomination for governor, in spite of the serious charges made against him; while Senator Quay does not even agree to notice the charges that he took money from the state treasury, and his friends do not see any impropriety in the continuation in office of either. These facts illustrate the difference in public sentiment in the two states. The replacing of Mr. Ladd on the state ticket will strengthen it, and events show that it is sometimes the most fortunate thing that can happen to a man to get a nomination for office.

The senatorial convention was held at Waltham on Monday, and for once the Newton delegates were united and Mr. Gilman received 19 votes on the informal ballot, and in spite of the protest of the Watertown delegates, Mr. Gilman's name was formally presented by Mr. J. B. Goodrich, and he received 25 votes on the formal ballot. Ex-Gov. Claflin endorsed Mr. Gilman and tried to persuade the Watertown delegates that the Morse field annexation fight did not enter into the contest, but they were unconvinced and left the hall in a body. What action Watertown will take remains to be seen.

When Sherman Hoar ran for senator on the Democratic ticket the Republican majority was 500, and whether any other Democratic candidate could overcome this, even with the solid vote of Watertown, is doubtful. There is reported to have been an interesting discussion over the district member of the state central committee, but Mr. C. Bowditch Coffin was chosen by a very large majority.

A CORRESPONDENT, in another column, calls attention to the grade crossing question, and the necessity of some action on the part of the city government, if Newton is ever to get any benefit from all that additional stock, on which the Newton people will have to help pay interest. The Boston & Albany used as one great argument, that they needed all this free gift of stock to do away with the Newton grade crossings, and some of the legislators believed them. But as our correspondent says, the company will do nothing about the crossings until they are compelled to, and the statement that no sewerage system can be laid out until the grades are changed, shows the need of some immediate action. It would only cost the city a comparatively small sum to have the crossings abolished and the necessity of doing away with these death traps becomes more imperative every year.

The second Middlesex district Democratic senatorial convention will be held in the district court room, Waltham, on Saturday, October 11, at 2 p. m. The Watertown Republicans held an anti-Gilman meeting Thursday night and voted to support an Independent Republican candidate, and appointed a committee to secure such a nomination. It is expected that they will unite with the Democrats. It is said that the Democrats in Newton who are friendly to annexation will support Mr. Gilman and the annexationists are among the warmest supporters of Mr. Gilman. One of them who was present at the Watertown indignation meeting says there were only 72 men present by actual count, but a Boston reporter who was also present says he counted over 350 voters.

ROBERT BLEAKIE, in a letter to the Hyde Park Gazette, says that after this session of Congress is over he is going "to ask Mr. Candler what explanation he can give for some of his acts, and this with a view of finding out how, and in what way, he has contributed to the welfare of the people of the Ninth District and of Massachusetts." Mr. Bleakie, no doubt, can make it very embarrassing for Mr. Candler, if he sets out, but he should remember that Mr. Candler has had to obey the caucus decree of his party, and so could not vote in accordance with his conscientious convictions. This has been the case with the other New England Congressmen, and for this reason New England interests have been neglected or given up at the dictation of Pennsylvania.

ONE plank in the Republican platform appeals to every honest citizen, regardless of party. We urge that Congress enact legislation calculated to abolish the vast army of pension claim agents who stand between the old soldiers and the government by establishing better facilities for the direct presentation and investigation of pension claims, to the end that honest claimants may not suffer embarrassment and delay.

THE Democratic Congressional Convention for this district has been called to meet at South Framingham, on Wednesday next at 2 p. m. and no one can predict who will be chosen. The old established custom in the district of never giving a Congressman a second term may be broken this year.

Newton Street Railway.

Last Sunday was a very trying day for the Newton street railway. Some important changes were necessary at the power station and work was begun at 12 o'clock Saturday night, with the expectation of finishing by 7 in the morning. But it was found to be impossible to get the engine in order till 1:30 p. m., and then the cars started, each motor car having a tow car attached, and then the crowd could hardly be accommodated. Seventeen thousand passengers were carried last week, and the total for this week will probably be greater, as two cars have had to be put on every afternoon, and the seats have then all been taken when the cars started. If this weather continues a month the company will have reason to be profoundly grateful. The ride to Waltham and back is such an attractive one that it is very popular with people, especially ladies, who fill the cars every afternoon.

Electric Gas Lighting.

Appliances are needed in every house, and Newton people should have the most reliable in their residences. The best is the Electric Gas Lighting. The Electric Gas Lighting Co. of 135 Devonshire St., Boston, have no rivals in their line. They will put in gas lighting in communication with the most competent and reliable electric contractors, and their trade is not only throughout this country, but through Europe. Mr. Louis W. Burnham, until within a few days a resident of this city, is the vice-president and manager.

Lassell Notes.

Mr. C. C. Bragdon, with his wife and two children, started for the projected tour of the world, Monday, Sept. 25. He was to visit his mother, near Chicago, on his way to California. The party will consist of ten, or possibly eleven persons.

A party of eighty-five pupils went in large numbers to Concord and Lexington, Monday the 29th. Several teachers were in the number, aiding the young ladies to gain instruction, as well as pleasure. The swimming lessons have already begun, but the gymnastics will not open until cool weather makes lawn tennis and other out door sports unsuitable. Boating is at present quite popular and frequent. The golfing classes are being arranged, but will not begin operations for some weeks. Dr. Peloubet takes the lead in the Sunday school, commencing next Sunday morning. The Bible classes during the week will be the present, in the hands of several teachers.

It should have been mentioned last week that when the Young Women's Temperance Union met in Auburndale, Sept. 18, a large delegation of the ladies visited the school, inspecting all its arrangements, from the swimming tanks in the basement of the Gymnasium, to the studio at the top of the building. They expressed much gratification.

ELIOT.

C. Farney rents new pianos, 483 Wash. St. — Eliot station is to have a substantial addition to its platform.

—Mr. F. W. Johnson and family moved into their new house this week, and thus Eliot grows.

—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Cole of Lincoln street, have gone to Richmond, Va., for a stay of several weeks.

—Mr. Samuel Shaw, who purchased the block of land lying between Woodward St. and Broadway, and Plymouth roads, is having the land graded and improved.

—Now if Eliot residents could assume the independence of the Wabanites, and secure a post office and store in their midst, they might feel as independent from outlying villages as they wished.

—Mr. Wm. B. Bennett and bride arrived from Yarmouth, N. S., on Saturday, and are now comfortably domiciled where Mr. Bennett formerly kept "bachelors' hall."

—Mr. Bennett made several fine sketches during his absence, which he brought back with him.

A Loss of 331 Voters.

Before the opening of the entertainment at 8.15 a few remarks were made by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Peterson.

—The English tea and entertainment at the Methodist church last Monday evening was the most successful ever prepared. Tea was served from 6.30 until 8 o'clock and the edibles, so "English, you know," were so attractive that over 300 persons were helped. NEWTON PEOPLE who want the most reliable Electrical Appliances in their residences, should insist upon having the new "Triumph" Automatic and the
"Tip-Top" Ratchet Burners, the "Tirrell" Gravity Drop Annunciators, the "Victor" and "Standard" Call Bells, and the "Samson" Battery, — the strongest and most durable open-circuit battery in the world, — and other supplies made by the Electric Gas Lighting Co., whose warehouses are at 105 Devonshire St., Boston.
You can doubtless buy cheaper material of other concerns; but this company has the best reputation for first-class electrical goods extant; and, as a result, its trade extends throughout this country and parts of Europe. It does no construction work, but can always put inquirers in communication with the most competent and reliable Electrical Contractors and Fitters, as such parties are most generally customers of ours, whom we are glad to recommend. Always select the best in this line, and you will find it the cheapest in the long run. Respectfully, LOUIS W. BURNHAM,

—S. L. Powers and Robert H. Gardner are members of the Republican Congressional campaign committee in this district, and W. J. Follett is a member of the Democratic committee. Newton's claims are always maintained when campaign work is to be done.

—Miss Burke, who comes here on the 17th to open a class in dancing, opened in Malden on Saturday with a class of eighty.
Several ladies in Newton are co-operating with her to bring about success in this field. If the class here numbers over sixty the terms will be reduced.

—An oyster supper was served at the Methodist church, Wednesday evening, and afterwards the matron of the East Boston Home for Immigrants made a very interesting address on the work of the Home, and what it is doing. The proceeds of the supper were donated to the Home.

—The Elliot Church Sewing Circle met at the church parlors Thursday afternoon and evening, and a large number of gentlemen came to supper. In the evening the Girls' Mission Circle had a sale of fancy articles, and displayed a very attractive table in the parlors. Quite a sum was realized from the sale.

—The electric cars have been on time this week, but it takes a man with good memory to keep track of the time table.
The half hour system was a handy one, but the 40 minute time is rather confusing. The bad weather has cut off the pleasure riding, but the regular cars are kept well filled, and this means a steady business.

—The first meeting of the New Unitarian Club will be held at Channing church parlors, next Thursday evening. Supper will be served at 6.30, and a good program including music and addresses will follow.
The club is not confined to Unitarians but all believers in liberal Christianity are invited to become members, and those desiring to send their names to the secretary, J. Herbert Park.

—Miss Buss, a teacher in Shaw University, Raleigh, North Carolina, gave a very interesting talk to the ladies of the Baptist church, in the church parlors, Thursday afternoon. The annual meeting of the Sewing Circle was held and Miss Leonard was elected president; Mrs. Hart, vice-president; Miss Fannie Jones, treasurer; Mrs. Hickmott, secretary. The annual supper and social was held in the evening, and a large number was present.

—At the quarterly meeting of the trustees of the Newton Savings Bank on Tuesday, Mr. Chas. A. Miner was chosen a trustee to succeed the late Willard Marcy. Mr.
Marcy, Mr. Jackson was chosen to fill the vacancy on the committee on investments.
Mr. Chas. A. Miner was chosen clerk and auditor in place of Mr. Jackson. The quarterly reports showed deposits amounting to $1,846,863.88 and assets of $1,323,813.19.

—The free delivery service has been established in Newton two years and the amount of mail handled by the carriers the past year shows a large increase over the previous year. The amount of mail delivered and collected was as follows: October, 7,225; November, 7,470; December, 86,700; January, 79,316; February, 65,637;
March, 78,387; April, 82,672; May, 80,471;
June, 76,065; July, 70,534; August, 63,571; September, 71,481; total 933,960, or nearly 200,000 pieces per carrier.

—It is desired by the choir committee of Elliot church to enlarge the present chorus to the full capacity of the choir gallery.
The changes offered to the young singer by the weekly study of the best sacred music are more than enough to compensate for the time devoted to it, while the choir socials which are to be held from time to time during the winter will prove an enjoyable feature. Any desiring to join are invited to confer with the choir director, Mr.
W. H. Dunham, who will be found at the choir room of the church on Saturday evenings from 6.30 to 7.15.

—At the annual meeting of the Ladies'
Missionary Society of Grace church, held
Oct. 2nd, the following officers were elected:
Pres., Mrs. G. W. Shinn; Vice Pres., Mrs.
M. Springer; Sec., Mrs. M. Clark; Treas., Mrs. J. W. Wilcox; Directresses, Mrs. M.
B. Wilkins, Mrs. F. W. Sargent, Mrs. C.
Bourne, Mrs. D. W. Holmes, Mrs. Gould,
Miss L. M. Barton, Mrs. W. P. Wentworth,
Mrs. H. W. Bigelow; Visiting Com., Miss
Saunders, Mrs. Pond, Mrs. Wheelock, Miss Emery. The annual report showed that a large amount of work was done last year.
The membership roll this year starts off better than ever.

—The marriage of Miss Mollie Olivia Mosher and Mr. Wm. Allen Parks, took place at the Methodist church, Thursday afternoon at 5.30. Rev. Dr. McKeown officiated and the church was very handsomely decorated, with autumn leaves and posies.
The bridesmaid was Miss Leavitt of Newtonville, and the ushers Messrs. B.
L. Goodwin and Arthur Leonard. Mr. Geo.
M. W. Stevens was the best man. The church was filled with friends of the bride and groom, and Mr. Howells presided at the organ. The bride wore a brown travelling suit, and directly after the ceremony the
They will be at home after Nov. 1st, at 22 Park street.

—The Y. P. C. E. of the Methodist church held their annual meeting, Monday evening, and elected the following officers:
Pres., Mrs. Kate Stevenson; Vice Pres., B. L.
Goodwin; Sec., Miss Helen Blackwell;
Treas., Mrs. H. S. Leonard. The society has had a very encouraging year and much work has been accomplished. At the meeting there was a debate on whether women should be sent as lay delegates to the General Conference, and remarkable interest was manifested. There were six leading speakers, and afterwards nearly every one present took part. The vote on the merits of the debate went against the ladies, but on the question itself there was a large majority in their favor.

—The annual meeting of the Newton
Natural History Society was held in Elliot Lower Hall, Monday evening. The annual address by the President, Mr. W. C.
Bates, reviewed the work of the society for the past ten years and stated that 150 free lectures had been given at 90 public meetings, on scientific subjects. Mr. C. J.
Maynard gave an address on coral reefs.
The following officers were elected: Pres.,
W. C. Bates; Vice-Pres., C. J. Maynard;
Treas., J. W. Stevens; Sec., W. S. French; Curator, Jesse Fewkes. The latter made his annual report and stated he had 2500 specimens and made the usual plea for better accommodations, so that the specimens could be opened to the public.

—The Pomroy Home.
The committee of arrangements for the Pomroy Home fair are able to state that Wednesday afternoon and evening of Nov.
5th is the time set for the sale. As many are interested to know what contributions will be acceptable, we would state that anything and everything, however trivial, will be welcome.

—Tables will be arranged for the sale of fancy and useful articles, cake, candy and flowers, also specially devoted to preserves and jellies, vegetables and fruit. We hope by another week to announce the names of the sub-committees of the various tables.
Annual Meeting.
The annual meeting of the Newton Horticultural Society will be held at the office of J. F. C. Hyde, Boston, Tuesday Oct. 14 at 3 P. M. Election of officers for the coming year; also other business of importance.
A full attendance is desired.
L. H. FARLOW, Secretary.

SUPERINTENDENT OF STREETS. THE WISHES OF A LARGE NUMBER OF CITIZENS.

The voting has been pretty lively this week, and letters have come in on every mail containing votes, but as will be seen by the score they have nearly all been for Geo. E. Stuart. It took one man the best part of Thursday evening to open the letters, straighten out the votes and make the count, and the result as announced below shows that there is no question as to what candidate the citizens think should be appointed to this important office. In addition to the letters a number of prominent citizens have called and handed in votes for Mr.
Stuart, whose long experience so well fits him for such a position. The vote is as follows:

George E. Stuart,	1156
James F. Edmonds,	123
Arthur Muldoon,	29
William A. Prescott,	17
W. F. Harbach,	11
F. M. Whipple,	5
F. G. L. Henderson,	3

Associated Charities.
The annual meeting of the Associated Charities was held in the rooms of the society, Bradshaw building, Newtonville, on Thursday p. m. A large number were present and much interest was manifested in the report of the secretary, showing the work of the year. Considerable business was transacted, after which the following officers were unanimously chosen to serve during the coming year: Rev. R. H. White, pres.; Dr. M. E. Bates, vice pres.; Mrs.
Alvah Hovey, vice pres.; Mrs. Henry Hardon, vice pres.; Mrs. Lucius G. Pratt, vice pres.; and the following directors: Miss M.
C. Worcester, sec.; Rev. W. A. Lamb,
treas.; Rev. J. C. Jarnes, West Newton;
Mrs. George Johnson, Auburndale; Rev.
John Peterson, Upper Falls; Mr. Seward
Jones, Highlands; Mrs. James W. Parker,
Newton Centre; Mr. George Flint, Newton;
Mr. Henry W. Downes, Newton. There will be a conference of visitors on Thursday next at 2.30 p. m.

Y. M. C. A.
A meeting for men only was held in Elliot Lower Hall, last Sunday afternoon, in place of the usual mixed meeting. A strong feeling was manifested in favor of pushing a distinctive "Y. M. C. A. work" in Newton. Several gentlemen offered to be among twenty to support a general secretary to organize and direct such work. It is probable a new departure will be made in this direction after the annual meeting in November.
In the meantime the Sunday afternoon mixed meetings will be resumed. Rev. H.
J. Patrick will conduct the service next Sabbath and Rev. Mr. Merrill the following week. On the two succeeding Sundays it is expected that Hon. Alden Speare and Hon. J. F. C. Hyde will speak.

Cottage Hospital.
The suit of Daniel Hurley against Dr.
Hunt of Newtonville, Dr. Thayer of West
Newton and Dr. Loring of Newton Centre, for alleged bad results to a leg in an operation at the Cottage Hospital, came up before the Superior court at East Cambridge, Thursday, and after hearing the plaintiff's story, the jury without waiting to hear the other side, returned a verdict for the defendants.

The Broadway National Bank is one of the most successful and popular financial institutions in Boston. Its deposits show an increase of 950 percent. the past six years, and its surplus and undivided profits have grown from about $2500, to $123,000. Its last statement to the Comptroller appears in another column.
W. R. Dresser, cashier and Louis P.
Everett, paying teller, are residents of Waban and Newton Upper Falls respectively.

Card.
Owing to the large increase in my business, especially in the repairing department, I found it necessary to take on more help. I have therefore secured the services of a competent watch-maker, street Jeweller and am now prepared to turn out work in all the branches of the jewelry trade, with as great dispatch as is possible with good work. I take this opportunity to thank the citizens of Newton and vicinity for their very liberal patronage in the past, and with strict attention to business and careful study of the wants of the public I hope to merit a continuance of the favors.
Respectfully,
THEO. L. MASON.

NONANTUM.
—The Reading Club is to be opened on Saturday, Nov. 1st.
—Joseph Nevins is building a nice double house on Dally street.

—The annual meeting of the North Evangelical society takes place Thursday evening next, Oct. 16th.

—The new block being built on Watertown street by Mr. Geo. Stuart is assuming fine proportions.

—The city has a gang of men cleaning out the gutters on Chapel street, a much needed and great improvement.

—The friends of Robt. M. Blue will be glad to know that he has been appointed as a regular officer on the police force.

—Last Thursday afternoon Mr. Wm. Bowen, Jr., and Miss Emma Nicholson were united in marriage at the home of the bride on California street, Rev. W. A. Lamb officiating.

—Efforts are being made to organize a lodge of "The Fraternal Circle" in this village. This order pays fifteen dollars a week sick benefits and $200 in two years, if a person is not sick.

—The boarding house of Mrs. Cairns' has been sold to Miss Cook, who will run it as Mrs. Cairns did formerly. Mrs. Cairns, who is very sick, has been taken to Amesbury, Mass., to live with her son James.

—An alarm of fire was rung in from box 24, Wednesday morning, about 8.30 o'clock for a slight fire in a small work shop belonging to John Soars on Faxon street, but the fire was extinguished before the apparatus arrived by a number of men employed on the street by the city. Damage slight. One of the horses on the chemical engine fell dead while passing down Chapel street.
—Last Friday evening the Sons of Temperance of this village received a fraternal visit from Golden Star Division of Everett, Mass.; there was also a delegation from Howard Division of Waltham. The quarterly report was given and showed the division to be in a very prosperous condition, 11 members being in good standing. D. G. W. P. T. J. Valentine, assisted by Miss E. S. Phinney of Everett, installed the following officers for the coming quarter: F. W. P.
James Baldwin; R. S. Albert Frye, Asst. R. W. P.
Bertha Osgay; P. S. Vinnie King; W. T. S. S.
F. S. F. W. Chap. Walter Buttrick; conductor,
Fred Frary; Asst. Con., Alice Butler; 1. Sent, Wm. Holmes; O. Sent, Henry Dwyer. After the installation the division accompanied by the deputy and visitors adjourned to the upper hall where a bountiful collation and beer was served to the ladies. Returning to the lower hall an hour or more was spent in social enjoyment, with songs, recitations and readings.

A MEMORIAL CITY HALL FOR NEWTON PROPOSED.

The board of aldermen met on Monday evening, Mayor Burr in the chair, and all the members except Alderman Bond present.

The following additional election appointments were made and tabled till the next meeting: Precinct 1, Ward 4, W. C. Brown, Inspector; C. A. Ashendon, Ins.; Chas. W. Fordham, Dep. Ins.; Precinct 2, Ward 5, E. H. Corey, clerk; Ward 6, Geo. A. Holmes, dep. clerk; Ward 1, W. S. Ring, M. L. Blanchard, Ins.; Jas. A. Grace, Dep. Ins.; Precinct 1, Ward 4, John Burr, Jr., Warden; A. F. Tucker, deputy; Precinct 1, Ward 2, A. J. McFadden, Dep. Ins.; Ward 7, F. A. Barrows, Warden.

The bond of W. S. French, with E. T. Wiswall and J. H. Nickerson as sureties in $3,000, was presented and approved. Theodore W. Trowbridge was licensed as auctioneer for one year.

L. C. Carter asked for concrete sidewalks on Park place.

L. E. P. Smith asked for concrete walks on Vernon street.

Mary F. Blaisdell and others asked that the name of Phipps court be changed to Clafin place, and the street be laid out as a public way.

Harriet Walker and Nellie V. Walker petitioned to have Lemon Brook covered past their estates, as the water overflowed them and did great damage.

AUSTIN STREET.

Chas. Robinson and some sixty citizens and tax-payers petitioned to have Austin street extended from Walnut to Chestnut street, as such a thoroughfare was greatly needed, to connect the two villages, and the electric railway on Washington street made another highway necessary.

The matter had been before the city government for several years, and they asked for a public hearing. The hearing was granted for Oct. 20, at 8 p. m.

MEMORIAL CITY HALL.

Alderman Pettee, chairman of the committee from the city council on a Memorial Hall, reported for the committee that after a careful consideration of the subject they recognized the fact that the laws did not allow of an appropriation being made for such a purpose, but the committee advised that a new City Hall be constructed, as the old one had long been unfit for what was required of it, and they recommended that a committee of three citizens be appointed to select a site for the new hall, which shall contain rooms for the city clerk, Charles Ward Post, and with authority to advertise for plans, and that an appropriation of $500 be made to pay the immediate expenses. An order was passed carrying these resolutions into effect.

Petitions were presented from R. W. Lord, for street lights on Lombard street; E. F. Kimball, street light on Watertown street; Mary F. Blaisdell, street light on Clafin place.

A. C. Jenkins and others asked to have walks graded and gravelled on Prescott street.

The highway committee gave the trustees of Lissell leave to withdraw, on their petition to have Seminary street closed, and the land restored to the seminary.

Alderman Harbach reported in favor of the following petitions for concrete sidewalks: E. F. Melcher, Norwood avenue; Wm. Clafin, Washington street; D. B. and H. C. Needham, Lowell street; Henry Brooks, Sargent street; B. S. Grant and A. C. Sherman, Walnut street; Geo. E. Stuart, Watertown street; Geo. Leonard, Wesley street; Chas. T. Pulsifer and Mary F. Sacker, Clyde street; and orders were passed for their construction.

On motion of Alderman Fenn, the board took a recess of about half an hour.

On reassembling Robert W. Blue was appointed police officer, with the powers of a constable, for the probationary term of six months.

Notice was received of a petition for the court to appoint 3 commissioners to determine what city and town in the Metropolitan Sewerage system should pay to the general fund, and notice was given of a hearing on the first Monday in November, before said court. The petition was referred to the City Solicitor.

A number of miscellaneous bills were approved and ordered paid.

Alderman Fenn reported an order, which was passed, for one street light near the post office at Chestnut Hill, one on Adams street, one on Rowe street, and two on a private way between Oak and Eliot streets.

On motion of Alderman Harbach, the following 6 in. water mains were ordered: 300 feet on street off Hunnewell avenue, $72; 300 feet, Waltham street, $41; 405 feet, Pleasant street, $47; 300 feet, Chester street, $39; 410 feet, Eliot street, $55; total cost $240.

On motion of Alderman Harbach, the ordinance committee were ordered to report an ordinance for the regulation and supervision of wires over streets and buildings; also an ordinance for the wearing of streets.

An order was presented authorizing the mayor to execute deeds for the exchange of 18,000 feet of land on Waban Hill, for similar land owned by Nehemiah Rice and others. Alderman Harbach explained that this was part of the land purchased last spring, and it was desired to exchange a certain portion for another which would give a wider entrance and a greater curve to the driveway. The order was passed.

A street light was ordered for Cabot street.

Geo. Honilet gave notice of intention to build a house 45 by 31 on Prince street, and Frank Edmonds one 30 by 40 on Marshall street.

The N. E. Telephone and Telegraph company petitioned for location for poles and wires on Jefferson street, from Centre street to Watertown line; the present poles are unsafe and they wish to put up new ones. Referred to license committee.

H. F. Ross petitioned for license to build a stable and shed on Crafts street, to keep 4 horses; referred to license committee, and was afterwards granted.

WABAN SCHOOL HOUSE.

The finance committee reported favorably the order for a school house on Beacon street, Waban, to cost $15,000, and an order was presented for the public property committee to build a four room school house, according to plans already secured, the cost not to exceed $15,000, and the money to be raised by a note due in 1895, at 4 per cent. interest.

Alderman Hamblin said this seemed a little previous, as there was a suitable hall in Waban which could be secured, and there were only 40 scholars now in the whole district. It would be wiser to wait and let the place grow, and it was time enough to build such a building when it was needed.

Alderman Pettee said the committee thought it would be better to erect a building large enough for the next five years at least. Only two rooms were needed at present but more would be needed soon, and the late superintendent,

Mr. Emerson, said that the Hyde and Hamilton buildings would soon need enlarging, unless the scholars could be sent to some other school, such as the one at Waban. The hall was erected for other purposes, and to use it for a school would prevent its being used for any other purpose. He thought the boom in Waban was sufficient to warrant a building. The order then passed, five to one.

NONANTUM FIRE SIGNAL.

Alderman Johnson presented an order appropriating $675 for a striker at Nonantum, to be placed in the tower of the North church, and the order passed, the money to be charged to any unexpended balances.

Alderman Fenn presented the claim of J. Reardon for damages, through his attorney, J. B. Goodrich, on account of the recent raise in grade on Watertown street, at the corner of Adams street.

Geo. W. Bush was granted license to build a storage house for carriages, 37 by 50, on the east side of his livery barn.

The board then went into executive session.

After the doors were opened E. S. Bill was granted license for stable on Court street, and Geo. N. Redman, license for hennery on Murray street.

AN AFTERNOON TEA.

CHARMING AFFAIR AT THE CLUBHOUSE OF THE NEWTON BOAT CLUB.

The clubhouse of the Newton Boat Club at Riverside was the scene of a notable gathering of society people Saturday, upon the occasion of an afternoon tea given by the club to the members and lady friends.

The interior of the clubhouse was tastefully decorated with flags, bunting and evergreen, the large trusses supporting the roof being twined with autumnal foliage. Pendent from one of the trusses were displayed the colors of the American Canoe Association, Boston Athletic Association, Lowell Canoe Club and Newton Boat Club. Upon a raised platform the Boston Ideal Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club was stationed and entertained the guests with a fine musical program.

Tea was served between the hours of 5 and 7 o'clock. The table was arranged in the form of a cross, and was very prettily decorated with flowers. In the center was placed a candelabra from which gleamed the light reflected by a variety of colored globes.

The following ladies presided at the table: Mrs. Sydney Harwood, Miss Nickerson, Miss Fennessy, Miss Potter, Miss Cobb, Miss Lancaster, Miss Felix and Miss Farley.

The waitresses were Mrs. C. W. Loring, Mrs. H. C. Churchill and Mrs. Ellyer Peabody. A dainty collation was served by Caterer Dill of Waltham.

At 7:30 o'clock the floor was cleared for dancing, which was enjoyed until 10 o'clock. The affair was a great social success, and initiated a number of society events which will occur at the clubhouse during the winter.

Among those present at the tea and during the evening were noticed: Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Cobb, Councilman F. M. Crehore, Councilman L. A. Hall, Miss Mabel Hall, Miss Crehore, Mr. F. C. Hyde, Miss Ballou, Misses Page, Wallace Goodrich, Mr. George Dill, Mr. Karl Keller, Mr. Charles Cole, Mr. F. E. Morse, Mr. E. E. Partridge, Miss Gertrude Going, Miss Grace Lamkin, Miss Clara Sias, Miss Mason, Mr. L. S. Drake, Mr. L. R. Lincoln, Mr. Walter E. Lawson, Miss Smetzer of Kansas; Mr. Robert Herrick, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. Turner, Mr. L. H. Boynton, Mr. C. H. Wilder, Mr. E. W. Spurr, Prof. and Mrs. Jules Luquiers, Mr. Francis Newhall, Mr. P. A. Warner, Mr. L. M. Bouve, Miss Perrin, Miss Allen, Mr. A. P. Dana, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Marble, Mr. and Mrs. W. Sydney Harwood, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Loring, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Churchill, Mr. Joseph E. Self, Mr. George Blackmer, Mr. F. S. Brett, Miss Marion Mandell, Miss Mildred Page, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whittlesey, Miss Mullen, Miss Minnie Kendall, Miss Laura Bell, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fairbrother, Mr. and Mrs. W. Follett, Mr. Thomas C. Phelps, Mr. John Harwood, Mr. H. L. Felton, Miss Dennison, Miss Hattie Henry, Mr. Charles Eager, Mr. George Barber, Mr. Potter Chase, Mr. F. J. Burrage, Mr. Joshua Baker, Mr. Russell Ballou, Mr. John Arnold, Miss Bessie Summers, Mrs. W. V. A. Mr. George Angier, Miss Alice Angier, Miss Mabel Wood, Miss Grace M. Jones, Miss Stephenson, Mr. W. E. Jones, Miss Lawrence, Miss Robinson, Mr. Fred Pratt, Mr. Alvin Adams, Mr. H. W. Dwight, Mr. C. A. Hardy, Mr. R. H. W. Dwight.

The Boston Traveller.

The price of the Boston Traveller has been reduced to two cents, with the exception of the Saturday paper, which will continue to be sold at the old price. The reduction to two cents has already occasioned widespread comment, and there has sprung into existence a large demand for the Traveller in quarters that it has never reached before. It has now been placed within the reach of the great reading public, and offers more for the same price than any other leading evening newspaper in New England. The old standard of excellence will not only be maintained, but the paper will be constantly improved in its typographical appearance and in the quality of its reading matter. It is live, clean, energetic and well edited, and devoted to the true principles of the Republican party. It affords all the news of the day in the most readable form and is equally adapted to the home circle, the office, the factory, the shop, the store, the city and the country. Its staff has been carefully selected from the best of writers and reporters, and there is no more readable journal in New England. Newsdealers have evinced their faith in the recognition of its merits by the public, by largely increased orders, and the advertisers have manifested their belief in its increased circulation by a more extended use of its columns.

The State Auditor.

It has been a small sized buzz that has sung around our ears since within a few weeks we criticized—just a little—J. Henry Gould, candidate for state auditor. We have caught a response by mail, by wire, by button-hole and earache, appealing, cajoling, denouncing, persuading and threatening, all because we dared to set up the principle, that a man who has no other qualification than being a politician should not be chosen to the position of state auditor. A libel suit has been mentioned, even, but we still hold property in our own name.

And now the alleged veteran major, at the request of his own supporters, has withdrawn from the nomination he tried to crowd an honest and efficient man out of.

Excuse us if we exult just a little.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 27, 1890.

A new and beautiful church, costing $75,000, has just been erected in Chicago, (Englewood,) and is now dedicated Sept. 24. As two new names are coupled with the church, it may be interesting to readers of the GRAPHIC to read what follows: The church, edifice built on split granite boulders, with a tower on the corner 130 feet in height, and provided with all modern conveniences. The audience room will accommodate nearly 2,000 hearers. The most attractive feature is the large stained glass windows in the three gables. Two of them are memorial of deceased members of the church. The third which is on the most conspicuous side, is recorded as a tribute of affection by Ewing U. Smith to his father, Rev. S. F. Smith, D. D. The window consists of three panels, the middle one being double. On the left one American emblems, shield and colors, and the first stanza of "My country 'tis of thee;" in the middle, on the left is the portrait and on the right, the morning sun, half way above the horizon and shedding its early rays on the oriental scenery, with the first stanza of "The morning light is breaking;" on the right panel is a patch of glorious blue sky, in which a single brilliant star sends abroad its rays of light, with a stanza of "Shine on, thou star," etc. The whole is beautifully conceived and executed. And the window will be every beholder a lesson of patriotism, a lesson of missionary interest, and a memorial of the history of the mission to the Telugus, the most wonderful mission of modern times. This beautiful tribute of filial love was kept a profound secret, and was a complete surprise to the grateful audience, when he took his seat on the pulpit platform on the day of the dedication.

Politicians who are making platform speeches this year seem to be very clever in clarifying the events of the year at Washington. The records of facts are put into the distiller with charity before they are exposed to the public gaze on the lips of those who wish voters to take courage and be hopeful for the dignity of the republic. Well, it's as easy as anything else to say—for a politician, and the men who understand the complicated affairs of the nation are a small minority.—Boston Home Journal.

A Happy Family.

(Somerville Citizen.)

The stockholders of the Boston & Albany railroad have voted to issue to themselves, under the authority granted by the last legislature, 50,000 shares of stock at $100 a share, which can be sold at once at $225 a share. Thus $6,000,000 is given outright to the fortunate shareholders in that a privilege to belong to the B. & A. family.

The wearing of corsets is one of those mooted subjects about which there will always be two (or more) opinions; but there can only be one opinion as to the announcement in regard to this week in our local advertising column. A Spring Medicine.

The druggists claim that people call daily for the new cure for constipation and such headache, discovered by Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains. It is said to be Oregon grape root (a great remedy in the far west for those complaints) combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring on boiling water to draw out the strength. It sells at 50 cents a package and is called Lane's Family Medicine.

How It Was!

At the battle of Gettysburg I was shot through the left leg and was sent to the hospital. The army surgeons relieved me but pronounced my case hopeless. I discharged pieces of bone, and for years I have suffered with a running sore. I tried everything which my limited means would allow, and experienced no relief until I tried Sulphur Bitters. I am now almost well and shall continue their use.—Old Soldier.

"Just as Good."

Say some dealers who try to sell a substitute preparation when a customer calls for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Do not allow such false statements as this induce you to buy what you do not want. Remember that the only reason for making it is that a few cents more profit will be made on the substitute. Insist upon having the best medicine—Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is Peculiar to Itself.

When you need a good, safe laxative, ask your druggist for a box of Hood's Pills, and you will find that they give perfect satisfaction. For indigestion, torpid liver, and sick headache there is nothing superior. Leading physicians recommend them.

NEWTON TARIFF REFORM CLUB.

The Tariff is a Humbug.

Every person interested in the subject of the tariff is cordially invited to take part in the discussion carried on in this column. Respectful consideration will be given to inquiries, criticisms and communications of every kind whether coming from Tariff Reformers, Free Traders or High Protectionists. Address Secretary of the Tariff Reform Club, Newton Centre, Mass.

NEWTON TARIFF REFORM CLUB.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE VOICE AND VOTE OF THE HON. JOHN W. CANDLER.

At the meeting of this club, Jan. 24, 1889, it was voted "that a committee of one be appointed by the club to keep a record of the voice and the vote of Hon. John W. Candler during the first session of the 51st Congress." It will be assumed that the instructions to the committee cover only Mr. Candler's relation to the tariff.

The record of facts is short. As to Mr. Candler's voice on the floor of the house, it was heard briefly in behalf of a lower duty than the McKinley bill proposed on lamp chimneys, but as he was beaten, as he prepared the way to being beaten by praising the ability shown in the bill and by displaying a decidedly subservient spirit, and as he helped by this vote to put the bill through, it was merely a voice and nothing more—vox et praeterea nihil. Later in the session his voice was heard stoutly opposing free binding twine, which was asked for by western farmers and resisted by eastern manufacturers. These were the only sounds of his voice in public worth mention. He is said to have worked privately against the duty on hides and on carpet wools.

As to Mr. Candler's vote, it was unhesitatingly on the side of the McKinley bill with all that it contains of injury to the district and to the nation. There the essential records of fact end. Candler's voice and vote cannot be judged by the bare record. One must know what doctrine he has held and what vote was demanded by the interests of his district. Now a pertinent fact at the outset is that Mr. Candler was formerly an out and out free trader. He did not even stop at the line of compromise. He was a speaker at a great meeting on April 20, 1880, for the formation of a league for "revenue and financial reform" and then he declared warmly for free trade with Canada. Some of his utterances were these:

"In the north and east and in directions in which Boston should naturally extend, where a proper domain lies thus open for our enterprise, are drawn political lines in the shape of tariffs on raw materials which almost entirely cut us off from an immense extent of territory, possessing in the greatest abundance what we most require—food, coal, lumber and iron. All we could have the same free intercourse with the British provinces that we have with New York and Pennsylvania, coal from Nova Scotia could be laid down in any seaport in our state at the same cost that it is now delivered at from the coal fields of Pennsylvania on the banks of the Delaware and the Hudson. Why should we have a duty on fuel at all, a prime necessity? The tax on sugar, tea, coffee and spirits can be avoided by non-consumption. Fuel in this climate, in the face of our bleak winter winds, is almost as essential as air and water, and should be free. Why cannot the poor man be warm in Massachusetts as cheaply as in Pennsylvania? Because he pays tribute to Pennsylvania for every ton of coal landed on our shores in the form of $1.25 gold duty on everything that competes with them. We want, in addition to the coal and lumber from the provinces, their oats and potatoes and their iron. All of them are in a great measure cut off from us by this greatest humbug of the time, the tariff of the United States."

In his remarks on "currency and finance" at the meeting of the national board of trade in St. Louis in 1871, Mr. Candler said:

"I would not, under any circumstances, sail under false colors or attempt to face both ways on any question."

At the same meeting he said:

"I look at the fact that cheap transportation is of more consequence than ship-owning, and when gentlemen on this floor state the fact that a ship can be built in England and sent to New York for two-thirds of the expense for which it can be built in America, I claim that as an argument why we should have free ships."

But now he stands on the Chicago platform of 1888 which says: "We protest against the passage by Congress of a free ship bill."

At the same meeting, favoring an abatement of duties, he said:

"It is abating a tax which is levied, and carrying out the suggestion of the gentleman who announces himself a protectionist, I should, as a free trader, defend it on other grounds, that it is a step in the right direction."

At the meeting of the board in New York in 1872 he said:

"The true wealth of the United States comes out of the soil, and when the United States of America prospers from its natural advantages, the various branches of commerce will certainly profit. Prosperity will come to us by opening our ports and by freedom of trade with all the world."

At the same meeting he said:

"I say that the nation is bound to so legislate that the prime necessities, the means for shelter, the means to protect the poor from the cold blasts of a New England winter, and the supply of food shall be brought down to the cheapest rates."

Mr. Candler held these views for at least ten years afterward, so he cannot say that his position was ill considered. In a speech in Congress in 1882 he declared:

"I believe in relieving the people largely from the tax on the prime necessities of life" and argued in support of that position for the sake of the laboring man.

At what time he surrendered his convictions and accepted the devious road of one of his colleagues, "after this I am a straight party man," does not appear. The Newton Graphic of June 14, 1889, thus mentions his status:

"Unfortunately Mr. Candler's views on the tariff question are not known with certainty, as during the campaign his speeches related mainly to southern outrages, over which he was very indignant, and the tariff was only referred to incidentally." But he was elected as a protectionist in 1888, after a campaign in which every proposition toward a reduction of duties was denounced as a step toward free trade and hence dangerous.

So between 1882 and 1888 he executed a complete right about face, apparently. Yet only on the 12th of November last, at a complimentary dinner given to him by his Brookline admirers, he said:

"He hoped that if he should make any mistakes or if he appeared to lean a little toward free trade in his opinions on the tariff, he would not have judgment or censure passed upon him before all the facts were known."

His prototype put it in this way:

"Kind o' promiscuous I go it. For the holt country, an' the ground I take, ez high ez I can show it. Is poorty gen'ally all round."

At Washington he is a practical high tariff leaning toward free trade. In his speech for the overtaxed lamp chimney he said: "I am not only a Republican, but a Protectionist," and in his appeal for the binding-twine makers he protested "as a Republican and Protectionist." So, then and now, "he himself has said it," where he stands.

Now the question is whether he has represented his district and his state. He voted to retain a high duty on coal, iron ore and pig iron. But he knew that the iron manufacturers of this entire region had petitioned Congress for relief and had said that the worst of evils would befall them if the tariff was not continued unless the tariff was changed. He knew what his constituents and his state wanted, but he voted that the high tariff should not be reduced, though the testimony was almost unanimous, and was given by leading Republicans in favor of a removal of trade restrictions and a sake of closer relations with Canada and the maritime provinces.

He has said that he was opposed to the increased duty on carpet wool and it is reported that he worked privately against it. But he voted for it. When the Ohio wool-growers wanted a higher duty on wool, they stood stoutly to their guns and said: "We will have it, or we will kill the bill." Mr. Candler, representing the ninth district, immediately abandoned his opposition, deserted his constituents and replied: "If any one must give up, I will. Let us have peace." He has sacrificed his district at the demand of the wool-growers and it remains to be seen whether the district will willingly be a victim. It cannot be believed that the ninth district will act as Isaac to Mr. Candler's Abraham and be led unresistingly to the altar, especially since the district knows that by his vote which is really against the interests of both wool manufacturers and growers, he has destroyed the last chance of finding a substitute a ram caught in a thicket by his horns.

Some of Mr. Candler's constituents apologize for him that he took a broad view of the country and that compromises are inevitable in passing a tariff bill. They do not deny that his vote is against the interest of his district and of the state, and they defend it as a patriotic necessity. That is, this district is to be sacrificed for the benefit of others and our people must go to those others to reap the benefit of our protective system. Will Mr. Candler head the procession of emigrants?

It is urged as a justification of his course that he resisted the taxes on hides and on deerskins. But he supported the Alrich tariff amendment under which the hide and leather men may awake any morning to find that President Harrison, by virtue of the extraordinary power conferred upon him, in part by Mr. Candler's vote, has put a duty on hides and has thrown the business into great confusion. Mr. Candler was not successful in opposing the duty on deerskins, but he voted for the bill. It may fairly be concluded that he would have yielded any point demanded by a majority of his party and would have supported the bill in any event, no matter at what cost to his constituents. The sacrifice of his constituents is a necessary part of his position.

It is to be noticed further that Mr. Candler's efforts for lower duties have never been for the people at large, except incidentally, save perhaps in the lamp chimney episode. The latest illustration of this is the binding twine incident, in which his exertions were put forth for a small number of manufacturers. The mass of the common people have been overlooked by Mr. Candler in his devotion to wealth and corporate interests. He professes to regard the people, but he votes for what will make their expenses greater and plays directly into the hands of the men out of whose fat was fried in 1888.

Mr. Candler's attitude as a representative of Massachusetts deserves attention in another light. He subserviently helps to place our grand old Commonwealth at the feet of Matt Quay, the chairman of the Republican national committee, who would not noticeably be serving a number of manufacturers. goods could be made cheaper by a lower tariff. Textiles include over $7,000,000 of the product and are to only a small extent indebted to Mr. Candler, even on the protective theory.

Mr. Candler is hostile to the manufacturing interests of his district largely. He will not pretend that the McKinley bill is helpful to the general body of consumers, for, by the necessities of the case they have no other interest in the tariff than to pay the increased prices which the protected industries demand, nor will he presume to say that the farmers are benefited by it, especially as he has helped to injure their home market, taking him on his own theory.

Another point it is for the good of any community to have its citizens as independent as possible, with the smallest number of establishments which compel the herding of men together. Our farmers are already their own employers. The leading manufacturing establishments in the district by number are these: building, 342; metals and metallic goods, 209; clothing, 104; boots and shoes, 157; food preparations, 121; carriages and wagons, 103; drugs and medicines, 79; leather goods, 48; machinery and machinery, 39; liquor, 37; dental work, 33; furniture, 31; gas and residual products, 26; woolen goods, 24; boxes, 23; straw and palm leaf goods, 23; hosiery and knit goods, 21; woolen goods, 21; all others less than 20 each. Here are seen many small individual establishments, each encouraging the separate ownership of property. Mr. Candler's policy tends to make life harder for these men and to build up large concerns to the ruin of personal independence.

In view, then, of Mr. Candler's betrayal of his constituents while professing to serve them, in view of the absence of that fearless, intelligent and independent action which the ninth district has a right to demand and which we expect in our next representative, your committee on his voice and vote reports that his voice was mockery; his vote an outrage.

"If you want a point or two about cleaning waste pipes without sending for a plumber," said a retired member of the fraternity to a New York Telegram reporter, who was complaining of the trials of house ownership. "Just listen to me. If I were still in the business I would not give away what I am going to tell you now, but as I am out of it I do not see why I may not help a friend. One of the most frequent and trying annoyances," he continued, "is the obstruction to the free, quick outlet of the waste water of the wash basin, the bathtub and kitchen sink. This is caused by a gradual accumulation of small bits of refuse material, paper, rags, meat, bones or grease, which check and finally entirely stop the outflow of the waste, and then the plumber is called to remove the stoppage with his force pump. Sometimes this is accomplished, but often the pipe has to be cut, and there is great inconvenience and expense. Just before retiring at night pour into the closed pipe enough liquid soda lye to fill the 'trap,' as it is called, or the bent part of the pipe just below the outlet. Be sure that no water runs into it until the next morning. During the night the lye will convert all the offal into soft soap, and the first current of the water in the morning will wash it away and leave the pipe as clean as new. See? This is practical chemistry, yet few chemists would ever think of it."

Professor Gauthier, of Paris, states that certain vital processes of the body depend upon absorbing substances in the tissues, which, if not speedily eliminated, produce disease. Ayer's Sarsaparilla effects the removal of the substances, and thereby preserves health.

Malaria

Literally means bad air. Poisonous germs arising from low, marshy land, or from decaying vegetable matter, are breathed into the lungs, taken up by the blood, and unless the vital fluid is purified by the use of a good medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, the unfortunate victim is soon overpowered. Even in the more advanced cases, where the terrible fever prevails, this successful medicine has effected remarkable cures. Those who are exposed to malarial or other poisons should keep the blood pure by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE SEWERAGE QUESTION.

It is high time that something was being done on the Sewerage question. The committee appointed by the Trustees of the Cottage Hospital have interviewed the Sewerage Commissioners, and find that the main sewer now being built will be so far constructed that Newton could enter it by January 1st, 1891. We ought to be ready to avail ourselves of the privilege just as soon as it is ready, and the few months that now remain should be very busy ones.

The need of sewerage has been amply demonstrated the past season, which has been a very wet one, and in consequence there has been considerable illness from causes connected with a lack of sewerage and drainage.

The epidemic of malaria that started in on the shores of Connecticut, and gradually spread all through that state, has been creeping up into Massachusetts, and some cases have appeared in portions of this city, while the disease was so prevalent in and about Framingham as to force that town into hurried action towards constructing a sewerage system. Good drainage and a sewerage system are the only preventatives against this disease, and even they do not always avail.

But every one will concede that prompt action should be taken in regard to sewerage, before any serious epidemic visits Newton, and the soil becomes any more polluted with disease germs. There have been more than the usual number of typhoid fever cases this fall, both in Newton and in other places, and this disease is something which every one concedes is caused by bad drainage, lack of sewerage, or some unsanitary conditions. The cases of this disease which have appeared, even if most of them were contracted at some of the summer resorts, are a strong hint to Newton to wake up to the importance of the sewerage business, which is the issue that overshadows all others now before the city. Newton is a healthy city, and it is of the utmost importance that it be kept so, and this can not be done without a sewerage system.

Nor long ago a gentleman visited Newton with the purpose of buying a lot of land to build an apartment house, something after the style of the handsome Terraces in Brookline, but when he found there was no sewerage, he went away, and invested his money elsewhere, so that even from a financial point of view, the sewerage question is a very important one.

Now that the Metropolitan system is so nearly ready for Newton to enter, it becomes of the greatest importance that some action should be taken. Probably nothing will be done now, it is so near the end of the year, but the question will certainly be an issue in the coming election and Mr. H. E. Hibbard's well known position as advocate of sewerage for Newton at the earliest possible moment, and the beginning of the work on some definite and comprehensive plan will add to his strength as a candidate. With an energetic and pushing business man in the office of mayor the coming year, the sewerage question would be satisfactorily solved, and it is the issue of the most importance to Newton at the present time.

THE NINTH DISTRICT.

The candidates have been nominated in this district and the campaign has now begun. Mr. Candler will lead the Republican forces and the believers in the McKinley bill, and Mr. George Fred Williams will lead the Democrats and tariff reformers.

Mr. Candler will try to break the custom that has grown up in this district of never allowing a Congressman to secure a second term, and he has many things in his favor. His position on the World's Fair committee has given him a national prominence, which flatters his constituents, and his courageous stand in refusing to treat the post offices as party spoils has made him warm friends. It required a great deal of courage to take the position he did in the Framingham and Newtonville cases, in the face of the demands made by the party workers, and with such men as Wauwamaker and Clarkson at the head of the post office department, and Mr. Candler should be given the credit for this.

The Newton Tariff Reform Club criticizes rather severely his course on the tariff question, and contrast it with his opinions when he was a business man and not in politics, but they do not seem to appreciate the difficulties in the way of any independent action, and Mr. Candler was no worse than the other New England men who did not think it wise to face the intolerant and bitter criticism that would have assailed them had they refused to vote for the McKinley bill. Even Mr. Butterworth, who openly proclaimed his opposition, did not venture to vote in accord with his convictions. Besides, Mr. Candler's constituents had given him no hint that they would sustain him in any such opposition to his party. In spite of his tariff record, Mr. Candler is a much stronger candidate than Mr. Ely, or Mr. Burnett, his immediate predecessors.

Mr. Geo. Fred Williams was the unanimous choice of the Democratic convention and seems to have a united party behind him. His course in the last legislature in exposing the lobby behind the West End bill, shows that he has plenty of courage, and it is said that the West End company and the lobbyists generally would much rather have him sent to Washington than be left unmuzzled at home. The farmers in the district who are against corporations, are said to be strongly in favor of Mr. Williams, while he will probably secure the full independent vote, and the contest will be a close one.

REPRESENTATIVE CAUCUSES.

The Republican caucuses to elect delegates to the Representative convention will be held to-morrow night, and judging from the expressions heard in various quarters the favorite candidates are Mr. Samuel W. Tucker of Ward One and Mr. Dwight Chester of Ward Six, although the other candidates who have been named have warm supporters. Mr. Albert S. Glover of Ward Three has refused to be considered as a candidate on account of his business duties, which would not allow of his devoting much time to the Legislature.

Mr. Tucker's friends are very numerous in Ward One and will probably elect delegates in his favor. As the ward has never had a representative and Mr. Tucker is well fitted for the position, the other wards concede the justice of his claim. During the past week a very strong movement has developed in favor of Mr. Dwight Chester of Newton Centre, one of the ablest and most respected citizens of that ward, who has served with great credit in both branches of the City Council, and as alderman was chairman of several important committees. He would be one of the best representatives Newton could send, and from his standing in business circles and upright character he would be an influential number of the legislature. If the ward sends delegates in his favor, they will find the convention ready to listen to them. With such representatives as the two men referred to Newton's interests would be well looked after in the next legislature, and their opinions would have weight with the other members.

OUR EVENING SCHOOLS.

Notices are out for the opening of our evening schools in Newton. There is one feature that deserves special attention, and that is the exclusion of all persons except those who can not read or write. Under the present arrangements these schools are only for the class known practically by the law as "illiterates."

For a number of years an entirely different course was pursued by the city. The evening schools formerly included not only "the illiterates" but men and women, boys and girls, who knowing how to read and write, desired to be trained in other branches, such as arithmetic, history-geography and book keeping. Many of our citizens thought the best expenditure that could be made for school purposes was to provide facilities for such people to improve their education.

Workingmen and women used to attend in large numbers, and the good that was done was incalculable. Newton gained quite a reputation outside of her borders for her successful evening schools.

Whether we have now so many people who can not read and write that the schools must be devoted exclusively to them, or whether the school board thinks working people ought to be satisfied if they can read and write, are matters needing explanation.

The step taken towards a new City Hall by the board of aldermen is an important one, and a committee of three is authorized to look out for a site and advertise for plans. There is no need of haste, however, and with the sewerage question overshadowing everything else, it will be just as well for the committee to take ample time for consideration. There seems to be a feeling on the part of the taxpayers that with so many new schoolhouses and other city buildings to be provided for, the City Hall project can wait. Besides, a building that will answer the purposes required of it, and that will be a credit to Newton can not be either selected or built in a hurry, and probably the old hall will be used for some time to come.

The patrol wagon should be covered, is the opinion of most citizens who have given any thought to the matter. The appearance of the wagon, with its loud sounding gong, on any of our streets, is the signal for a crowd to gather, and such a parade of offenders and also those only suspected of being offenders is not conducive to good morals, and is a needless disgrace to the innocent. Hardened old sinners may not mind the unseemly parade of themselves through the streets of the city, but upon all others the exhibition entails needless suffering, and it is in no wise calculated to benefit the public.

There is talk of having two Republican rallies in Newton in the present campaign, one in Newton Centre, either next Monday or Tuesday evening, when Congressman Candler and David Hall Rice or Congressman Greenhalge will appear, and one at West Newton the 20th, when Congressman Boutelle of Maine and Patrick Conlan will be the attractions. Possibly another rally may be held at Lower Falls during the campaign, but only these two have been definitely decided on.

EX-MAYOR KIMBALL was reappointed on the Middlesex County Republican Committee, at the meeting held last Thursday, and J. Henry Read of Westford was renominated for County Commissioner. There was nothing exciting about the convention this year.

"GENTLEMEN should be substituted for Clowns" is the way the Newton Tariff Reform Club refer to Congressman Greenhalge, but his cheap sneer at education and educated men, and his dragging sacred things and Bible quotations into a political speech for the sake of raising a laugh from the unthinking, make the criticism not altogether undeserved.

The order for the fire alarm striker at Nonantum, on which the school signals can be sounded, has finally passed the board of aldermen, and the residents of that section can thank Councilman Fornall for his persistence.

VOTERS should not forget that the Board of Public Works bill for Newton is to be voted on this fall, and they should be making up their minds whether they want such a board or not.

Park Theatre, Waltham.

Comparatively few of our citizens are aware that in Waltham is situated one of the best appointed and handsomest theatres in New England.

It's cost was originally $80,000, this summer an additional $15,000 has been expended in enlarging the stage, putting in Proscenium Boxes, redecorating, etc. The following star attractions are booked for Friday evening, Oct. 10, "The Madam Sq. Theatre Co. will present 'The Burglar.' Monday, Oct. 13, Annie Ward Tiffany will present her new play, 'The Step Daughter.' Wednesday, Oct. 15, 'The Bostonians' appear in their new comic opera, 'Robin Hood,' with H. C. Barnabee, Tom Karl, W. H. McDonald, Marie Stone, and all the other favorites in the cast; Thursday, Oct. 16, Annie Pixley in her new play entitled, 'Kate,' Monday, Oct. 20, the greatest success of the year, Bronson Howard's Shenandoah. Electric cars passing within one minute's walk of the theatre, and returning immediately after each performance, makes this charming theatre most convenient for our theatre going people.

The party left on the 27th, and visited Fabians, the Crawford House and other points of interest, and on the 30th, returned, returning on the 30th. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Churchill and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sands and daughter, Mr. S. J. Spear and wife, Mr. E. W. Bailey and wife, Mr. H. A. Underhill and wife, and Mr. Phipps and wife.

A meeting of the Newton Club will be held at the club house on Saturday, the 18th inst., at 8 o'clock, p. m., for the following purposes, viz.: 1st. To choose a committee to nominate candidates for the ensuing year. 2nd. To hear the report of the committee appointed September 25, 1890, to recommend a site, procure plans and estimates of cost of land and buildings for the proposed new home of the club, with recommendations as to the best way to procure the needed funds to defray the cost of the same.

Rev. R. A. White spoke on Sunday morning from the text, Matthew 12:35, "A good man out of the good treasure of the heart bringeth forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure bringeth forth evil things." The speaker said that the questions of temperance, of civil service reform, of capital and labor, of poverty, of divorce—all the vital problems which are old and true are ever new because they concern the national and the home life. The great need of the age, he added, is good men and good women.

The Newton Club is preparing for its customary series of winter events. There will be the usual tournaments in billiards, pool, bowling and whist, in which the following entries have been made up to date: Billiards, 3; pool, 5; bowling matches, 30; whist, 15. The partners in the whist games are Messrs. J. L. Richards and W. F. Kimball, C. H. Sprague and H. N. Baker, E. H. Pierce and H. D. Kingsbury, W. O. Hunt and George W. Brown, W. F. Hawley and W. H. Tapley, E. Hunt and Fisher Ames, W. H. Mendell and C. E. Roberts, A. J. Cumming and C. E. Adams, J. A. Kenrick and L. B. Schofield.

A butcher cart, driven by its owner, George Bieler of Watertown, was struck by the 2:45 express train at Crafts crossing, Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Bieler was thrown out and pretty severely injured. His head was cut and he was badly bruised about the body. It is thought that he received internal injuries. He was assisted to the truck house and afterwards taken to his home in one of Hill's hacks, by Officers Clay and Blue, where he was attended by Dr. Mead, the medical examiner, and Dr. Steinmetz, surgeon of the U. S. arsenal. The horse cleared the engine, fortunately, the pilot of the locomotive striking the wagon, which was completely demolished. The engineer of the train, it is said, did not whistle to give any warning, and he did not stop his train to ascertain the results of the accident. There is no flagman at the crossing, which is approached by a private way.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Quincy Cole gave their first "at home" reception in the Newton clubhouse, Tuesday evening. Their guests, numbering about 150 ladies and gentlemen, were known in social circles assembled between the hours of 8:30 and 10 o'clock and were received by the young couple in the spacious club parlor. Mrs. Cole was becomingly attired in a beautiful evening dress which suited her blonde loveliness and was the recipient of the congratulations of her numerous friends. Her pretty sister, Miss Blanchette Pierce, assisted in entertaining the guests who were escorted to the dining room, after being presented, where a dainty collation was served by Paxton, Chief Welch superintending the general details. The tables set lengthwise of the room gleamed with silver and bright china and presented a most attractive appearance. In the centre a very handsome bouquet of roses was placed, as sweet and beautiful as the many charming young maidens who gathered around the hospitable board. The affair was a success and will be put down in the historic record as one of the charming society events of the season.

A Buffet in the dining-room is better than a Sideboard, more modern, more beautiful and less cumbersome. A large line of Oak Buffets, all styles and sizes, is offered this week by Paine's Furniture Co., 48 Canal street, Boston, at exceedingly low prices.

WEST NEWTON.

The Democratic campaign will be opened in Newton on Thursday evening, Oct. 10th, with two meetings at Associates' Hall, Newton Centre, and City Hall, West Newton. Speakers, Geo. Fred Williams, Hon. John E. Russell and others.

An order has passed the city council, looking toward the erection of a new City Hall with memorial quarters for the Grand Army. If the scheme is carried out, the new building will be located in this ward?

The pleasant party under the auspices of Miss Ames of N. Y., with Mrs. White, Mrs. Mead and Miss Jaffin and others from this place returned from their foreign trip Saturday evening, after a most delightful summer of travel.

Mr. William Spinney has removed his family from this place to Newton Centre, where he has the position of master in the Mason school; they will be greatly regretted by a large circle of acquaintances in the church and social circles.

In the police court, Saturday, Thomas Mullen was fined $100 and sentenced to three months in the house of correction for maintaining a liquor nuisance. Elliot Kelly, for same offence, was fined $50 and expenses. Mullen appealed, and furnished sureties in $100 for his appearance before the superior court.

Arrangements are in progress by J. Wiley Edmunds Camp 100, S. of V., for a series of entertainments to be given during the winter, and an entertainment committee being appointed at the last meeting to perfect a plan, which will embrace first-class talent and which will be sure to please the people of Newton.

Miss Nettie E. Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fleming, and Mr. Albert E. Putnam were married last evening at the residence of the bride's parents on Washington street. The ceremony was at 7 o'clock, the brideparty entered the parlor where the ceremony took place, the wedding march from Lohengrin being rendered during the interval which elapsed before the young couple took their positions before the officiating clergymen, Rev. H. J. Patrick, D. D. and Rev. Dr. Faunce. They stood on a mat banked with palms during the ceremony. The room was very tastefully decorated with potted plants, palms and ferns, and the mantel was completely embedded with nasturtiums, delicate palms and maiden hair ferns. The bride was attired in white silk, on-train, trimmed with tulle veil and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were Miss Carrie E. Fleming and Miss Addie Putnam. The former wore a blue and white china silk and the latter a pink and white costume of the same material. Each wore handsome pins presented by the groom and carried bouquets of white carnations and maiden hair fern. After the ceremony a reception was held, the guests numbering about 150 ladies and gentlemen. The ushers were Messrs. H. Eugene Fleming, brother of the bride, Philip A. Warner and Clinton L. Eddy. The wedding presents were displayed in one of the upper rooms and consisted of elegant solid silver, rare etchings and pictures, Royal Worcester, china, glass, and the most valuable and useful gifts. The collation was served by Caterer Lee of the Woodland Park Hotel. At the close of the reception, the young couple departed on their wedding tour. Upon their return they will reside in West Newton. Among those present were the grandmother and grandfather of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge of Sherburne, aged respectively 88 and 81 years.

Lassell Notes.

Dr. Francis N. Poloniet met the students of Lassell, Sunday morning, Oct. 5, for the first time, taking the usual lesson of the International series as the basis of his teaching. His method is to lead the students to take a very active part in the lesson by expressing their own opinions, answering questions, etc.

A company spent Monday in visiting Salem, with a view to understanding its historical and literary points. They were much interested.

The Missionary Society and the Christian Endeavor have both been reorganized and officers chosen. Miss Nellie Richards remains president of the latter. Miss Nannie Hogg is chosen head of the Missionary Society. The Christian Endeavor was well represented at the evening of the union meeting in the Congregational church.

Both departments in music, vocal and instrumental, are very full and flourishing, and bid fair to furnish excellent material for certain concerts that are in contemplation.

In the department of natural history Prof. Rich proposes some changes, or rather natural enlargements of the plan of work. In the last term special topics will be assigned to each member of the class upon which she will deliver lectures before the class. Modifications in the chemistry plan will allow more time for work in the laboratory.

Parties are making trips to the Art Museum in Boston, for purposes of study.

A BLACK SHEEP.

Aunt Ann stood in the doorway looking at me doubtfully. "I don't know about letting her take it, Moses," she said. "It seems as if a girl of thirteen ought to be old enough, and if it was Milly I shouldn't think of worrying. But I never saw Bertha's beat for carelessness. As Miss Stevens said yesterday, she's the black sheep of the family, and always will be."

I had heard this last remark often enough to grow hardened to it, and never dreamed of taking offence. But Uncle Moses, who had prophesied, years before, that I would "make something" sometime, and still held to that opinion, put down the dipper to say, with more than ordinary emphasis: "You let her take it, Ann. 'Tain't more'n a mile cross-lots, and the money'll git there just as safe as if I stopped in the middle of hayin' to go."

"It's better to leave the haying over a day than to lose thirty dollars," sighed Aunt Ann, sepulchrally. "But you'll have your own way about it, whatever I do or say. Only I want you to remember if anything happens, Moses, who it was that sent her."

"Wa-al," hastily asserted Uncle Moses, as he started for the hay-field. That one word was a great favour of his. He used it in the affirmative and negative; to express pleasure or vexation; when Ann scolded or the cow kicked over the milk pail. Once when, at the age of four, I distinguished myself by falling head first into a spring and crawling out unaided, he was startled into the incredulous ejaculation, "Wa-al, wa-al!" but that deviation never occurred again.

Aunt Ann, deprived of one listener, turned to me. "I don't know but what it is just as well for you to go," she admitted. "We promised to pay for the cow the fifteenth, and she's particular to the hour. But I wish it was Milly visiting here, instead of you. Aunt Augusta is the same relation to your family as she is to me, and it wouldn't surprise me any if she took it into her head to do something for some of you children. I do hope, Bertha, if she inquires who you are, you'll try and act so as not to spoil the chances of the rest of the family."

I brushed my hair in a way intended to express the most indifference to "Aunt Augusta," her likes and dislikes. Secretly, I was a good deal excited. Ever since I could remember I had heard fabulous stories of the benevolence, kindness and business capacity of this great-aunt of ours, who managed every detail of the large estate herself. "She'll take a fancy to me and give me a musical education."

"She won't," declared Aunt Ann, with a decision that left no room for hope. "She's one of the most particular women I ever saw, and any one she takes a fancy to would have to look as if they'd just come out of a bandbox. You could fix up all you want to, but you wouldn't have the style to please her. It isn't in you. Milly, now, would be a girl after her own heart. I was thinking the other day, I believed I'd try to get her acquainted with Milly."

I gave a disgusted look at the reflection of my thin, downy face and lank body in the glass, and mournfully decided Aunt Ann was right. Oh, dear, dear! why was not I Milly? Or, if I must be myself, why could not I have been born with a taste for sewing and "fixing up," instead of climbing trees and racing the old horse around the back-barn? I puzzled over this conundrum till I was well on my way, only to give it up as unanswerable. "But, at any rate," I decided, philosophically, as I pulled my big shade hat farther over my eyes, "I can show her I know how to act, if I don't look as if I'd come out of a bandbox." I had always been sure I could talk better than Milly-cent, and over this reflection I became quite myself again, and went on picking my way through the pasture, whistling "Yankee Doodle." What if I was a black sheep? If my dresses chose to tear, and my shoes to wear out, and my hair to fall out, I was sure it wasn't any fault of mine. And there couldn't be anything wrong in climbing trees or riding the old horse bareback. Of course, I shouldn't do it when I was grown up, and a great piano player, but—

"Hullo!"

The voice seem to come from somewhere underground. I stopped and looked around. The only living creature in sight was a brindle cow, which stood on the edge of a bank, pensively looking over. I waited a moment and then shouted in return: "Hullo! Where are you?"

"Down the bank. Come over here," was the answer.

My first glance down the steep ledge explained the cow's interest in the situation. There at the bottom of the ravine, in an uncomfortably cramped position, lay the smallest specimen of the old bossy calf I ever saw. By the side of the calf stood a boy—very freckled, very ragged, and some two years younger than myself—staring at me with a wonderfully disgusted expression.

"Was that a 'whistlin'?"

"Yes. What do you want?"

"Don't want nothin' of you," he explained, in a deeply injured tone. "I thought you was a boy, and I was goin' to have you help git this calf out. I can't climb up with him alone. I've been tryin' half an hour."

"Why don't you go home and get somebody?" I demanded, approaching perilously near the edge in my eagerness to land in the situation.

"Well, that's what I've got to do; an' I don't s'pose he'll live till I get back. I do know how long he's been here, but he's pretty well tuckered out. Brindle hid him in the bushes, I s'pose, an' he tumbled in."

I hesitated. Old Brindle seemed to divide the situation and looked at me with pleading eyes. But I should be sure to get my clothes torn somehow, and then Aunt Ann would talk about black sheep. "I'd help you myself, if it wasn't for my dress," I said regretfully, with a glance at my ruffles and frills.

But the red-haired boy did not seem to be impressed by my kind intentions. He looked at me and grinned. "You help," he ejaculated. "Huh! You couldn't climb down here, to say nothin' of gittin' back!"

Dress, gloves, ruffles, were of no account after that! The next moment I was scrambling down the almost perpendicular path. I would not have owned it for the world, but it was harder work than I had imagined. I scratched my hands and tore my shoes; caught my dress on a twig, and once missed my footing and just escaped rolling to the bottom. But the descent was accomplished at last, and in a way that compelled the admiration of the boy with red hair, who said "I beat any girl he ever see, and if I'd jest give him my hand once in a while on the way back, he'd remember it of me."

I think we were an hour getting that calf up the bank; but it certainly was not my fault. I tore so many little three-cornered holes in my dress that I gave up trying to count them; clambered over the steepest places on my hands and knees, and was not a bit discouraged when, like the frog in the well, we climbed up one step and slipped back two. I broke my parasol, jammed a silver in my finger, and lost my hair-ribbon. But the calf was placed on solid ground at last. Old Brindle was pleased, and, in that first flush of victory, I felt that I could afford to forget those little drawbacks. The red-haired boy regarded me rather pityingly as he said good-by.

"Miss White's? Is that where you're goin'?" There 'tis, right down at the foot of that big hill. I'm ever so much interested about the calf, miss; but it's too bad you got mussed up so."

Five minutes later a servant had ushered me in to wait "til the missus came."

"Some one to see Miss White on important business," I heard her say, explaining outside. "A beggar-girl, I guess."

"Begger girl, indeed!" But just then I happened to glance in the large mirror opposite, and sank back in the chair, for once actually frightened. I had known that my dress was torn, my hair frizzy, and my gloves stained; but the knowledge had not troubled me much. I was not Milly, and dress wouldn't make much difference with a black sheep. What I had not known was that a smear of mud reached from my nose crosswise to my ear; and worse yet, the rent in my shoe had extended to my stocking, leaving a considerable part of a very muddy foot. "What," thought I, springing to my feet—"what if I should spoil the chances of the rest of the family?"

Before I could decide whether it was best to run or stay and brave it out, the door opened and Aunt Augusta came in; and then my last faint hope died away. She was, so to say, so dignified, and so neat. "Oh, Milly, Milly!" I balanced myself on one foot in a desperate endeavor to conceal the ragged shoe, and told my errand with a courage born of despair. "I have brought you the money for a cow—fifty dollars—from Mr. Moses Smith."

She looked at me, surprised. "Yes, thank you. I will give you a receipt. But, pardon me, I do not seem to recognize you. You are?"

The air seemed full of voices, each one shouting louder than the rest: "Black Sheep!" "Black Sheep!" "Black Sheep, and always will be!"

"I am Mrs. Smith's niece," I stammered.

"What! Not one of George Lampton's children?" There was certainly a good deal of surprise in her voice; and I felt that now for the credit of the family an explanation must be given. But she should never know—

"I should not have come looking this way," I began, in my most dignified manner, winking hard to keep back the tears. "But I stopped to help a little boy get a calf up a ravine, and—my long balance on one foot gave way. I staggered, made a wild lunge, and recovered myself only by describing a sort of half circle with the other foot, now all black bare. That, and the tremulous smile on Aunt Augusta's lips, was too much. The next minute I was crying as if my heart would break."

"—It isn't that I care about myself," I gasped between my sobs. "Only you—mustn't laugh—or think any less of Sue—or—or Milly. It—it was my own fault, every bit of it. I looked all right when I started, and—then I stopped to help a little boy with a calf, be—because I said I couldn't, and tore my dress and my shoe, and I know Aunt Ann will be so mad, and—oh, dear, I'm the black sheep of the family, and always will be! and I don't see how I can help it."

"Do you mean to tell me, exclaimed Aunt Ann that evening, when she heard the whole story, "that she actually wanted you to stay to dinner; and had you sit down with her, looking the way you did?"

"Yes, ma'am," I answered, meekly. "I washed my face, and her maid combed my hair; but that was all."

"And then she asked you to come over and stay with her next week?"

"Yes."

"Well I can't understand it. If she takes a fancy to any one, she takes it for certain. You'll get your musical education, I guess, if you want it; and I only hope it will do you some good. But I don't see into it. You—and after you'd helped that little Irish boy with the calf, and got to looking the way you do now. If you had what you deserved, miss, it would be a good scolding."

"There, there, Ann, what's the use of going on so," expostulated Uncle Moses. She's done all right about the calf. I always said Bertha would make a smart girl."

"Smart! I never said but what she won d," exclaimed Aunt Ann. "But you know yourself, Moses Smith (this in great disgust), she's the black sheep of the family, and always will be."

NEWTON TARIFF REFORMERS.

ADDRESS BY PRESIDENT E. B. HASKELL—COURSE OF REPRESENTATIVE CANDLER SHARPLY CRITICISED—RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

The annual meeting of the Newton Tariff Reform Club was held in Nickerson's Hall, West Newton, Monday evening. Mr. E. B. Haskell, president of the club, occupied the chair and made an introductory address.

MR. HASKELL'S ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the Newton Tariff Reform Club: The secretary's report will give you the details of our work for the year just closed. I will limit my report to a few remarks on the general situation of the cause which we have at heart.

A casual view certainly reveals nothing very encouraging to tariff reformers. The majority in congress has fulfilled its pledges to "reform the tariff" in a manner that was not expected by its adherents or its opponents. It has pushed through a bill in which nearly all the evils of the war tariff are aggravated, and, in doing so, has involved itself in a maze of contradictions which even the blind adherents of party, who are not expected to think for themselves, cannot fail to see. Let us take a simple illustration: The extreme protectionists tell us that the ultimate effect of a protective tariff is to cheapen the price to the consumer of the article protected. Yet on the other hand they tell us by the voice of Mr. Dingley, one of the most intelligent of the lot, that the increase of duty on woolen goods made by the new tariff is required by the increase of duty on wool and the further fact that the compensatory and ad valorem duties on these goods were made too small in the tariff of 1883 to properly protect this industry.

They expect this to operate in increasing the price of wool for the domestic producer, which will increase the cost of producing woolen fabrics, the manufacturer to be compensated by a tariff which will put up the price of his products. Even by that operation they are stultified; but, judging by past history, the real operation will be that the domestic producer of wool will get no more for his wares than the price of foreign wool, which will be enhanced by the duty, and the woolen manufacturer will get his compensation by a tax on the domestic consumer. Here is another case of spoiled logic: The Mills bill was denounced as a free trade measure. Now comes this same man, the very fact that the Mills bill reduces the average rate of duty on all imports (including those admitted free) from 30 per cent. ad valorem to 27 per cent., while the Mills bill reduced the average rate only to 28 1/2 per cent. Ergo, the free trade Mills bill was higher than the high protection McKinley bill.

But the McKinley bill reduced the average rate of duties mainly by wiping out the sugar tax, which was nearly all pure revenue—that is, nearly all that it cost the people went into the treasury—while the duties which that bill increased cost the people not only the increased cost of the foreign goods which pay the duties, but in the increased cost of all domestic goods with which they compete.

In short, the effect of the McKinley tariff will be to take more out of the people and put less into the treasury. The enormities of the McKinley bill, driven through congress under the party lash, solely for the benefit of a favored few who are expected to contribute liberally to political funds in payment for the favor, have excited the opposition in the minds of all Republicans who think for themselves. The McKinley tariff is some of the scathing criticisms of the measure. Even some who finally voted for it, like Butterworth, enjoyed the luxury of telling what a bad bill they knew it was.

A very mischievous feature of the McKinley tariff is the bounty on the sugar industry. The first time introduced into our legislation. The sugar planters of Louisiana are to receive pay from the government for conducting their business. They fill about the most fertile soil in the whole country. There would be more sense in a bounty on the production of Indian corn, which is a staple of the soil of New England, but nobody seems to have thought of such a use of the government's resources.

The tariff is based on the theory that foreign trade is an evil to be prohibited as far as possible, and the reciprocity of duties between countries, which is a source of suffering to the people, is to be maintained. The McKinley tariff, in the hands of the tariff reformers, is a source of suffering to the people, and is to be maintained.

Sometimes contemporary foreign criticism anticipates the verdict of posterity. The European countries which maintain high protective tariffs, partly because of our illiberal example—countries like Austria, Germany and France—protest against the McKinley tariff and threaten to retaliate by excluding our products from their markets. In the other hand, the European countries which maintain low protective tariffs, partly because of our illiberal example—countries like Austria, Germany and France—protest against the McKinley tariff and threaten to retaliate by excluding our products from their markets.

Resolved, that it is quite time for the tariff reformers to repudiate the protectionists; that a sense of decency should dictate the substitution, in our high places, of gentlemen for clowns; self-respect and the desire for self-preservation, the succession of statesmen to mere politicians.

Resolved, that to secure the co-operation and to arouse the sympathy of the unthinking citizens in sending to Congress men whose high character, courage and independence will guarantee the intelligent consideration there of economic questions in a spirit free from political prejudice or other improper influences, every earnest and sincere reformer should lend his utmost aid.

Mellin's Food is put up in glass bottles, and is in the form of a fine, granular product, consisting entirely of soluble and assimilable matter; it is not the bulky indigestible product of the miller or baker, but is the result of skillful manipulation, by careful and uniform chemical processes based upon scientific principles.

The report showed an increase of 30 new members during the past year, making the total membership 151. It alludes to a tariff reform column published by the club in the Newton GRAPHIC as being of advantage in wearing away the stony shell of prejudice which has apparently completely covered the reason of the latter-day Republicans, and closes in the following words:

"The Newton Tariff Reform Club is part of a great movement, and, as such, deserves the support of its members. Economically we stand for freedom as against restriction; socially for distribution as against concentration; politically for national amity as against national hatreds; morally for justice as against greed. Our success means not so much a revolution in thought. Our mission is toward the upholding of equal opportunities, equal rights, equal justice to the rich and poor, white and black, American, European or Asiatic."

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in the choice of the following: E. B. Haskell, president, Stephen Thatcher, vice-president; C. Howard Wilson, secretary and treasurer; John W. Dewson, W. S. Hutchinson, J. R. Smith, H. C. Soule, executive committee.

It was voted to amend the third article of the constitution which provided for the payment of a membership fee of $1, so that it would read "that any person in sympathy with the objects of the club shall be admitted to membership upon signing the constitution." The abolishing of the fee, it is thought, will help to increase the present membership and the expenses will be met by volunteer contributions. The executive committee was empowered, if it was deemed expedient, to arrange for one or more public meetings, and, if practicable, for a joint debate on the tariff question; also, if it was deemed best, to work in harmony with the Democratic party for the purpose of preventing, if possible, the re-election of Congressman Candler.

Mr. R. B. Bridgman reported for the committee of the club, appointed to watch the course of Hon. John W. Candler in Congress. The report is given in full in the Tariff Reform column.

Remarks were made by Messrs. Marcus Morton, E. W. Redpath, D. C. Heath, E. A. Dewson and others, who all recognized more active work in the interest of the club. Mr. Dewson said that active means should be resorted to in getting the young men interested in the club and in helping them in making up their minds to vote for what many of them believed in tariff reform. We should, added, Mr. Dewson, take hold earnestly and begin with John W. Candler. Let us have public meetings and good speakers that we may keep Mr. Candler at home.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

The report was accepted and the secretary instructed to have copies printed for circulation as a campaign document. The following resolutions, offered by Mr. Stephen Thatcher, were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that this association believes that when those elected to stand by the interests of their fellow-citizens surrender those interests and urge expediency as a defence for the sacrifice; when our congressmen try to divert attention from their neglect of the best and truest welfare of the whole people by flinging ribald ridicule and abuse at education and reform; when the leader of the majority solemnly repeats in the national House of Representatives, as an excuse for a prohibitory tariff, the campaign cry of "Unionly alliance between England and the Democrats;" and the party press resurrects the spook of the Cobden Club's pernicious activity in our affairs, that the cause of high tariff must be weak, indeed, and its seeming triumph short-lived.

Resolved, that it is quite time for the tariff reformers to repudiate the protectionists; that a sense of decency should dictate the substitution, in our high places, of gentlemen for clowns; self-respect and the desire for self-preservation, the succession of statesmen to mere politicians.

Resolved, that to secure the co-operation and to arouse the sympathy of the unthinking citizens in sending to Congress men whose high character, courage and independence will guarantee the intelligent consideration there of economic questions in a spirit free from political prejudice or other improper influences, every earnest and sincere reformer should lend his utmost aid.

Mellin's Food is put up in glass bottles, and is in the form of a fine, granular product, consisting entirely of soluble and assimilable matter; it is not the bulky indigestible product of the miller or baker, but is the result of skillful manipulation, by careful and uniform chemical processes based upon scientific principles.

That tired feeling now so often heard of, is entirely overcome by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives mental and bodily strength.

Neuralgia is obstinate. Johnson's Anodyne Liniment has cured many very severe cases.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own brand of Hood's; he told me their's was longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other."

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself continuing much longer to speak of it." MRS. ELLA A. GOFF, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.

The rumors floating about town Sunday, concerning the arrest of certain parties, were wholly without foundation, and the parties who started the story are known.

The suicide in the village the first of the week by Mr. Geo. Dyson's horse was a sad catastrophe. It seems the animal got into the mud near the river while pasturing and quietly fell over and drowned.

Pette Machine Works are putting in a system of telephone connection between the different departments and the head office, giving great facility to the foremen in communicating with the superintendent.

There was more driving through the village Sunday than on any one day for the past summer. The village is a lively place evenings and Sundays, more so than would be supposed from the quiet on week days.

Mr. Herbert Forbes and family, who removed to Maplewood but a short time ago, have decided to return here. Their friends will be pleased to know of this decision, and the Baptist choir will regain its former leader.

The members of Echo Lodge, R. A., still continue their interest in the order and are at present engaged in arranging for a public meeting, probably in November, at which prominent officials of the order will speak in its interest.

A good deal of merriment was occasioned by the registrars of voters producing the wrong book at Prospect Hall, Tuesday night, necessitating a wait for the proper one. A large number of young voters registered for the first time.

That enormous pumpkin in A. R. Pitt's window weighs 37 pounds and for every cash purchase of $1 you can guess as to the number of seeds it contains and have a chance of securing these prizes: 1st, barrel of flour; 2d, $5; and the worst guesser gets the pumpkin.

Mr. Giles Dyson, Jr., and Miss Emma Hilton were united in marriage by Rev. John Peterson on Tuesday evening. The couple have the congratulations of their many friends in the village in their new relations. They have leased Mrs. Jewett's house on High street and are housekeeping.

The first meeting of the Lincoln Club was held in Stevens building Tuesday, Oct. 7, and the following officers elected: President, J. R. Smith; vice-president, David Bates; treasurer, Frank C. Hyde; secretary, Wm. W. Heckman; directors, Elliot J. Hyde, Dr. Alfred S. Wiley, Walter C. Nickerson, Louis S. Brigham; election committee, Dr. Samuel L. Eaton, James Simpson, Dr. H. F. Pease, Frank H. Moore, Walter H. Nash. We give below two extracts from the Club Constitution. Art. 2. "This club is established for the promotion of social intercourse, and the encouragement of kindly feeling and good fellowship among the members." Art. 3. "There shall be no gambling in the club house, and no spirituous liquors shall be allowed on the premises."

The walk between the track at the station has been finished this week.

Contractor Ford's carpenters have resumed work on Mr. Mosely's house.

Officer Fletcher's grounds about the new house have been nicely graded, and the grading in front of Mr. J. E. Hills house has also been improved.

Mr. Howard S. Hiltz, our genial station agent, has been very busy for several weeks in getting names for the organization of a tribe of Red Men at the Highlands. His efforts have at last been rewarded and on Wednesday evening the first meeting was held in Old Fellows Hall, the charter list being signed by fifty or more names. The installation will occur the latter part of this month and the prospect is bright for a large tribe in the near future.

NEWTON PEOPLE who want the most reliable Electrical Appliances in their residences, should insist upon having the new "Triumph" Automatic and the "Tip-Top" Ratchet Burners, the "Tirrell" Gravity Drop Annunciators, the "Victor" and "Standard" Call Bells, and the "Samson" Battery, the strongest and most durable open-circuit battery in the world, and other supplies made by the Electric Gas Lighting Co., whose warehouses are at 185 Devonshire St., Boston.

You can doubtless buy cheaper material of other concerns; but this company has the best reputation for first-class electrical goods extant; and, as a result, its trade extends throughout this country and parts of Europe. It does no construction work, but can always put in communication with the most competent and reliable Electrical Contractors and Fitters, as such parties are most generally customers of ours, whom we are glad to recommend. Always select the best in this line, and you will find it the cheapest in the long run. Respectfully,

—Mr. and Mrs. B. Franklin Bacon were given a surprise party Wednesday evening, to celebrate the latter's birthday anniversary, and some forty relatives and friends were present.

—The Ancient Order of United Workmen appears to be the banner insurance order as it has not made an assessment for three months, and its rate is lower than any of the other orders.

—Mr. R. J. Morrissey's new horse ran away Wednesday, demolishing the wagon, but fortunately injuring no one. It was frightened by a stock of timber which projected over the wagon.

—The first regular meeting of the Unitarian Club was held last evening, and was a purely business meeting, a large number being present. The Club already has about sixty members.

—Mr. Geo. W. Bush has begun the erection of a large and convenient carriage house, next to his stable on Elmwood street, as his business had outgrown his already ample accommodations.

—Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan of Church street have sustained a sad loss in the death of their daughter, who has been ill for some time. The funeral services were held from their residence, at 10 o'clock this morning.

—The choir sociable at Elliot church parlors, last Saturday evening, was a very pleasant affair. Supper was furnished by a committee of ladies, and there was a fine program of music including solos by Mr. Dunham, and piano music by Mr. J. Wallace Goodrich.

—A son of Mrs. Livermore residing over the post office, was quite seriously hurt Thursday morning. He with other boys threw a brick into the tree and it came down on the Livermore boy's head, cutting the scalp open and laying the skull bare.

—Geo. H. Manley of Gardner street has received the appointment of clerk on the railway mail service, and will run on the Newton circuit. The appointment was made under the civil service rules, he having passed his examination and been placed on the eligible list about a year ago.

—A letter has been sent by the special committee of the Hospital trustees to the ministers of Newton, asking their aid in instructing their congregations as to the needs of the Hospital, so that the contributions on Hospital Sunday in November may be larger than ever before.

—The Newtons defeated the East Boston High School eleven in an interesting football match on Walworth's field last Saturday morning, by a score of 10 to 6. The feat was the great rush of Linder the whole length of the line, the rushing of Knight and Wildes and the tackling of Brigham, Linder and Soule.

—The Elliot Sunday School held their annual meeting on Tuesday evening and elected Mr. F. W. Gaffield, superintendent; Mr. L. B. Gray, assistant; Mr. R. F. Lewis, superintendent of the infant department; and Mrs. W. P. Ellison, assistant. Mr. McFarlin was re-elected treasurer and secretary and Horton Allen librarian.

—Thomas Keffe, a resident of Newton for 33 years, died at his home, corner of Green and Chapel streets, on Wednesday, at the age of 60 years after a short illness. Buried Monday Oct. 13, from Church of Our Lady. Solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Gilfeather as follows: Rev. Father Dolan, deacon; Rev. Father Stack, sub-deacon. The music was by the regular church choir, Mrs. C. P. Harkins, organist. Interment took place at Calvary cemetery, Waltham, Mass.

—Eliot Lodge No. 10, National Three Year Bona Fide Order of Newton, held a decidedly interesting meeting last Wednesday evening, at its regular meeting place in Brackett's Hall, (opposite post office). Twenty-seven candidates were initiated. It was voted to hold a public meeting on Sunday evening, Nov. 3, which meeting will be attended by supreme officers and an interesting entertainment will be furnished. Eliot lodge is in a flourishing condition, its membership already numbering seventy.

—The announcement of the death of Mr. Frank Graves, youngest son of Mr. Chester Graves of Hovey street, was received with many friends in Newton. He had been here on a visit not long ago, but his health not permitting a stay in our climate he returned to Colorado, where his death occurred quite suddenly on Sunday last. He was unmarried and was 36 years of age. The remains will be brought home for interment, and services will be held at the Newton Cemetery Chapel, this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

—The ladies who have in charge the sale in aid of the Pomroy Home, were encouraged by the hearty responses received. But the willing workers are reminded that the date fixed upon, Nov. 5th, is near at hand and much remains to be done. Their contribution of useful or fancy articles, of candy, home-made or otherwise, of jellies and preserves, will be gratefully received. Further particulars may be learned from the department at the head of the lady directors, Mrs. J. Sturges Potter, Mrs. Henry M. Bates, Mrs. Henry C. Hardon.

—The first game in the recently re-organized Junior Interscholastic Foot Ball Association's series was played Saturday morning on Norton's field, Cambridge, between the Brown & Nichols and the Newton High School elevens. The Newton team was somewhat heavier but the Brown & Nichols men were the more agile, securing a touch down and goal in their first half, and adding four points more to their score in the second half. Tarbell did some fine rushing for the Newton's and was ably seconded by Howard and Holmes Whit-Burnard and others. The game resulted in a defeat for the Newton's, however, by a score of 10 to 4.

—The third lecture in the course on "Modern Martyrs" will be given in Grace church on Sunday night. The subject will be "Charles Frederick MacKensie, the Martyr of the Zambesi." The second lecture in this course was attended by a large number of persons last Sunday night, among whom were many men. It was inspiring to hear the old missionary hymn, "From Greenland's icy mountains," sung by the choir and large congregation in Grace church. The coming Sunday Le Jeune's beautiful tune to "Jerusalem the Golden" will be rendered, and also the solo anthems, "Like as the hart panteth after the water brooks."

—The following paragraph concerning a Newton boy who has met with success through his own endeavors and natural business qualifications will be read with much interest. It was taken from the Tacoma, Washington, Daily Ledger: Charles A. Barnes of the Northern Pacific, located at the wharf, was presented with a handsome gold watch Oct. 1. Mr. Barnes was lately transferred from the department at the head of the bay where he was much esteemed by the clerks and freight handlers under his charge. To show their appreciation of his gentlemanly traits and sterling worth as a railroad man, his former associates chipped in and bought an elegant time piece, with appropriate inscription engraved on the inside. The victim was then decoyed to the freight office, where Chief Clerk George Sevels sprung the watch and a speech that brought tears to the eyes of all those with-in hearing. When the sobbings had sufficiently subsided Mr. Barnes responded in his usual happy manner and thanked the donors for their kind remembrance.

—The instances of grateful testimonials for services rendered are rare and the newspapers record with pleasure the generous acknowledgments of those who appreciate the unsolicited kindness and aid of others in times of emergency and peril. Mrs. Mayo of Watertown was driving behind a pair of horses on Sargent street last week when one of the animals was seized with the blind staggers and as a result the occupants of the carriage were placed in a most unenviable position, the danger from accident with possibility of serious consequences only being averted through the timely assistance of Thomas and Michael Maker, who succeeded in holding the horses, one of the men being knocked down by the more spirited and frightened animal. The two brothers who are employed by Mr. W. P. Tyler and Mr. D. W. Farquhar, were agreeably surprised the next day by a visit from Mrs. Mayo which affected their worldly possessions, each being the recipient of a crisp $100 note, a generous reward from a generous lady who appreciated their efforts in her behalf.

MR. CANDLER'S RECORD.

WHAT IS SAID OF HIS VOICE AND VOTE IN CONGRESS.

Last week the Newton Tariff Reform Club paid their respects to Congressman Candler, with especial reference to his record in regard to Tariff Reform. This has called out a good deal of comment, and the committee appointed by the Boston Merchants Association to try to secure some changes in the McKinley Administrative Tariff bill, think that it does not fairly represent Mr. Candler, and that the other side of the case should be stated as a simple matter of justice.

The said committee, composed of some of the most prominent merchants of Boston, representing both political parties, went to Washington with a view of inducing the ways and means committee of the House, and the Finance Committee of the Senate, to broaden the scope of the McKinley Administrative Tariff bill. They did not object to any provisions necessary for the purpose of checking fraudulent importations, but they did object to those restrictive features which appear to have been introduced on the mistaken supposition that every importer is a scamp and a rascal. Because frauds had been practiced in New York, mainly by a certain class of foreign importers, they claimed that it did not follow that such American citizens as comprise the firm of Jones, McDuffie & Stratton, or C. E. Hovey & Co., or many others who might be named in Boston, should be treated as frauds and cheats.

The committee arrived in Washington, but the only Republican Congressman from Massachusetts who took a broad view of the situation, and had the courage to maintain it, was Mr. Candler. If the Massachusetts Senators, or Lodge, or Greenhalgh, or Cogswell, or Walker, or all of our Congressmen had united with Mr. Candler, these unnecessary restrictions might have been stricken out, but Mr. Candler was the only one who dared to speak in its favor on the floor of the house and he labored with both the House and Senate committees to get these restrictions changed. He did succeed in getting some of them stricken out in the house, although they were restored again in the Senate. Had Mr. Candler succeeded the bill would have been just as effective in checking fraud, and it would have been a fair, equitable and reasonable measure, which it is very far from being to-day. Any one who thinks the bill has been too strongly denounced can ask any of the Custom House officials, or Boston Merchants in regard to the irritation and annoyance caused by the bill.

His friends ask whether a Congressman who has interested himself in serving his constituents, who has not been content to favor only those measures by which he could advertise himself, or make political capital, but has always sought to do his duty, and to serve his constituents, and has been a most useful Congressman, should not be returned? His position as chairman of the World's Fair committee has given Massachusetts and the Ninth District a national prominence, as the World's Fair is to be the greatest thing this country has ever seen. If he is returned and the Republicans have the house, he will again receive the position, which will be of great importance during the next two years.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Mr. L. A. Gammons is absent from his business here by malaria.

—Mr. John Dolan has recovered from a brief but serious illness.

—Officer Carman is able to be about after a two weeks' illness of malaria.

—Seven names were added to the voting list after registration services last Saturday evening in Boyden Hall.

—The Misses Jackson gave a very pleasant "Hodge-Podge" party Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Birch of New York.

—The express business of the late R. S. Burd is advertised for sale for the first time. B. W. Gilbert is the admiral and sides.

—The regular meeting of the Friendly Aid Society has been postponed from last Thursday to next, on account of the hall being occupied last Thursday.

—The new Rice's crossing station is completed, as is also the grounds about, and driveway to main street. A number of trains will soon be added according to public demands.

—House building at present is booming on Concord street. As there is abundant room for this work here and being a desirable location the work will no doubt be apt to be continued.

—A number from here attended the Democratic rally at city hall, West Newton, Thursday evening, which was probably the most enthusiastic meeting that will honor Newton in this campaign.

—Mr. Swallows new house on Concord street is going up very rapidly. The structure is already shingled and sides boarded in. The building will be occupied at this rate next month.

—The Kings Daughters of St. Mary's church, gave an entertainment consisting of music from violin and piano, recitations and impersonations, the latter being well played by Mr. Emory Coulter. The whole made an entertainment that was enjoyed by a good sized audience.

—The harvest supper held in the basement of the Methodist church, Wednesday evening, was successfully carried out. Everything presented an autumnal appearance, this being a thoughtful action of the managers of the affair. The interest taken was deep from the time the supper was first thought of and never diminished.

THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

ELECTION OFFICERS CONFIRMED—POLICEMEN APPOINTED ON PERMANENT FORCE.

Both branches of the city government met in the City Hall, Monday evening. In the board of aldermen Mayor Burr presided, three members absent.

F. B. Smith, Hovey street, and David A. Conant, Washington street, were drawn as jurors for the supreme court and Lorenzo Gibbs, Washington street, and George D. Clark, Otis street, as jurors for the superior court.

The armory roll of the year was approved.

The customary order was adopted approving the issuing of the warrant for the election, Nov. 4, 1890.

A petition of M. N. Smith to be allowed to pay the assessment on land of W. P. and Mary E. Mullen, Walnut street, for drain and rebate on same, was referred to the committee on claims.

An order was adopted approving the use of the ballot boxes furnished by the city clerk and now in his custody, in the event of the failure to work of those provided by the secretary of the commonwealth.

An order was passed adopting as the regulations of the board the instructions to election officers prepared by the city clerk.

The following police officers, who have served the 6 months' probationary term, were appointed and confirmed as members of the permanent force: Frederick M. Mitchell, J. Herbert Seaver, Richard T. Taffe, John J. Davis, Guy S. Shannon, William O. Harlow.

The following election officers appointed by the mayor were laid over for confirmation: Ward 1, J. A. Evans, deputy warden; John W. Keefe, inspector; H. L. Wood, deputy inspector. Ward 3, Edward L. Lemon, inspector; Waldo L. Plimpton, deputy inspector. Ward 4, precinct 1, George F. Johnson, warden; Colon S. Ober, deputy clerk; Jacob Pratt, Jr., deputy inspector; precinct 2, F. C. Lyon and Owen McCourt, deputy inspectors. Ward 5, precinct 1, Frank Fanning, inspector. Ward 7, precinct 1, Frederick G. Kimball, deputy warden.

The following election officers were confirmed: Ward 1, W. S. Ring and M. L. Blanchard, inspectors. Ward 2, precinct 1, Andrew J. McFadden, deputy inspector. Ward 4, A. F. Tucker, deputy warden; W. C. Brown and C. B. Ashenden, inspectors; Charles W. Fordham, deputy inspector. Ward 5, precinct 2, E. H. Corey, clerk. Ward 6, precinct 1, George A. Holmes, deputy clerk. Ward 7, precinct 1, F. A. Barrows, inspector.

Michael Mullen was granted a permit to erect a wooden stable, 20x25, on Adams street.

Fred V. Smith was granted leave to withdraw on his petition for permit to build a livery stable, 40x50, on Brooks street.

The New England Telephone & Telegraph Company were granted a permit to rebuild its line on Jefferson street, between Centre street and the Watertown line.

J. W. Martin was granted a permit to build a stable, 21x25, on Ward street. A petition from George S. Woodman for permit to build a barn, 8x12, on Highland avenue, Ward 2, was referred to the committee on licenses.

An order was adopted authorizing the chairman of the highway committee, the city engineer and the city clerk to act as the agents of the city in permitting the lines between Newton, Brookline and Waltham.

An order was adopted authorizing the water board to lay 178 feet 6-inch water main in Crafts street, Ward 2, at an expense not to exceed $186.

An order was adopted providing for the regrading of Arlington and Belmont streets and the laying of necessary edgelines.

An order was adopted providing for the location of new street lamps on California, Chestnut, Cabot and Temple streets.

Common Council.

President Hyde occupied the chair. A petition of Mary Balder and others, presented by Councilman Richardson, asking for a new fire alarm signal box at Thompsonville, was referred to the committee on fire department.

A petition of Moses G. Crane and others, presented by Councilman Collins, asking for the laying out and acceptance of a new street between Dunklee and Walnut streets, to be known as Fisher avenue, was referred to highway committee; also a petition of M. G. Crane, J. F. C. Hyde and others for the laying out and acceptance of a new street between Griffin avenue and Hyde street to be known as Norman road.

A large amount of concurrent business was transacted including the passage of orders appropriating $675 for a new fire alarm siren at Nonantum and appropriating $15,000 for a new schoolhouse to be erected at Waban. The order authorizing the mayor to execute deeds for the exchange of land on Waban Hill went through after some explanation by the city engineer who exhibited plans and outlined the nature of the proposed transfer.

On the commission authorizing the appointment of a committee of three citizens to determine site and procure plans and proposals for a new Memorial City Hall and appropriating $500 for the expenses thereof, considerable discussion ensued.

Councilman Forknall asked for an explanation of the duties of the special commission.

Councilman Bates said that the order did not pledge the city to an immediate construction of a new City Hall and that it was a good idea to go ahead, at least securing plans and estimates for a necessary building.

Councilman Dutch opposed the passage of the order. He said that the Grand Army men were not in favor of a plan which combined a memorial hall with a City Hall. The citizens, generally, he added, are opposed to any increase in taxes and believe that such a result will be reached if the plan is carried out, especially in view of the recent heavy expenditures in the water department and the necessity of a still greater for sewerage in the near future. I, therefore, move that the order be laid on the table. The motion was seconded by Councilman Forknall and lost by a vote of 9 to 5.

Councilman Easterbrook suggested the reference of the matter to the city solicitor. He said that he was not in favor of building a new City Hall at present. It would increase the taxes too much. He alluded to the expenditure of large sums for water works improvements and the necessity of soon introducing a sewerage system.

Councilman Rolfe favored the appointment of a commission. It will prepare a full report, he said, and the matter will then be presented to us in the right light for intelligent discussion. The order finally passed by a vote of 10 to 4.

Both boards adjourned shortly after 8 o'clock.

Field Day.

The Newton Natural History Society Field Day last Saturday, was a decided success as far as day and weather and scenery were concerned, although the number of tramps was not large. The party gathered at the Waltham depot and left there by rail at 2.45 p. m. Two miles further on they left the cars at Stony Brook, the first objective point of the excursion. Close by the railroad station a hill of moderate height rises abruptly from the valley, a hill of crag, and boulder and cliff of solid rock. Up the short but steep ascent the party went, and from the summit was the beautiful, wide spreading view of valley and hill, cultivated field and stretches of woodland, among which the cities and villages dotted the landscape and church spires pointed skyward; silvery threads and miniature lakes like glistening silver sparkled here and there; and all made gloriously beautiful by the rich tinted autumn foliage spreading out on every side, near and far away.

The scene was gorgeous and one long to be remembered by those so fortunate as to see it that afternoon, when cloud and sunlight vied with each other to brighten the landscape and present cloud shadows floating lazily seaward with the slow moving breeze.

The bright tinted leaves of sumac and maple, crimson and glowing; the purpling ash and orange tinted hickory; the duns and browns of scores of other denizens of forest and glade, stretching from our feet far away to the distant horizon, gave a picture of loveliness that would have made an artist's heart glad. After feasting on those beauties as long as time would allow, they descended the rugged path on the south-western slope and explored the "Devil's Den," a cave extending directly into the face of the cliff, from the top of the talus at its foot.

At the rugged escarpment of bold almost perpendicular rock on that side, shows somewhat of the tremendous power of the forces bent up within, which could fracture the solid rock-crust and upheave it, filling cracks and seams with melted material forced up from the depths below.

Leaving this interesting locality the party next visited the romantic little nook where the old dam and mills are seen, and the falling, rippling water makes music as it flows over its pebbly bed and on to the artificial pond, the new reservoir for Cambridge water supply.

After exploring this place the party returned to the street and then, a little beyond, turning to the left into Summer street, they followed its winding way, with trees on either side arching overhead, skirting the northeastern slope of Doublet Hill, with Stony Brook flowing at its foot in the valley below, and the Waltham Hills rising beyond.

Stony Brook soon widened into a little lake, the new reservoir for Cambridge. Past this the party went to Norumbega's tower, which they ascended, and from its top had another panorama of gorgeous, sunlit pictures, with the Charles glistening as it meandered around islet and diminutive cape or bolder headland and their very feet on the strand towards Audubon. Whether Prof. Horsford is right in locating Norumbega at this point or not was a question not authoritatively decided by the company, but of the advantage of the tower for a point of observation there could be but one opinion. Again resuming the tramp the tramps proceeded along the street towards Audubon, for a little distance, then turning into a lovely path they continued the enjoyable walk by the side of the river till Riverside was reached.

There the train was taken for home. Beautiful varied colored leaves and bright autumn flowers had been gathered on the way, and the merry tramps looked gay and happy as they entered the cars, ready for another Field Day on the morrow.

The O'Reilly Memorial.

To the Editor of the Graphic.

Appreciation for the true manly worth and exceptional genius of the late lamented John Boyle O'Reilly has found expression in many ways during his life and since his death, but in no instance perhaps were these qualities more beautifully and affectionately referred to than at the recent meeting in Tremont Temple, Boston, where undoubtedly one of the most representative audiences that had ever assembled in Boston, gathered to pay its tribute to his memory. Catholic and Protestant clergymen sat side by side and united in one common eulogy for the honored dead. The usually eloquent language of Col. Higginson seemed to be inspired with additional fervor and pathos, while graphically sketching the life and achievements of the poet editor, while not less marked were the sympathetic utterances of President Capen of Tufts College, Mayor Hart, Gen. Butler, Very Rev. Wm. Byrne, V. G., Judge Walker, Col. Chas. H. Taylor, Hon. Chas. Levi Woodbury, and Patrick A. Collins.

It was felt, however, that the sentiment of this great meeting would not be fully answered if confined to eulogistic expressions, but that there should be inaugurated a movement to provide a fitting and lasting memorial which would show to future generations our admiration of the nobleness of Mr. O'Reilly's life and character, and the versatility of his genius.

Accordingly the following named gentlemen were proposed to act as a "committee on memorial" and were authorized to solicit and receive contributions to this end: Gen. Francis A. Walker, Col. Chas. H. Taylor, Asa P. Potter, Robert F. Clark, Jas. Jeffrey Roach, Henry M. Rogers, Gen. M. T. Donahue, Very Rev. Wm. M. Byrne, V. G., Arthur H. Dodd, A. Shuman, Richard F. Toland, Edward A. Moseley, Hon. Patrick A. Collins, Jas. A. McDonald, M. D., Henry A. McGlenen, Francis A. Harris, M. D., John J. Hayes, Jas. M. Prendergast, Chas. Levi Woodbury, Thomas J. Gargan, Geo. F. Babbitt, Dominick Toy, Rev. Richard Nagle, Thomas B. Fitz.

At a meeting of this committee last Saturday, it was voted to raise the sum of fifty thousand dollars for the purpose of providing a memorial which should take the form of a statue or other monument, and an alcove in the Boston public library. Already generous subscriptions from many patriotic citizens without regard to creed or class, have been voluntarily forwarded to the treasurer, Mr. Asa P. Potter, President Maverick National Bank, or to other members of the committee. Knowing the spirit of the people of Newton, I am satisfied that they would be unwilling that this patriotic work should go on without their co-operation, and therefore as a member of the committee, I will thankfully acknowledge any contribution that may be sent me. In order that all may have a part in this testimonial, contributions, however small, will be gratefully received. The one, two and five dollar subscriptions from the many express a sentiment more wide spread and forcible than the larger amounts from the few, and will be accordingly received with the same spirit and welcome.

Respectfully,
THOMAS B. FITZ.

Resolutions.

At the quarterly meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Newton Savings Bank held Oct. 7, 1890, the following resolutions were adopted. Whereas, in the providence of God our friend and associate, Willard Marcy, has been suddenly removed from the scene of his earthly labors therefore.

Resolved, that in the death of Mr. Marcy the Savings Bank has lost one of its most active and faithful trustees, one who was held in high esteem and will be long remembered for his excellent judgment, sterling integrity and large share of practical common sense.

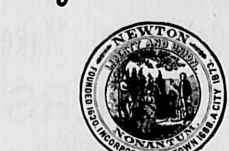

Resolved, that in his departure the family lose a loving husband and father, the trustees a generous and faithful friend, and the community and church an active and highly useful member, one who by his energy of character won for himself a position of wide influence and the respect of all who knew him.

Resolved, that we sincerely sympathize with the bereaved family of the deceased in the great affliction that has suddenly come upon them and hope that they may be sustained and comforted by the loving Heavenly Father.

Resolved, that these resolutions be entered upon the records and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

The worst cases of scrofula, salt rheum and other diseases of the blood, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Tariff is a Humbug.

Every person interested in the subject of the tariff is cordially invited to take part in the discussion carried on in this column. Respectful consideration will be given to inquiries, criticisms and communications of every kind whether coming from Tariff Reformers, Free Traders or High Protectionists. Address Secretary of the Tariff Reform Club, Newton Centre, Mass.

NEWTON TARIFF REFORM CLUB.

Not Entirely Satisfied.

Our Congressman, Mr. Candler, was formerly credited with very liberal ideas on the subject of foreign exchanges, but the only word he has to offer on the McKinley Tariff, now that it has become a law, is that it does not satisfy him. It is particularly in the tariff, he says, can be passed without mutual concessions. The concessions made by the silent New England Congressmen, including our representative, were very liberal, surely. They have shown themselves very comfortable people to get on with.

The Home Market Humbug.

Manufacturers say, "Pay us to build mills, give us enormous bonuses to run them, and our workmen will eat your produce and give you a home market for all you can raise." Since 1861 we have had tariff "protection," and manufacturers have developed and mill-owners have grown wealthy to an unprecedented extent. That the mill-owners claim this has all been due to the tariff, and ask the farmer to help them continue tariff taxation on the ground that they are giving him a "home market" and making him independent of foreigners. Can the mill-owners do this? Are they doing it?

In the first place, the mill owners and all their employees, added to the miners, include less than 10 per cent. of our working population. We now make 93 1-2 per cent.—nearly 15-16ths of all the manufactured goods we use, and mills and mines are shut down on the average from one-tenth to one-sixth of the time, when their workmen must eat even though they do not work. That is to say, even if we absolutely prohibited imports and forced our citizens to buy of our mill-owners every dollar's worth of goods they used, there could be no perceptible increase in the number of those to consume the farmer's products. Not merely this, but the invention and use of labor saving methods is increasing so fast that already, in some great industries, in more and more time goes on, the number of workmen required is steadily growing less, though the product is rapidly increasing. It is plain enough, therefore, that the mill owners, however protected, cannot give the farmer any better "home market" than he does.

This is strikingly illustrated by our experience. For thirty years the high tariff stimulus has been given to manufacturing industries. They have grown beyond precedent, and if they could have given our farmers a profitable "home market" and made them independent of foreigners, they must have done so. But the fact is the reverse. Adopting the careful calculations of Mr. Davis (which are quoted with approval by the American Economist, the organ of the Protective Tariff League), we find that during a period of thirty-nine years (1850-1889) population and the production of the more important staples increased as follows:

Population	175 per cent.
Cattle	168 "
Swine	66 "
Cotton	291 "
Corn	277 "
Wheat	389 "
Oats	411 "

That is to say, after a whole generation of protection and unparalleled growth of manufactures, the number of people whom the farmer has to feed is less in proportion to the crops he produces than it was in 1850. Or, to put it in another way, the American farmer, after protectionists have fooled him for thirty years in pretending to give him a home market and make him independent of foreigners, is to-day, under high protection, more dependent than ever upon foreign markets, and is forced to find sale abroad for a larger proportion of what he produces than he did in 1855 under the "Free Trade" tariff.

As To Tin Plates.

Nine-tenths of the cost of a tin plate and 19-20ths of its bulk is made up of steel sheets which are coated with a wash of metallic tin. The sheet can be made more cheaply in this country than in Great Britain, and would be sold here as cheaply as there, were it not for our tariff, which is 2 cents per pound. As a result, the price per pound charged for these steel sheets is 4 1-4 to 4 1-2 cents.

In England the sheets are sold for 2.86 cents per pound, and the tin plate coated, cut and packed is delivered in New York City, and sold to American consumers at 4.74 cents, duty paid.

Tinned plate can now be manufactured in this country, more cheaply than it is sold here, and even more cheaply than it could be imported, duty free. It is the present duty on steel sheets alone that has prevented the American manufacture of tinned plate. The moment the duty on steel sheets is taken off, and the tinned plate men are convinced that it will not be put on again, the American manufacture of tinned plate will commence. Until then the steel sheet extortionists will actively push the movement for a higher tariff on tinned plate—high enough to give men who are free now in business, to buy steel at their present price here with a surety of being able to charge American consumers enough more for their product to pay the extortion demanded for their raw material and have enough left of the profit for themselves.

A Word For New England.

Under the present tariff upon pig iron, New England must obtain its steel making iron from other parts of the United States.

If the present duty upon iron ore is maintained, New England must pay the freight upon ore mined at Lake Superior, 1500 miles away. Whether he purchases in the form of ore, of pig iron, bars, plate, machinery or utensils, the New England consumer still pays this freight.

If the duty upon iron ore is abolished, the production of steel making iron becomes possible in the furnaces of Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York; and with the cheaper iron there comes a lessened cost to the New England consumers, and greater prosperity, increased work and better wages to the New England mechanics and artisans.

If to the abolition of the duty upon ore is added an abolition of the duty upon coal, the development of the Nova Scotian mines will give to New England a fuel so cheap that iron smelting will become possible in New England ports, and a great impetus will be given to all industries in which cheap fuel is an important factor; and there are few industries in which fuel is not an important element or cost, either in the preparation of the material or in the manufacture of the finished goods.

Every New England man should understand that there is no "natural law," or "law of God," that compels iron and steel to be dear in New England.

Excepting for the restrictions imposed by the tariff, crude iron would be cheaper in Boston than it is in Pittsburgh; and coal would be as cheap in New England as in any section of the country East of the Alleghenies.

The Central District has decreed that New England shall not be allowed to manufacture iron and steel for herself, but shall, like a conquered province, be held in a market by the tariff, it so enforces this degree that in New England, where crude iron and its products should be as cheap as in any part of the United States, they are dearer than in any part excepting the extreme West; and New England's iron and steel manufacturing interests are undergoing a process of rapid extinction.

CANDLER AND LODGE.

EXHIBIT THE FAITHFUL REPUBLICANS OF NEWTON CENTRE.

To hold a Republican rally in Newton Centre is a good deal like carrying coals to Newcastle, but the voters there like to hear good speakers, and had it not been for the rain they would have filled Associates Hall on Tuesday evening. But in spite of the storm a large audience gathered, and gave a hearty welcome to Congressmen Candler and Lodge. Baldwin's Cadet Band furnished music.

Mr. Robert H. Gardiner, chairman of the Newton Centre ward committee, presided, and upon the platform with the speakers were seated a number of gentlemen prominent in local and state politics, among them being Hon. Alden Spauld, Hon. Levi C. Wade, Col. E. H. Haskell, Mayor Burr, C. Bowditch Coffin of the Republican state central committee, ex-Representative A. C. Wallworth, Messrs. J. R. Leeson, Dwight W. Chester, W. E. Webster, R. C. Bridgman, E. H. Mason, H. W. Mason, E. T. Colburn and G. H. Hills.

Mr. R. A. Gardiner made a model presiding officer, and presented the speakers, making a few remarks in a very happy manner, and was greeted with so much applause by the audience that it was evident they would have been glad to have him go on. In speaking of the reliability of the Republicanism of Newton Centre, he said the only blot upon it had been Chestnut Hill, where the Mugwumps and Democrats resided in great force, but as a church had just been given to Chestnut Hill, they had hopes of converting and civilizing the population of that place, which hit called out great laughter.

Congressman Candler was very warmly received and spoke for a little over an hour, in which he paid his respect to the ladies of the audience, and especially to Geo. Fred Williams, the Democratic candidate from this district, who has been asking some rather sharp questions. He dwelt at considerable length on the great blessing the abolition of the duty on sugar would prove to the working man, and predicted that after next April white sugar would be 1 1-2 cents a pound. He claimed that the additions to the free list made by the McKinley bill would be of enormous value to the people, that McKinley was a great benefactor, and the only purpose of the bill was to protect our labor from the pauper labor of Europe, and that it was for the benefit of the McKinley and his assistants. He had been accused of inconsistency because years ago he had favored free coal, and free food, but he was still in accord with the spirit of those speeches, and that the burden of taxation should be taken off the necessities of life. The tariff was a compromise, and each state had to give up something for the benefit of the whole. He quoted with approval Senator Sherman's resolution for reciprocity with Canada. The tariff made it possible for a poor man in this country to have just as good a chance as the rich man, and was for the protection of the poor man. He dwelt at some length upon his work in Congress, and what he had accomplished, and closed by a defence of the Republican majority for the South, and gave Mr. Breckenridge's case as a sample.

HENRY CABOT LODGE.

Mr. Gardiner introduced Congressman Lodge as The Scholar in Politics, and said the function of the scholar in politics was to learn and to know, something which his mugwump friends appeared to forget.

Mr. Lodge was received with great enthusiasm and could not be heard for several minutes. He is a very entertaining speaker, and kept the audience in excellent humor, quite as much by his way of saying things as by what he said.

In the course of his remarks he alluded to binding twice which the west demanded should be put on the free list, and were supported by the Democrats. The workingmen who were threatened with the destruction of this industry wanted it kept on, and Mr. Lodge drew a touching picture of the workingmen appealing to him with outstretched arms to save them from being thrown out of employment. He and his fellow Republicans succeeded in getting a duty of 7-10ths of a cent, but it ought to have been more. He was sick of hearing so much talk about cheapening things, this is not a cheap country and what we want is good wages.

The McKinley bill in the main is a good bill. It will quicken business and advance the prosperity of the country. There is one thing certain—you cannot possibly tell in three weeks what its effect will be, with an election pending. At any rate it cannot be repealed for at least 10 years, as the Senate has been made Republican for at least that length of time.

The speaker endorsed the position taken in Congress by Speaker Reed, and said that the constitution contemplated a government of the majority. He touched upon the southern election frauds, and alluded to the federal election bill, claiming that the rule of the majority must be the same in the ballot box as in the House of Representatives.

In conclusion, he said that the election bill sought to throw the light of publicity on all elections, and to ascertain the will of the people at the ballot box. The Republican party must be true to its pledge for a free vote and an honest count for all members of Congress throughout the United States. [Applause.]

Kroeger Pianos.

The following is an account of how Messrs. Brown, Page & Hillman, of Peoria, Ill., came to take so much "stock" in the Kroeger piano. The piano business was new to Mr. Brown when he engaged in it, and each of his salesmen had his own special favorite, he took the novel plan related below to reach his own conclusions in the matter.

He sent to the leading manufacturers, such as Steinway, Kroeger, Chickering, Decker Bros., etc., and placing them side by side in their piano-rooms he sent for Mr. E. L. Howard, a blind pianist noted for the keenness of his hearing and excellent judgment of the quality of piano tones. He examined all the pianos thoroughly without any hint as to the maker of any of them. When he came to a Steinway, he remarked, "They are going better and better, but I tried the Kroeger & Son's he pronounced it the finest of them all, giving his reason for so doing before he ascertained the maker's name. The next test was with Blind Boone, the noted concertist, with the same result. (Blind Boone uses a Chickering piano in his concerts.)

He said of the Kroeger: "The finest piano I ever put my hand on; but I love my Chickering." Blind Tom, who is equal in imitation to Blind Boone, but who has not the intelligence, says in his broken way of the Kroeger: "Fine; no break, no break!" After making these tests, Mr. Brown decided he could make no mistake in pushing the Kroeger piano, and pronouncing it, though not the highest in price, the finest piano made.—The Presto, Chicago, Ill.

THE NEWTON TRANSCRIPT HAS BEEN CONSOLIDATED WITH THE GRAPHIC

THE SEWERAGE QUESTION.

The article on sewerage in last week's GRAPHIC appears to have stirred up Newton people to the importance of this question, and we have received a great number of communications, urging us to keep this matter before the people, as it is the most important issue now before the city. With the Metropolitan sewer ready for Newton to enter by a year from the first of next January, the coming year promises to be the most important one in the history of Newton.
It has hitherto not made any serious difference what kind of men were sent to the City Council, provided they were good men, and all Newton men are such, but with a work of such magnitude before us it behooves the voters to be wide awake when the city caucuses are called.
Ordinarily we can hand over the nominating power in each ward to two or three men, and the people will ratify their action, but when so many thousands of dollars are at stake the people will be apt to demand a voice in regard to the men who are to spend this money.

There are hundreds of first class business men in Newton, who would and should be called on this year to send representatives to the City Council.
Many of the old members are admirably fitted for the duties which will come next year, but there will be vacancies and these must be carefully filled. The best men are needed, and when such are found they must be forced into the services of the public.

The larger villages are most directly concerned in this matter, and as Newton will be called on to pay by far the heaviest share of the sewerage assessments, and the work must be first begun here, it is only fair that the mayor should come from Newton, when he can be called on promptly in any emergency, and where it will be easy for him to personally inspect the work. For this reason popular sentiment seems to be strongly in favor of Mr. H. E. Hibbard, and men are calling on him, without regard to their politics, to take the nomination this year. As one of the largest real estate owners in Newton, he is directly interested in the sewerage question, and in getting the work done as satisfactorily and as economically as possible. Besides, every one recognizes Mr. Hibbard's business ability, and that if any man can bring this work to a successful issue he can. If a City Council is selected of men of the same ability, before another year the long vexed sewerage question will be in a fair way of being settled.

NEWTON REPRESENTATIVES.

Both parties made their nominations
Wednesday night. The Republican convention followed public sentiment in nominating Mr. Dwight Chester, one of the men who have long been identified with Newton, whose strict integrity and high business ability have long been recognized, and who by his services for the best interests of the city deserves any honors that Newton can give him. There is no doubt of his election. In regard to the second candidate, the convention treated the public to a surprise, as it was generally conceded that the honor belonged to Ward One by right, as it has never had a representative, and it presented an excellent candidate in Mr.
Tucker. But Captain S. E. Howard of Ward Three was chosen, a gentleman who has an excellent record, and is highly endorsed by his friends, but who is very little known outside of his own ward, he never having been prominent in city affairs, although he was a candidate for the common council from his ward last year, but was defeated. All the men who were spoken of from this side of the city were passed over and there is considerable dissatisfaction expressed, although it may all pass over before election.

The Democratic mass caucus evidently stood ready to take advantage of any mistake made by their opponents, in putting up only one candidate, and they could not have made a better nomination than Mr. Richard M. Saltonstall, who is a worthy son of ex-Collector Saltonstall of Chestnut Hill, inheriting his father's ability, his high character and his public spirit. The only thing that can be said against him is that he is a Democrat, but the Republican majority in the legislature is so large that one Democrat more or less would not make much difference, and Mr. Saltonstall has so many friends about Newton that his election is not impossible. The Australian ballot will give a great opportunity to the friends of what is said about the city it would not be surprising if Mr. Saltonstall gave Mr. Howard a very close run.

The people of Newtonville are very much interested in the proposed new City Hall, but whether their interest will take a practical form remains to be seen. They think the City Hall should be located there anyway, but there are many considerations to be thought of,
and one argument that would have great weight with the committee would be to secure an acre of high land, well drained, and in a central location, and offer it to the city free of cost, as an inducement.
Such an argument would doubtless be found to be unanswerable, and if West Newton should adopt this method, it would probably be able to keep the City Hall within its limits. The land should be convenient to the railroad station and the street cars, as most of the visitors come by steam or street cars, and it should not be in a swamp, or any location that would require great expense in the way of filling in and drainage. Of course nothing can be done about a new City Hall until after the sewerage question is settled, but those sections of the City that desire this addition to their public buildings would do well to be wide awake.

OVER in the Fifth District there has been some evidence of a desire to go behind the returns and inquire into Candidate Fox's character. But Hon. Chester W. Kingsley of Cambridge says this is all wrong, the only vital question is to elect a Republican and all Republicans should unite in favor of Mr. Fox, "and sink all minor matter," such as a man's private character and previous record.
This is certainly carrying partisanship to a dangerous extent, and it is surprising that good men will countenance such pernicious doctrine. Honesty and morality can no more be disregarded in politics than in business or in social life.
The conscientious voter should convince the politicians that honesty is the best policy in politics as in everything else.
When to all inquiries about character no better reply can be given than that he is a good party man, then all voters who believe in honesty and good government should unite to defeat that candidate, no matter what party label he bears. This has been the rule hitherto in Massachusetts and no exigency exists to call for its violation now.

CONGRESSMAN LODGE drew a very touching picture of the poor working men in the binding twine mills, who appealed to him to prevent binding twine being put on the free list and so throwing them out of employment. The audience could scarcely restrain their tears, as he described his noble efforts to prevent a reduction of the duty of some 4 cents a pound, and how he had at last been content with a duty of 7-10 of a cent.
But to make the story complete Mr.
Lodge should have read the column prospectus of the National Cordage Company, which has appeared in all the Boston papers this week, stating that a corporation had been formed under the laws of New Jersey, with a capital of $15,000,000, and offering to the public preferred stock with a guarantee of 8 per cent. interest. The poor workingmen who have formed this combination must feel grateful to Mr. Lodge for helping to pass a bill which made it possible.

THE MCKINLEY TARIFF bill has been of great benefit to one corporation, the Nonantum Worsted Company, and it is making preparations for a large increase of business. It has had 100 looms, of which only about 20 have been kept busy, but the 100 looms will not only be started up, but 20 new ones added. The tariff is a very favorable one for the worsted manufacturers, as it increases the price of such goods so that they can be made here with profit. There is a chance here for high tariff orators to explain how the foreigners pay all the extra cost that will come out of the pockets of buyers of worsted goods.

THE SATURDAY EVENING GAZETTE, which usually swallows anything that bears the party label, says the "New tariff bill gives satisfaction to none except certain manufacturers, whose profits it will assist in increasing," and that the interests of the many have been overlooked, for the interests of the few. It adds that high tariff is only another name for increased taxation, and the bill bears heavily on the poor, whose expenses it will largely increase. This is pretty strong language for a Republican paper to use, but it expresses the average Republican sentiment.

MR. ROBERT H. GARDNER made an excellent impression as presiding officer at the Republican rally at Newton Centre, and his remarks were very bright. He made one amusing slip, however, when in introducing Mr. Lodge as The Scholar in Politics, he said the chief function of The Scholar was to learn and to know, since it has long been Mr. Lodge's sole ambition to forget.

WILLIAMS AND RUSSELL

RECEIVE AN ENTHUSIASTIC GREETING
FROM NEWTON PEOPLE.

The Democratic rallies at West Newton and Newton Centre were very enthusiastic affairs and the Democratic candidate, Mr. George Fred Williams, apparently took his hearers by storm, as he was greeted with even more enthusiasm than was Mr. Lodge at Newton Centre.
He has the advantage of a fine presence, a very musical voice and a great deal of that elusive quality called personal magnetism, and it was surprising to see said
Newton audiences so carried away.

At West Newton, the City Hall was crowded, many ladies being present, and the Waltham Watch Factory band opened the meeting with spirited selections.
Mr. W. J. Follett, chairman of the Democratic ward and city committee, rapped to order, and announced the organization of the meeting as follows: President, E.
B. Haskell; vice presidents, Jasper N.
Kellar, John W. Carter, John C. Chaffin, Rev. N. P. Gilman, C. B. Lancaster,
Charles F. Crehore, Prof. Thomas B.
Lindsay, T. B. Fitz, Rev. John Wester, J. Richard Carter, R. L. Bridgman, Henry Brooks, E. W. Redpath, Rev. William S. Smith, F. F. Raymond, 2d, George B. Jones, P. C. Bridgman, N. T. Allen,
D. C. Heath, C. H. Graves, Rev. Henry
Lambert, E. P. Bond, H. T. Knight,
George W. Homer, George H. Ellis, Dr.
Whiston, John Avery, Francis Dewson, Arthur Carroll, Thomas Emerson, Dr.
David A. Baker, S. Warren Davis, E. S.
Bridgman, Butler, Stephen Thatcher,
James Dilliver, Marcus Morton, George
Lincoln, E. C. Burrage, C. P. Hall, Lawrence Bond, H. A. Barker, C. W. Shepard, H. E. Burrage.

Mr. Follett then introduced Mr. E. B.
Haskell, who was very cordially received, and spoke briefly, saying that he was independent of the issues of the day, and without prejudice because he had convictions which he refused to swallow and he then spoke of the high tariff taxation, the need of economy in national affairs, and his allusion to Grover Cleveland was received with deafening applause. His speech was a calm and dispassionate statement of the issues of the campaign.
In conclusion he said we must send men to congress whose convictions are sound, and who will be true to them. Such a man is presented for your votes in this district, and he will speak for himself.
It gives me great pleasure to present to you your clerk, independent and eloquent candidate, George Fred Williams.

Mr. Williams was received with great applause, which broke out again and again before he was permitted to speak, and his points were greeted in the same way all through his speech. He paid his respects to Mr. and Mrs. Hibbard, and his allusion to the high tariff taxation also challenged him to tell what points of the McKinley bill did not satisfy him, so that no time could be wasted. He then quoted Mr. Chandler against himself and said that if the Republican congressmen from New England had stood for their interests, they would have taken care of the interests of the people. In closing he said, if it should be my duty to represent you, and I have nothing better to show on my return than a duty on sulphuric acid, I beg of you to retire me to private life. [Applause.] I beg of you to decide, whether you would have better without regard to the persons of men, but don't forget that New England is going downward, and not upward, and if that downward course is with a pressure from behind of the law of the United States, and that if you can get representatives who will vote to free the world of the burden of the tariff, they will return to their wretched prosperity, and New England will no longer watch with tearful eyes the death of its industries, which are the cornerstone of its prosperity.

Mr. Williams then started to leave the hall, and as he was about to depart he audience wanting to shake hands with him on his way out. He made a second speech in Newton Centre, in which he called attention to the advance in the cost of clothing and other necessities because of the McKinley bill.

At West Newton, Mr. Lloyd McKim Garrison, a grandson of Wm. Lloyd Garrison, followed Mr. Williams in a brief but pointed speech, after which Hon.
John E. Russell arrived from Newton Centre and entertained the audience with a witty exposition of the issues of the campaign. He said that the Republicans taxed out of existence the people that they could all get rich by taxing themselves, and claimed that all the money that had been paid on the national debt was represented in the mortgages on the farms of the country. In regard to Mr.
Lodge's assertion that the senate had been fixed so that it could not be disturbed for ten years, Mr. Russell said that they were not content with taxing the present but were trying to make their felonious fingers long enough to reach the pockets of posterity. [Great applause.] He said it did not help the Massachusetts industries that were being taxed out of existence, that they were prospering in Pennsylvania, and what if a tin plate industry was started in Pittsburgh, when the whole country was taxed for it.

In conclusion the speaker said: Duties can be levied so extensively that it will result in cutting off immigration, but I hope that the day may come again when we shall glory in that commerce of which our fathers were so proud, and which they thought was indicative of the prosperity of the country. [Applause.]

AT NEWTON CENTRE
there was a large audience in Associates' Hall, and Mr. Geo. Linder presided in the absence of Hon. Leverett Saltonstall, who was unable to be present. The vice presidents were N. J. Wells, Sam'l Shaw, James D. Green, George C. Lee,
W. Hill, Richard M. Saltonstall, A. C.
Jewett, D. H. McWain, Ernest Winsor,
W. H. Thorpe, Garrett Schenck, John Richardson, W. F. Woodman, D. J.
Linnehan.

Hon. John E. Russell opened the meeting with a brilliant speech, and when he left for West Newton, Mr. Osborn Howes Jr., of Brookline entertained, the people until the arrival of Mr. Williams.

AT THE NEWTON CLUB.
Mr. W. J. Follett entertained the speakers of the evening, Messrs. Williams, Russell, Howes and Garrison, and Messrs. E. B. Haskell, J. N. Kellar, Samuel Shaw, Geo. Linder, Henry Brooks and John W. Carter, at dinner at the Newton Club, the new caterer, Adolf Trenthard, who was for 17 years at the Somerset Club, serving an excellent spread, the table being handsomely decorated with flowers. Hon. John E. Russell, who is very abstemious on account of his health, kept the table in a constant smile by his witty remarks.

SEWERAGE AND DRAINAGE.

AN OUTLINE OF THE WORK NEEDED IN NEWTON.

The committee appointed by the trustees of the Cottage Hospital to look after the problem of drainage and sewerage in Newton, have gone about their work with a good deal of energy, and from an interview with one of the committee it is possible to give an outline of the work needed to maintain the healthfulness of Newton.

The committee have met the Metropolitan Commission and are much pleased with the business like manner in which they are pushing forward their work, and the prospect that the main sewer will be ready for Newton to enter some time in 1901, instead of 1892, the date at first set.
The outlet to the sewer is not large enough to admit of its receiving the surface drainage, so that that will have to be provided for in other ways, while the sewer is for house drainage only.

The committee have also conferred with the city council committee on sewerage, and have found them awake to the necessities of the case, and laying plans for a vigorous prosecution of the work another year. The magnitude of the problems involved ought not to deter people from taking hold of the matter energetically, and there is especial need of liberal appropriations for the coming year. The drainage problem can be attended to at once, and the city council have found that Bullough's Pond, where the city council have established a bathing place, is seriously contaminated. The streams flowing in at the upper end bring along from the thickly settled portions above a good deal of sewage, derived from the houses along their banks, many of the cesspools draining into them, and the idea of using such a place for bathing is one that does not strike cleanly people very favorably. The committee think that the dams should be ripped up, and Bullough's Pond thoroughly drained, while all the small streams about the city should have their channels dug out, and deepened, and the streams be covered over. By this means the swamps about the city could be thoroughly drained, and much of the suffering from malaria in badly drained portions of the city would cease.

The work of drainage can be pushed forward as rapidly as is desired, and the committee of the city council are preparing comprehensive plans. In such a thickly settled community as Newton is getting to be, thorough drainage is a necessity, and a lack of it would prevent growth and keep new residents away.
Brookline is in the same condition as Newton, and the sewerage and the drainage problems there are engaging the attention of Edward Atkinson and other prominent citizens. We have got along so far in a happy-go-lucky sort of way, but the time has come for some thorough going work, if Newton is to continue the pleasant and attractive city that it has always been.

REPRESENTATIVE CONVENTIONS.

MESSRS. DWIGHT CHESTER AND S. E.
HOWARD THE REPUBLICAN CANDI-DATES.

The delegates to the Republican representative convention assembled in the City Hall, Wednesday evening. The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by Mr. C. B. Coffin, chairman of the ward and city committee, and a permanent organization effected by the choice of Hon. Heman M. Burr as chairman; Mr.
C. B. Coffin, secretary. Messrs. W. E.
Webster and Reuben Forknall were appointed a committee on credentials, and reported 35 delegates present.

An informal ballot was proceeded with, on motion of Mr. D. W. Farquhar.
The whole number cast was 35.

Dwight Chester had 21
S. E. Howard had 10
R. C. Bridgman 7
S. W. Tucker 3
C. A. Drew 3
H. W. Mason 1
C. B. Coffin 1

A motion made by Mr. W. E. Sheldon to make Messrs. Dwight Chester and S.
E. Howard the unanimous choice of the convention was defeated, and the convention proceeded to a formal ballot, resulting as follows:

Dwight Chester 20
S. E. Howard 24
R. C. Bridgman 11
S. W. Tucker 0

This made Messrs. Dwight Chester and
S. E. Howard the nominees, and Mr. W.
E. Sheldon thanked the convention in behalf of Ward Three for the honor done them, and said that Mr. Howard enlisted from Vermont as a private, rose to first sergeant by his bravery, was in 15 battles and 17 skirmishes, was wounded three times, and at Cedar Creek was so severely wounded that he had to retire from the army after three years of service. He could vouch for him as a regular attendant at church, and a man of integrity.

Mr. W. F. Sheldon made a brief speech in regard to Mr. Dwight Chester, and spoke of his well-known integrity, his business ability, his interest in everything that pertains to Newton, and the nomination was made unanimous.

THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE, MR. R. M. SALTONSTALL.

The Democrats held a mass caucus in the police court room, a large attendance being present. Mr. W. J. Follett, chairman of the Democratic ward and city committee, presided. Mr. Bruce R. Ware acting as secretary. Newton is entitled to two representatives in the legislature, but it was decided to put only one candidate in nomination, as it was thought there would be a better chance of securing his election. Short addresses were made by Messrs. W. J. Follett, John W.
Carter and George Linder in the interests of Mr. R. M. Saltonstall, and that gentleman was unanimously nominated.
The nominee is a son of ex-Collector Saltonstall a young man of great ability and high character, and is regarded as a very strong candidate. The Democrats will inaugurate an active campaign in his interest, and are pretty confident of his election.

Y. M. C. A.

The meeting last Sunday was addressed by Rev. H. J. Patrick, of West Newton, who spoke upon the steadfastness of Paul, who, although persecuted and tormented, had the grace sufficient to keep him in time of need.
He exhorted us to do likewise. Next Sunday, Rev. Mr. Merrill of the Baptist Church will have charge.

RAY'S,

Coughing

IS Nature's effort to expel foreign substances from the bronchial passages. Frequently, this causes inflammation and the need of an anodyne. No other expectorant or anodyne is equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It assists Nature in ejecting the mucus, allays irritation, induces repose, and is the most popular of all cough cures.

"Of the many preparations before the public for the cure of colds, coughs, bronchitis, and kindred diseases, there is none, within the range of my experience, so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For years I was subject to colds, followed by terrible coughs. About four years ago, when so afflicted, I was advised to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and to lay all other remedies aside. I did so, and within a week was well of my cold and cough. Since then I have always kept this preparation in the house, and feel comparatively secure."

"A few years ago I took a severe cold which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continual use of the Pectoral, a permanent cure was effected."—Horace Fairbrother, Rockingham, Vt.

For the cure of the inflammation and congestion called "a cold in the head" there is more potency in Ely's Cream Balm than in anything else it is possible to prescribe. This preparation has for years past been making a brilliant success as a remedy for cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial stages of these complaints Cream Balm prevents any serious development of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh, after all other modes of treatment have failed.

Watertown Kicking.

Editor of the Boston Traveller:—

The public meeting in Watertown held last Thursday evening in opposition to the Republican nominee for senator in the second Middlesex district proved a failure and a great disappointment to the kickers, for after considerable advertising of posters and flyers throughout the town, with the exception of the Morse-Field district, they could only get 70 to vote in favor of the resolutions condemning Mr. Gilman. They seemed to lay great stress on the fact that they have not received a senator for a number of years. They forget that the district is entitled to the senatorship four years out of ten. Walcott three, and the town in the district three years out of ten. Now, what are the facts?

The towns in the district have had the senatorship the last six years, and Watertown has opposed Newton each year in obtaining her right to the senatorship. Watertown defeated Mr. Marcy and Mr. Wood four years ago, and Mr. Marcy and Mr. Walworth two years ago. She also fought for when Hon. R. R. Bishop was running for governor the Republicans of Watertown opposed him at the polls so that he ran away behind his ticket.

They have been jealous of Newton for some years, and now having failed again in obtaining for their candidate the nomination, they try to place the blame on Newton's selection. It is evident that town will recommend and state that they propose to vote for the Democratic nominee, of ten, four years ago, and Mr. Marcy and Mr. Walworth two years ago. She also fought for when Hon. R. R. Bishop was running for governor the Republicans of Watertown opposed him at the polls so that he ran away behind his ticket.

Austin Street Extension.

The following petition was presented the board of Aldermen at the last meeting, and a public hearing appointed for Oct. 20, Monday next, at 5 p. m.

To the mayor and aldermen of the City of Newton.

We, the undersigned, citizens and taxpayers of Newton, respectfully represent that public necessity and convenience require the laying out of a street upon the southerly side of the Boston & Albany Railroad between West Newton and Newtonville, and that said highway should be laid out by extending Austin Street in Newtonville to Chestnut Street in West Newton.

Your petitioners further represent that the extension of Austin Street has been under consideration for many years, and that the use of Washington St. for the operation of the electric cars renders it very important that a thoroughfare should be laid out on the southerly side of the Boston & Albany Railroad, in order that the public may have better facilities for passing to and from the villages of Newtonville and West Newton.

We further request that a public hearing by the Board of Aldermen be given upon the question of granting the prayer of the petitioners.

High School Notes.

The results of the foot ball in the Junior Interscholastic Foot Ball League are as follows: Noble vs. Hales, 48-0; Newton High vs. Brown and Nichols, tie; Newton High vs. Hales, 64-0; Brown and Nichols vs. Newton High, 10-4. The playing of the High school team has been very good but there are still places for improvement.

A subscription list is being circulated by Mr. Sawin to form an orchestra and buy music.

The class of '94 held a meeting in room 13 at recess on Thursday. Mr. Kimball was elected president and Mr. Dilling, secretary. A committee of five were appointed to choose a class color and report. The committee is Misses Comey, Read, Brown, Kimberly and Mr. F. Q. Blanchard. It was a very lively meeting, so much so that many motions and nominations could not be heard.

A meeting of the Lyceum was held Thursday at recess in room 12. Mr. Holmes Whitmore called the meeting to order. Mr. Travis nominated the following officers for the coming year, who were elected: Howard Whitmore, pres.; F. B. Coffin, vice pres.; Horton S. Allen, sec. Mr. E. H. Huxley moved an amendment to the constitution that there should be a treasurer. This was passed and Mr. Huxley was elected to fill that office.

The privates in the battalion obtained their hats this week Wednesday.

The annual dues for the support of the Lyceum are now being collected. It is expected that every member in the school will support this school organization by paying as soon as possible.

Miss Ireson returned to the school this week Wednesday after a long vacation abroad to become more acquainted with the Swedish system of gymnastics.

A meeting of the class of '91 was held Tuesday, Oct. 14, at recess in room 5. The meeting was called to order by Pres. Whitmore. The reading of the records was suspended; Mr. Travis on the nomination of Mr. Coffin was elected treasurer, Mr. Ellison having resigned. The question of a class motto was the object of the meeting, and after a discussion on the four presented by the committee by Messrs. Tyler, Greene, Tarbell and Coffin the following motto was adopted by the class: "Not for ourselves alone but for the whole world." The meeting then adjourned.

A scholarship of $200 is offered by the Vassar Students Aid Society to a student who passes without conditions all the requirements for admission to the Freshman class of Vassar College at the examination to be held in June, 1891. This scholarship, like that awarded by the society last June, is offered as a loan and covers one-half of all charges made by Vassar College for one year's board and tuition. Applications for this scholarship must be made before May 1, 1891, to Miss Jessie F. Smith, South Weymouth, Mass.

The results of the tennis finished last Friday resulted in Pratt, '94, winning in singles, second prize, and Thomas and Bennett winning in doubles.

A Burdened Contestant.

(Boston Herald.) The suggestion of a discussion between Congressman Candler and his competitor, George Frederick Williams, upon the tariff question is under consideration. If argument on Mr. Williams' side were needed in it, they may well be found in the views advocated by Mr. Candler in earlier years of his life. Mr. Candler, indeed, would doubtless be much more at home in taking Mr. Williams' side of the question now. In opposing him must find that he is not only contending with Mr. Williams, but contending with himself as well. We submit that this is too hard a burden to put upon a man. It is cruel to invite Mr. Candler to such a contest, and he ought to have consideration accorded him if he should decline it, as he probably will.

It is a pretty difficult thing for the man who hasn't anything to say to know just how to say it.—Yonkers Statesman.

For Your Moulting Hens.

Moulting is a very exhausting process. Eggs have not been so high for years at this season as now; they will be still higher. Hens rarely ever lay while moulting, then help them to get their new plumage quickly.

Most people get only five or six dozen in a year from a hen and lose money when they ought to get three times that many and make money rapidly. How? There are about 100 eggs in the ovaries of a hen; get all you can of them in two years then kill her. You thus save eggs in condition to lay early. If you get them during the moulting season, that she may be in condition to lay during the winter, thousands of people have proven Sheridan's Condition Powder to be the best thing in gold when hens are moulting. It keeps them in health, helps form the new plumage, and gets them in condition to lay early. There are about 100 eggs in the ovaries of a hen; get all you can of them in two years then kill her. You thus save eggs in condition to lay early. If you get them during the moulting season, that she may be in condition to lay during the winter, thousands of people have proven Sheridan's Condition Powder to be the best thing in gold when hens are moulting. It keeps them in health, helps form the new plumage, and gets them in condition to lay early.

Most people get only five or six dozen in a year from a hen and lose money when they ought to get three times that many and make money rapidly. How? —Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hamlin of Pelham street were in Gov. Brackett's party to Springfield this week, attending the reception tendered the governor by Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Morgan.
—Mrs. Charles Leulier of Station street, who has been ill for a week past, died Saturday of blood poisoning. The funeral was held at the house Tuesday afternoon a large number being present.
—The Misses Aubin, formerly of Newburyport and who have been spending the past year at Miss Sparhawk's on Homer street, removed to Portland, Me., this week where they will pass the winter.
—Mrs. Morrison, who has occupied Farnham's block and taken board for the past 32 years, with her sister Mrs. Davis, has purchased a home in Belmont, N. S., and will remove there the last of the month.
—Fred Hovey and Harry Bates are the two champion athletes of Harvard, the former in tennis and the latter in base ball, having been chosen pitcher of the University nine. Fred Bates, who graduated last year in the Harvard Medical School.
—Dr. Stearns was much surprised to receive this week an elegant couch and arm chair, in honor of his birthday, from the members of the church who were a part of his congregation years ago. Dr. Stearns was much gratified at being so kindly remembered.
—The list of unclaimed letters remaining at the post office: Mr. Robert Allen, Miss Lena S. Armstrong, Miss Gertrude Friske, E. J. Hooper, Mrs. O. O. Howland, Mrs. M. Henderson, Miss Clara E. Kimball, Miss Mary McLaughlin, Miss Mary McQuiggen, Miss Mary J. O'Brien, J. E. Stone, Esq.
—The Baptist society was entertained on Wednesday evening by Dr. and Mrs. Stearns at their home on Belmont street. The attendance was very large. Miss Alice Warren and Miss Belle Bassett sang during the evening, accompanied by Miss Adelaide Leconte on the piano. Mr. Fenn of Boston, who was present, enjoyed the evening by playing on the violin.
—Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Flanders gave an "At home" Wednesday afternoon and evening, to celebrate the fifth anniversary of their marriage. The house was handsomely decorated with flowers, and a large number of friends were present from the different Newtons, and from Boston and Brookline. Mrs. Flanders was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. E. M. Fowle, and in the afternoon Mrs. George and Mrs. Merrill presided at the tea tables, and in the evening Miss Mason and Miss Nickerson. The hosts were heretofore assisted in the evening, and the reception was one of the pleasantest of the society events of the season.
—Crystal Lake Division, No. 37, Sons of Temperance, was organized in the vestry of the Methodist Episcopal church last Thursday evening. Past Grand Patriarch Annie Pixley of Boston presided and was assisted by Grand Scribe Bennett. The division organized with 22 members, and after these were initiated the following officers were installed: P. W. P., Reuben Rother; W. P., D. A. McCalley; A. W. P., Maggie Wallace; R. S., Fred M. Berry; A. R. S., Susie Sprague; Treas., Annie Huggins; F. S., John Huggins; C. D. J. Johnson; A. C. E. Gertie Armstrong; chap., Geo. E. Armstrong; L. S., W. Darrell; O. S., Richard Huggins. They will hold meetings in the Iron Hall building, for the present, every Thursday evening.
—Of the many social events of the week, one of the most enjoyable was the simple but very elegant "tea" given by Mrs. Robert Hawthorne of Palm street to her many friends in Newton and vicinity. Although the weather was unpleasant nearly two hundred guests were present, including ladies from Belmont, Cambridge, Boston, Medford, Melrose, Andover and other places. Mrs. Hawthorne was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Nelson Curtis of Huntington avenue, Boston, formerly of Newton Centre. Miss Curtis was also present and added much to the pleasure of the occasion. The table, which was unique in decoration, was presided over with grace and dignity by Mrs. William E. Webster and Mrs. Marshall O. Rice, assisted by a very young lady, including Miss Hawthorne, the daughter of the hostess, and Miss Northwell of Watertown, a niece. Both these young ladies were simply dressed in white silk. Miss Alice Blake, the belle of Belmont, in blue and white, and the charming trio from Newton Centre, Misses Connie Smith, Alice Sylvester and Lillian Furber, in yellow, pink and white and pale lemon color.
—Real work on the new depot began yesterday morning when Mr. John Keating of the Highlands, who has the contract for the digging and stoning, set his force of men at work. The depot is to be a handsome structure of stone and granite, similar to that at Newton Highlands, and the plans show a well arranged building with dimensions 75x30 feet. This takes in width all of the land owned by the Boston & Albany to the street line and varies considerably in dimensions from the old structure, which is 90x25 feet, or the Newton Highlands depot which is 75x35 feet. The interior will consist of one large waiting room, with the baggage room in the end and next to station street and the ticket and telegraph office in a central bay window next the track, the opposite end near Institution avenue being left free from any obstruction, and with large windows. As soon as the new depot is finished the old building will be removed, and this will give the company a chance to beautify the grounds. The street by the old depot if fenced off and the space between that and the track backed and grassed, with shrubs, will make a handsome back ground, while the space toward Station street with its young trees would make a small park. Then with a green lawn extending from the track to the street at each end of the new depot it would be as pretty a station and surroundings as one could wish.

—Councilman Richardson and family have moved into their new house on Marshall street, which is one of the handsomest places in Newton Centre, and cost in the neighborhood of $10,000. It is of the old Colonial style, with a large veranda around the front and west side, and a balcony on the second story, and the children's nursery hall. One enters the front hall, a handsome room, finished in oak, with rough finished walls of dark blue. On one side is the parlor, which is finished in very rich wood and has an old Colonial fireplace, finished in blue tiling, set in white cement, and surmounted by a handsome mantel with oblong mirror. On the walls is a frieze of antique festooning, of hand work, and the room is charmingly furnished. On the opposite side of the hall is the sitting room, furnished in sycamore wood, and an olive tint predominates here. The dining room is back of this, and is finished in quartered oak, with upholstered window seats, and has a handsome sideboard built into the wall. A butler's pantry leads into the kitchen, which has all the modern conveniences. Massive oaken stairs lead from the hall to the second story, with a wide landing where are cathedral glass windows. In the second story are three large rooms and a bath room. One is finished in express wood, with built walls, and the children's room open from it, which is finished in blue. The guest chamber is finished in light olive, and the front of the hall is divided off by curtains making a very attractive "den." There are three large rooms in the upper story, and the house is fitted with either steam or hot water heating apparatus, electric bells and lighting apparatus. The laundry is in the basement. The architect was Mr. E. E. Stevens of Newton Centre, of the firm of Kendall & Stevens, the builders were Garey & English, and the painters and decorators, Bonick & Jewett. The furniture and carpets were all made to order, and Mr. Richardson's friends are now all ready to give him an enthusiastic housewarming.

NEWTON PEOPLE who want the most reliable Electrical Appliances in

"Tip-Top" Ratchet Burners, the "Tirrell" Gravity Drop Annunciators, the "Victor" and "Standard" Call Bells, and the "Samson" Battery, —the strongest and most durable open-circuit battery in the world,—and other supplies made by the

Electric Gas Lighting Co., whose warehouses are at 195 Devonshire St., Boston.

You can doubtless buy cheaper material of other concerns; but this company has the best reputation for first-class electrical goods extant; and, as a result, its trade extends throughout this country and parts of Europe. It does no construction work, but can always put inquirers in communication with the most competent and reliable Electrical Contractors and Fitters, as such parties are most generally customers of ours, whom we are glad to recommend. Always select the best in this line, and you will find it the cheapest in the long run. Respectfully,

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING.

MARRIAGE OF REV. H. USHER MONROE AND MISS EDITH PARKER JORDAN.

St. Mary's Episcopal church in Newton

Lower Falls was the scene of a very pretty wedding Wednesday evening, when its rector, Rev. H. Usher Monroe, was married to Miss Edith Parker Jordan, daughter of Mr. Allen Jordan of Newton Lower Falls.

The auditorium was completely filled with a company which comprised many of the members of St. Mary's parish and the relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The decorations consisted of autumnal foliage, potted plants and hydrangeas arranged within the church.

The bridal party entered the church at 7 o'clock. The bride, leaning upon the arm of her father, was preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Emily Jordan. Following came the little page, Master Claxton Monroe, and the four ushers, Messrs. Charles A.

Denfield of the Cambridge Episcopal school,

Fred M. Atwood of Taunton, Edward B.

Parker of Wellesley Hills and George G. S.

Perkins of Roxbury. The groom, attended by his best man, Mr. Frank Appleton of the Cambridge Episcopal school, met the bridal party at the altar.

The bride was attired in the usual silk

mulle, en train, and wore the white tulle veil, caught up with a spray of similar which was also draped about her waist and skirt. She carried a bunch of roses. The maid of honor wore a yellow gauze over silk, and carried a bouquet of carnations pinks.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. T.

F. Fales, rector emeritus of Christ Episcopal church, Waltham, assisted by Rev. William

Ackley of Narragansett, R. I. Prior to and at the close of the ceremony, organ numbers were rendered by Mr. George

Neal of Charlestown.

After the ceremony, a reception for the family was held at the residence of the bride's father on Concord street. The newly wedded couple received in the parlor, prettily decorated with autumn leaves and cut flowers. The presents were displayed in one of the upper rooms and consisted of many solid silver articles, rare

etchings, china, Royal Worcester, cut-glass ware and the usual variety of useful gifts including a purse of over $200 from members of the parish.

At the close of the reception, Rev. and

Mrs. Monroe departed for the White mountains, where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside in the rectory, on Concord street, Newton

Lower Falls, where they will be at home

Nov. 17 and 24.

In Memoriam.

At a regular meeting of Eliot Lodge

No. 638, Knights of Honor, Newton, held

October 20, 1890, the following resolution was passed:

Whereas it has pleased an all-wise

Providence to remove from his earthly labors, and to sever the bonds of affec-

THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN HOLD A SHORT SESSION.

The board of aldermen met Monday evening, but both Mayor Burr and President Pettie were ill and the board elected Alderman Coffin as presiding officer. Aldermen Hamblen, Johnson, Bond, Fenno, Coffin and Harbach were present.

Business from the Common Council was disposed of in concurrence.

An honorable discharge was granted to Isaac J. Jefferson, hoseman of No. 1 Engine.

The quarterly report of the overseers of the poor was received and filed.

A communication was received from Miss M. E. Welch, secretary of the Newton branch of the Mass. Emergency and Hygiene Association, recommending that a playground be secured in Nonantum, and conveying a resolution that had been passed to that effect by the association. Referred to the committee on playgrounds.

WALTHAM WANTS NEWTON DIVIDED.

A petition to the Mass. Senate and House of Representatives was received, which created quite a flutter, as it asked for the annexation to Waltham of a certain section of land bordering on the Pulsifer estate and the Charles River. The petition was signed by E. C. Fitch and a large number of others, resident both in Newton and Waltham. The land referred to is a part of what is known as "Cram's Island," part of which belongs to Waltham, and which has been bought up by a syndicate who wish to improve it, and desire to have it all under one city government.

J. W. Fountain gave notice of intention to build a house 20x20 feet, on "Clark street," Ward 5.

Edward Sawyer gave notice of intention to build a house, 50x55 feet, of stone and wood, on Bellevue street. Thomas M. Walker, house, 21x29 on Lincoln court, Ward 2.

Patrick Bruce was granted license to build barn 15x20 on Crescent street, Ward 3.

D. H. Emerson asked for curb stone on corner of Pearl and Emerson streets.

HILLSIDE AVENUE REMONSTRATES.

Alderman Bond presented a vigorous remonstrance from residents of Hillside avenue, including L. H. Felton, Chas. W. Leatherbee, Joshua B. Chase, C. L. Hosmer, Alvin Houghton, John Mead, Julius L. Clark, W. H. Leatherbee, and others, protesting against the granting of the petition to extend Austin street to Chestnut street, on the ground that such a street was not needed, it was only for the purpose of opening some back land and the gain would be more than offset by the damage to the improved estates in West Newton; that the petition was against all the rules adopted by the city that parties who wished their land developed must build their own streets, and to put another street between Hillside avenue and the railroad would only leave a narrow strip on either side.

Alderman Bond also read a letter from F. F. Raymond, 2nd, endorsing the remonstrance, pointing out in still stronger terms the objections to the proposed extension of Austin street, and asking for a hearing for himself and the other remonstrants.

AUSTIN STREET HEARING POSTPONED.

Alderman Fenno presented a petition signed by J. Wesley Kimball, W. F. Slocum, H. B. Parker and about fifty others, in favor of the extension of the street.

Mr. S. L. Powers, who appeared for the petitioners, said it was unfortunate that the same evening had been assigned for a hearing on the tariff question in the upper hall, but if it was desired he would go ahead, or he would be willing to have the hearing adjourned to some other night, so that the remonstrants could also present their case. After some discussion the hearing was adjourned to Monday evening, Nov. 17th, at 8 o'clock.

The street light committee reported an order which was passed, for three street lamps on Lombard street, and one on Clark place. A street light was asked for on Temple street extension.

Dr. Woodman was granted a license for addition to his barn.

The board then adjourned.

An Artistic Souvenir.

Those who possess, or are familiar with, a certain beautiful volume published among last year's holiday issues called "Golden Sunsets," will be very glad to learn that its artist, Mr. L. K. Fearlow, has in preparation another for the coming season, "Golden Sunsets" has been so strongly appreciated for its artistic charm as to win a very large sale, and brief mention of it will verify the assurance that this season will again find it a favorite among the best souvenir books.

Its size is about 6 1/4 inches in length by 9 1/2 in width; the copy before us being bound in pale yellow cloth, its upper cover and lining the bright brass of a gold sunburst. Verses are chosen from Emerson, Tennyson, Wordsworth, Longfellow and an anonymous writer as subjects for illustration of every alternate page, the pages being written by who occupy it by combining scenes of striking nature with mostly telling of the infinite beauty and charm of the sea. All are so exquisitely done as to defy description. There is a depth of feeling and comprehension in the delineation of outline, a tenderness and truth and beauty in the tones of every bit of color shading that make the pictures real mirrors of Nature in their living movement of expression, thoroughly warmed into spontaneity by a permeating glow of conscious meaning. Both touch and coloring are dainty, true and delightful and produce a combination that makes the volume in question one to be desired; it, when once possessed, a thing to be highly appreciated. Boston: L. Prang & Co.—From the Boston Times.

Can be Cured, and by Dr. James M. Solomon, 25 Court St., Boston, Mass.

Dr. Solomon has cured a cancer on my lip of seventeen years standing, it was cut out twice by what they called eminent surgeons at intervals of six years, after being cut out each time I knew by the feeling it was still there, and it would be now if I had not been so fortunate as to have Dr. Solomon treat it, he did it without any cutting, he told me that the cancer was not to delay but to go at once and be excised permanently as I have done. My dear Doctor I thank from the bottom of my heart, JOHN HALLAHAN, 78 Charleston Street.

"I often prescribe Johnson's Anodyne Lincture for Erysipelas," said a physician to us.

Governor Brackett's Intolerance.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

The Governor of Massachusetts is elected by her people to serve them in executing her laws. He is not elected to be an autocrat. He is not chosen to be a despotic ruler, with power to make, misconstrue or mal-administer the laws which he finds already made by the legislative power of the state government. If he can read plain English his duty is plain, because he ought to know the intent of those laws. The last legislature, in order to secure the impartial administration of the new and most excellent Australian ballot laws, enacted a provision "that the Governor shall appoint three ballot law commissioners from different political parties." With only three different political organized parties, and recognized by the ballot laws and on the ballots printed by the State, it is plain to everyone that runs, though he be a fool, that in simple English this means that one commissioner must be a Republican, one a Democrat and one a Prohibition party man. In fact this provision of the laws was secured by the vigilance and suggestion of a member of the Prohibition party. This alone can secure a perfectly fair unbiased administration of the law.

Yet Governor Brackett not satisfied with his unsavory and mischievous anti-prohibition record while in the legislature of 1877, 1878, 1879, 1880, 1881 and 1884, and his sitting back suggestion as Governor, now caps the climax of anti-prohibitionism with an audacious unpardonable by even Gen. Butler's brief gubernatorial history, and arbitrarily assumes that two of the three new commissioners must be Republicans and the other a Democrat, and completely ignores the Prohibition party in his appointments, thus whether there be two or three parties in his cunning political vision, with malice aforethought, he constitutes the commission an intensely partisan one, two to one or three to nothing, whichever way he misconstrues it. Therefore the rights of the Prohibitionists are in danger. Two great parties about evenly divided, struggling for the ascendancy, are both interested to count the third party into their columns of votes. In other words their existence depends upon its destruction.

The Prohibitionists cannot be blamed if they look upon this act as an outrageous and unnecessary usurpation of authority on the part of Gov. Brackett, craftily designed to nullify the plain intent of righteous law so as to secure to his party unfair advantages over the other two parties. Instead of a lawful, honest non-partisan board of ballot law commissioners, he with Quaysif effrontery assumes the responsibility of constituting it an intended partisan board.

It is simply a piece of gross injustice and intolerance to not only the Prohibitionists but the Democrats and ought not to be tolerated. It is well to remember that the more than 15,000 votes of the Prohibition party nearly frustrated Gov. Brackett's gubernatorial ambition last fall, and he doesn't know where they will send him this fall.

The Prohibitionists refuse to accept such treatment without protest, and surely if they in the past have had something to say, now they cannot cease to agitate this manifest piece of injustice and do all they can to reduce his insignificant skin of the teeth plurality of 6,000 last year to a tried and found wanting minus.

Can the great Republican party, the party of Lincoln, Chase, Andrew, Sumner and Wilson afford to carry such a load? Will they continue to honor their chief executive who nullifies law, ignores common sense and enacts injustices? Is this necessary in addition to vast corruption funds to maintain itself in power? Is it not high time to stop the admission of cow boy settlements into the union of states to perpetrate congressional and electoral majorities?

Will Massachusetts forget her history? Will she blot out the record of her moral minorities of the glorious past, which have bloomed into great and conquering majorities in our own day and generation and encourage such outrageous injustice and cruel intolerance to her Prohibitionists? The Ninth Congressional Prohibition Convention passed a ringing protest against this high handed act of our Governor.

W. H. PARTIDGE.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

NEW TEACHERS—APPROPRIATIONS—NO SUPERINTENDENT YET—NEW TEACHER FOR WABAN.

The school committee was called to order Wednesday evening by Mr. Putney, and Rev. Mr. Lawrence chosen temporary chairman. Reading of the records was dispensed with. Miss Kate S. Chapman was appointed teacher in the Hyde school at the maximum salary of $620. Miss Oressa M. Baxter was appointed teacher in the Hamilton school at a salary of $620.

Mrs. Martin from the committee to secure a master for the Adams school, reported that they had secured one but the town of Water-town raised his salary to the same amount they were authorized to offer, and they could not report any more. They had one or two parties under consideration. This committee was given full power to secure a master for the Adams school at the maximum salary of $1000.

Mr. Burdard from the committee on accounts reported the salary bill for the current month as $10,240.05, other expenses $601.75, a total of $10,841.80, and this amount was appropriated. The usual statement relative to balances in the several appropriations was also given. The special committee on furnishing the new Chaffin school building reported progress. They had decided to newly furnish three rooms, and the cost would be less than $500. The old furniture had been made to do service in other rooms in accord with their best judgment.

A petition was received from the residents of Walnut asking for a teacher, they agreeing to be at the expense of providing room and furniture until the completion of the new schoolhouse. It was voted to provide such teacher at the city's expense, and the matter was left with the local committee of Ward 5 with full power.

Mr. Drew from the committee to secure superintendent reported progress. Consultations had been held with several parties. Mr. J. T. Prince requested not to be considered a candidate, and Mr. Drew understood that this decision was final.

An announcement was made of the meeting of the Middlesex County Teachers' Association on Friday, Oct. 31, and it was voted to close all the schools except the High, on that day.

An order was adopted that the committee on salaries should consider if any increase of salaries should be made to the masters of the grammar schools and report at the next meeting.

The committee on salaries was also to consider the matter of increased labor for the janitor of the new Chaffin school. Mr. Charles R. Young was appointed trustee officer at the regular salary when in actual service. The secretary was authorized to procure badges for the trustee officers at a cost not to exceed $1.00 each. Trustee officers were authorized to use their discretion in arresting truants found outside the officer's regular beats.

Mr. Harwood was appointed to fill the vacancy in the committee on superintendent made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Dickinson.

It was ordered that written examinations be made at the end of the first ten weeks of this term, not to exceed 75 minutes, to be conducted by the masters or teachers under their direction; and that similar examinations be made once in two weeks under the same conditions, until a new superintendent shall be appointed, these examinations to be kept on file.

The chairman of the board was authorized to sound the alarm signals until the appointment of a superintendent. $1000 was transferred from the salary to the general account.

Owing to the crowding of the schools in West Newton, due in some measure from the attendance of scholars who should attend at Newtonville or Auburndale, the committee on rules and regulations were instructed to consider what changes are necessary in the school boundaries in Newton, Newtonville, West Newton and Auburndale. Mr. Barnard stated that with the attendance at the West Newton schools as at present there would soon be an imperative demand for enlarged accommodations in that ward, but he thought some readjustment of boundaries could be made which would overcome this necessity and save the city considerable outlay for buildings.

A proposition was received from L. D. Whittemore to care for the clocks, and referred to the committee on accounts. Adjourned.

I Will Never! Allow myself to offer advice that I have suffered for the last year. That vile disease, Dyspepsia, gave me no comfort. I could not eat nor enjoy anything. The doctors amounted to nothing; nothing seemed to relieve me, until I used a bottle of Sulphur Bitters. Four bottles made me well.—Joseph Batchelder, Master of Schooner C. A. Baker.

Miss Dingebatters—"I said I would marry him on condition that he should go into business." Miss Hargum—"But aren't you unreasonable? If he goes into business, he needn't marry you."—Munsey's Weekly.

Tangle—"Hang it all, Maria! That confounded puddle of yours has bitten a piece clean out of my leg!" Mrs. Tangle—"Oh, how very annoying, Henry, when poor Fido is sick and the doctor says he must have a bite of meat for at least two weeks!"—Light.

NEWTON TARIFF REFORM CLUB.

The Tariff is a Humbug.

Every person interested in the subject of the tariff is cordially invited to take part in the discussion carried on in this column. Respectful consideration will be given to inquiries, criticisms and communications of every kind whether coming from Tariff Reformers, Free Traders or High Protectionists. Address Secretary of the Tariff Reform Club, Newton Centre, Mass.

Who Are With Us?

At the annual meeting of the Newton Tariff Reform Club, held on the 6th inst., a change in the constitution was made abolishing the moderate admission fee heretofore required. All that a person who believes in Tariff Reform needs to do now to become a member of the club is to send word to the Secretary, C. Howard Wilson, Newton Centre, asking him to put his name on the list. We would like to have every man in Newton who favors a reform of the Tariff become a member of the club. The constitution of the club is very simple. There is nothing in it to keep out any man who believes that the increase of duties at this time is unwise and unnecessary. Please send in your names promptly.

The Tariff on Hides.

(From the Providence Journal.)
"The fact is that the talk about the benefit to the shoe and leather industry from free hides is exaggerated."—Boston Journal.

This was not the language which our somewhat free trade contemporary used when it was protesting so vigorously and energetically against the imposition of a duty on hides in the McKinley bill, and it may be hoped that no advocate of protection for western farmers will cut it out and preserve it for use, when the question again comes up in Congress, as it undoubtedly will.

A Problem in Domestic Arithmetic.

(From the Manchester Union.)
How many eggs, protected at 5 cents a dozen, must a farmer sell to make up the increased cost of an overcoat for himself or a new dress for his wife?

Who Bear the Burden?

(From the Boston Herald.)
Those is this community upon whom the tariff tax falls with unqualified force are the thousands upon thousands who are in receipt of small, fixed incomes—clerks, book-keepers, salesmen and saleswomen, artisans, mechanics and smaller officials of all kinds—men and women who receive so much a day, so much a week, a month or a year, and who cannot hope, except by very great and possibly collected effort to materially increase their incomes. Every increase in the price of the necessities of life takes just so much more from the small surplus that they have at their command—assuming that they have a surplus—and in numberless cases these increases in price must mean the abandonment of small luxuries, and even comforts which usage has transposed almost into necessities. It is upon the backs of these that the great weight is to rest. They cannot shift it by processes of trade, but a very large number of them can, by their votes, repudiate the action of the men who have thrown this burden upon them.

More Work for Higher Wages.

(From a speech by W. E. Russell.)
In the report made to the state department in August, 1886, after a very careful examination by Mr. Schoenhof, he made a comparison of the cost of labor in manufacturing certain yarns at Fall River and at Lancashire, Eng., and he found that the labor cost in making the yarn No. 18 was in Lancashire 52 cents and in Massachusetts only 40 cents; No. 20 was in Lancashire 50 cents and in Massachusetts 45 cents; No. 28 was in Lancashire 61 cents and in Massachusetts 46 cents. And so on through the list, in almost every instance the labor cost being less in Fall River than in England.

He reports that a weaver in America tends from six to eight looms, in England from three to four; that the number of yards a weaver turns out in America is 1350, and in England 877; that the number of yards of woolen dress goods a weaver turns out in America is 300, and in England 105, and of cheviot cloth in America 120 and in England 80.

I might show you that the same fact was true in other industries, like carpets, boots and shoes—invariably our employees do more work and so get more wages.

I have in my hand a written letter from a gentleman thoroughly familiar with the subject, who sends me the figures of spinning and weaving in England as compared with the United States. The letters were collected by one of the best of one of the largest cotton mill superintendents this year (1888) in England, for one of the cotton mill treasurers to use, if possible, in that campaign (of 1888); but they were not used in that campaign because they showed that the cost of this labor, measured by the work it did, was less in the United States than in England. [Applause.]

I have, too, in my hand, an original letter from the president of the American Screw Company, giving in detail facts and figures to show that in his industry the labor cost here is less than abroad, in wire drawing especially.

He says, also, in the case of the Armstrong & Sims Engine Company, that they employ here one man and two boys to do a certain class of work, while in England they are employing five skilled workmen to do the same thing. And he gives further evidence on the point.

That, too, is the evidence of Mr. Sargent, the great hardware manufacturer of Connecticut, who shows that our labor, measured by the work it does, is the cheapest labor in the world, and that its high wages comes of its great productive power.

But I will refer you as conclusive on this point to the report made by two Republican secretaries of state—the first by Mr. Evans, who said in 1878 in his report:

"One workman in the United States, as will be seen from the foregoing extracts, does as much work as two workmen in most of the countries in Europe."

And Mr. Blaine in 1881 in his report said:

"The hours of labor in the Lancashire mills are 56 hours and in Massachusetts 60 per week. The hours of labor in the mills over the New England states, where the wages are generally less than in Massachusetts, are usually 66 to 68 per week. Undoubtedly, the inequalities of the wages of the English and American operatives are more than equalized by the greater efficiency of the latter and their longer hours of labor."

That is the reason why we are able to send abroad and sell in competition with the whole world articles in which labor is the principal item of cost and the raw material is the least—such articles as hardware goods, cutlery, machinery, watches and furniture.

We never could do it for a minute if it was not that our labor is more efficient than the foreign labor, and, though paid more in dollars, earns every cent that is paid to it.

The total product of English industries in 1882 was four billions of dollars in value, made by 5,140,000 people, while in the United States the total product was eight billions in value, made by 5,250,000 people, which shows that our power of production is almost per man twice what it is in England.

Sulphuric Acid.

It looks as though Mr. Candler made a mistake when he took up the subject of sulphuric acid, and claimed credit for getting the duty advanced. Mr. George Fred Williams has discovered Mr. Candler's name among the stockholders of one of the largest producers of sulphuric acid in the country. That is a singular coincidence, to say the least, and in this vitriol throwing contest Mr. Williams seems to have the best of it.

POSER FOR CONGRESSMAN CANDIDATE.

HOW HE VOTED TO TRANSFER SULPHURIC ACID FROM THE FREE TO THE DUTABLE LIST, AND HOW HE SEEMS TO BE THE PARTICULAR BENEFICIARY—A JOKE ON A CANDLER PAPER.

The following from the Boston correspondence of the Springfield Republican will interest Mr. Candler's constituents: Special Dispatch to the Republican.

Boston, Tuesday, October 21.

One of the raciest events of the campaign was brought out Tuesday night by George Fred Williams in his speech at Hyde Park, in reply to the sulphuric acid feature of the discussion between him and Candler, in which it appears that the transfer of this acid from the free to the dutiable list, for which Candler has taken to himself so much credit, was not in the interest of a single manufacturer in his district, but was for the direct benefit of himself as a stockholder in the Merrimac chemical company which makes this acid, and of course wants to get a high price for it. The acid is made from iron pyrites which are taken from a mine in the town of Rowe, and so the matter has some interest in Western Massachusetts.

Mr. Williams handled the matter as follows in his speech to-night:—
You will recall that I have been discussing with my opponent his claims to credit for having taken sulphuric acid, otherwise known as oil of vitriol, from the free list, and placing it upon the dutiable list at a quarter of a cent per pound. You know that he regretted his failure to secure a duty of half a cent per pound. When this claim was made by our congressman as the one triumphant answer to our complaints that he had neglected the interests of the 9th district, I turned from the question of free wool, free iron ore, free fuel, and free food to this remarkable claim on the gentleman's part, that instead of freeing anything he had secured prosperity to the 9th district out of the McKinley bill, by imposing a heavy duty on an article already upon the free list, and I looked wonderingly about in the 9th district for some traces of this important branch of our industry, knowing only that the article was extensively consumed by nearly all our manufacturers to whom the tax would come as a burden. [After acknowledging an error in his first statement of the amount made, Mr. Williams continued.] Let me state his claim of service to you in this matter. He tells this story that some of the manufacturers of New England, aware that he was familiar in detail with many kinds of business, wrote to him within the last six months that a New York man had secured a duty in Canada upon American imports of sulphuric acid, that he intended to establish a factory there and by making the acid cheaper than it could be made here flood our markets and ruin our sulphuric acid industry.

I confess that this remote prospect of ruin to an industry which was already exporting its product to Canada, did not seem to me to justify the gentleman in increasing the price of sulphuric acid to every manufacturer in his own district, but he thought otherwise, for he says: "Why was I elected your member of Congress? Was it to talk free trade with Canada? Was it to follow out literally the speech which I made 23 years ago? Or was it to let a wise head man, should stand myself to circumstances, and endeavor to protect the laborer and the manufacturer as much as was justly due them in the state which I had the honor in part to represent." The gentleman then says that he went before the committee on ways and means which, after his statement, made here flood our markets and ruin our sulphuric acid industry.

I confess that this remote prospect of ruin to an industry which was already exporting its product to Canada, did not seem to me to justify the gentleman in increasing the price of sulphuric acid to every manufacturer in his own district, but he thought otherwise, for he says: "Why was I elected your member of Congress? Was it to talk free trade with Canada? Was it to follow out literally the speech which I made 23 years ago? Or was it to let a wise head man, should stand myself to circumstances, and endeavor to protect the laborer and the manufacturer as much as was justly due them in the state which I had the honor in part to represent." The gentleman then says that he went before the committee on ways and means which, after his statement, made here flood our markets and ruin our sulphuric acid industry.

I desire now to give you the results of my investigation in the 9th district to discover what interest any citizens of the district had in this industry. I have asked in vain on the stump if any one knew where iron pyrites could be found within our limits or a sulphuric acid factory in a single town. I have asked in vain, but perhaps I have at last discovered a single man in the district who may be benefited by this tax, which as you know is paid in part by every manufacturer among us. I learned that the Merrimac chemical company, doing business in South Wilmington, Mass., is the second largest producer in sulphuric acid in New England, and the third largest in the United States. I learned that one of the largest producers is found in Franklin county, and that the mine is owned by the Davis mining company, of whose stock the Merrimac chemical company holds nearly half. I hold in my hand a statement of condition of the Merrimac chemical company, certified by the company's secretary of the commonwealth, in the list of shareholders I find the name of John W. Candler, against which 45 shares are credited. It remains, of course, for the congressman from the 9th district to state whether he is the man who owned this stock on the 12th day of March, 1890, the date of the filing of the certificate. I will not pursue the argument upon this state of facts until the gentleman has had an opportunity to deny that he has been procuring legislation against the interests of the people of his district, in which "he has a considerable financial interest."

The laugh is on the Milford Journal, and it must make the cold shivers run down Mr. Candler's back to read the attack which the paper made yesterday upon Williams in its defense of Candler. It seems that at Franklin the other night Williams quoted from Candler's now famous speech of 1869 asserting that our poor people cannot be warmed as cheaply here as in Pennsylvania because Massachusetts pays a tribute to Pennsylvania in the form of duty. This quotation the Journal mistook for an original utterance by Williams, and it went for him savagely, saying: "This is a deliberate and wanton falsification—wanton and deliberate, because Mr. George Fred Williams knows it to be such and the only possible motive he can have for this sort of statement is a desire to deceive unthinking voters." Mr. Williams, are you quite sure you have not lapsed into a condition of demagoguery? . . . The poor man pays not a penny tariff on the coal he burns and the man who claims to the contrary, no matter who he may be or what he pretends to be, is simply trying to deceive." Mr. Williams brought out this at the meeting to-night, and Mr. Candler gets the benefit of further advertisement of his former free trade views, and the Milford Journal shows how it is ready to pitch in against Williams, even when the man it really attacks is Candler.

The High Tariff Danger.

Thoughtful men of both parties say that the real danger from a high tariff is the chance that it gives to the more selfish passion of men, and on this account they have always favored the doctrine that duties should only equal the difference in wages between this and other countries. The danger is illustrated in this way. Supposing that a manufacturer of some special article, or a combination of manufacturers of that article go to the ways and means committee of Congress and ask for a duty that will only take a penny a year from each inhabitant. No one would feel that, and the request would not seem at first thought to be unreasonable. Yet when one figures up that there are sixty-five millions of people in this country, the duty would amount to a stupendous fortune every year. It would enable the manufacturer to raise the wages of his workmen five or ten per cent, which might amount to half a million, if he employs a good many men, and he could give a million or two to found a college or build churches, and then pose as a great public benefactor. Such a manufacturer would of course not refuse to subscribe to a campaign fund to help the party that had helped him, and if he gave a million dollars, he would still be able to make a sixty millions every year. It is the possibility of such things that constitutes the danger of the McKinley bill, passed as it is not denied in response to the demands of the manufacturers, who maintain a lobby at Washington for that purpose. How can government remain unimpaired and uncorrupted when it is constantly exposed to such dangers as these, and when unscrupulous politicians such as Senator Quay are in control of legislation, and a speaker stands ready to rush through without debate any measure that Quay proposes.

The Australian Ballot.

The Australian ballot has changed things remarkably. There was a time when the method of conducting a campaign mainly consisted of the employment of a glib-tongued ballot distributor, who divided his time between the hours of seven and four on election day, between pressing a sample of his goods into voters' hands and lauding the merits of his employer. In one pocket he had, perhaps a few "regular" ballots of the opposite party, and the close observer would notice that there had been a misprint at the bottom somewhere, the printer had got the wrong candidate in. In another pocket was a package of "stickers," and a successful appeal to a voter of another shade was terminated by the use of one of these. How radical is the change in the conduct of a campaign? Now the candidate must show up his record. His political history must be exposed to the careful inspection of his constituency. And a successful appeal to a voter of another shade was terminated by the use of one of these. How radical is the change in the conduct of a campaign? Now the candidate must show up his record. —Officer Fletcher commenced his daily rounds once more on Sunday.

—Mr. Cogswell and family have returned to their Paul street residence.

—Mr. L. L. Loring has purchased a handsome sorrel stallion this week.

—Mr. D. B. Coffin visited his home in Winchester the first part of the week.

—Miss Mary Sylvester has reopened her kindergarten school on Beacon street.

—Mrs. J. Edward Harlow of Crescent avenue is visiting friends in Attleboro for a few weeks.

—Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Leach go to-morrow to the Maine woods for a week or ten days hunting trip.

—Mrs. H. F. Sale has leased Councilman Geo. F. Richardson's former residence, Station street.

—Mr. Edward Wilson, of the firm of Wilson Bros., was in Haverhill for a day or two this week.

—Rev. A. M. Haskell of West Roxbury will occupy the pulpit in the Unitarian church next Sunday.

—Miss Agnes Cole takes the house on Ripley street occupied by S. E. Pratt, removing from Summer street.

—"The Century" will meet on Tuesday next promptly at 4 o'clock p. m. Subject for discussion "The Tariff."

—Mr. Louis A. Vachon is among the Globe contestants, having at present six votes to his credit as wage earner.

—Mrs. Shaw has returned from New York and is now with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Hamlin of Pelham street.

—The installation of the new tribe of Red Men takes place at Newton Highlands next Wednesday evening, Oct. 25th.

—Mrs. Luther Paul has been to Northampton this week to visit her daughter, Miss Florence Paul, in Smith College.

—Messrs. Garey & English have just commenced the erection of a dwelling house on Ridge avenue for Mr. Henry H. Read.

—Several members of the local Division, Sons of Temperance, visited the Warren Division in Boston, Wednesday evening.

—Mrs. Fred Butts is in Stamford, Conn., this week to attend the Bean-Howe wedding. Miss Bean was formerly of Newtonville.

—Some twenty-five from Newton Centre went last evening to Boston to visit the Mary Washington lodge of the Daughters of Rebecca.

—Officer Dugan arrested a man who was making a disturbance on the train from Upper Falls, Saturday evening, taking him off at this station.

—A series of very interesting half hour lectures are being held at the Baptist church each evening this week, and have had a large attendance.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Irving Crowell (born Leland), after an extended wedding trip through Europe, have returned home, and have taken up their residence on Irving street.

—We understand that Rev. Alexander T. Bowser, who has accepted a call to the Unitarian church, will arrive here tomorrow and will occupy Mrs. Fay's house, Station street.

—Among the guests at the Fenn-Emmons wedding at St. James church, Roxbury, Tuesday evening, were Mr. J. A. Baldwin and two daughters, Miss Alice and Miss Sallie Baldwin.

—Careful surveying is still being done between Newton Highlands and Boston, which means another railroad in Newton before a very long time. Private parties in connection with the N. Y. & N. E. road are in the movement.

—Mr. Richard Nagle has been employed by Mr. Thomas Nickerson for 30 years, driving to and from the railroad station when there was only one track, and a swamp and a coal yard where Union street, White's block and other buildings are.

—The list of letters remaining unclaimed at the post office are as follows: Abraham Anderson, Miss Daisy Ayers, Miss Alfred A. Blackstone, Miss R. G. Copp, Patrick Kelly, Patrick Mooney, Miss O. M. Sears, Henry I. Thomas, Mrs. Thomas B. Turner.

—Mr. Frank H. Williams of Crystal street is designer for Keeler & Co's furniture house, Boston, and his good taste is shown in the design of the furniture made for Councilman Richardson's new house, finished last week, a description of which was given in this paper.

—A second survey has just been made of another route for the proposed connection of the Woodstock Division of the New York & New England railroad with the main line, and this time the intersection of the latter occurs at Beaverville, instead of Hyde Park as first talked of.

—The marriage of Mr. Henry F. Merrill to Mrs. E. C. Hills was quietly solemnized at Trinity church, Boston, on Friday morning. A reception and breakfast were given to relatives and immediate friends at the Vendome after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Merrill will return to China, where the bridegroom has lived some years.

—A sewing school opened last Saturday in the schoolhouse at Thompsonville under the charge of the young ladies of the Baptist church. Mrs. George Smith is superintendent, assisted by Miss Chester and Miss Nickerson. The school opened with twenty-five pupils of different ages and promises to be a success, as the one last year under the charge of Miss Carolyn Capron proved to be.

—While standing on Pelham street, Monday, one of Mr. Richardson's horses attached to a provision team was pelted with slugs from slings by some boys and ran down Station and Beacon streets to the top of Beacon Hill with no serious injury, however. These slugs are fast becoming a nuisance, some persons having been struck by the missiles, and it is time a stop was put to their use on the streets.

—A charming morning wedding took place at the residence of Mr. A. D. Colby of Everett street at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. The contracting parties were Miss E. C. Colby and Mr. Parmenas E. Ellis. Miss Flora Robinson acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Chas. Thompson as best man. Only relatives and intimate friends were present, and the newly made couple departed later in the day for a two weeks bridal trip.

—Mr. John Keating finished the excavation for the new depot Wednesday night, and the foundation stone will be commenced upon at once. With the building coming to the street line, it is hard to find a place for the luxuriant foliage displayed in the picture in another paper, but in the course of years the street may be widened to admit of this beautifying that side. The carriage stand as now planned will be on the station street end of the depot.

—Rev. Dr. Daniel L. Furber, pastor emeritus of the First Congregational church, celebrated the 75th anniversary of his birthday at his residence on Grafton street, Saturday. A reception was held from 3 to 5 and until 9 p. m. Many of Dr. Furber's former parishioners, his many friends and the pastors of the various churches called to express their congrat-lations during the day, and he was the recipient of a variety of beautiful floral tributes which were tastefully arranged about the apartment where he received his guests.

—Mr. William Melbourne Farrington of Allston and Miss Mabel Gertrude Fay were married Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. S. A. Fay, Station street. The ceremony was private and was attended only by the relatives and intimate friends. Rev. Luther Farnham of Boston officiated. The bride was attired in delicate blue crepe de chine, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. A reception followed the ceremony, and at its close Mr. and Mrs. Farrington departed on their tour. They will be home at 13 Farrington avenue, Allston, Wednesday in December.

—A very pretty wedding occurred on Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. Wm. O. Knapp, whose daughter, Miss Mary Alma Knapp, was united in marriage to Mr. James Edward Pollo, book-keeper at Clarke's Hotel, Boston. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Theodore J. Holmes in the presence of the families and relatives of the contracting parties, and a reception followed. There were many handsome presents, including a silver service for the employees of Clarke's Hotel given to Mr. Pollo in recognition of his valuable services and kind treatment of them. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Pollo left on a short wedding trip, and on their return will reside at 36 Milton street, East Boston, where they will be at home after Nov. 25th.

—Victor Hugo called this woman's century, and the same is being illustrated right in our midst. The ladies have started a society here called "The Century," and at its meetings will look into the great political, moral and social questions of the day. It is an association of ladies who have formed a class for historical study during the present season, beginning Oct. 21st. Mr. F. L. Rogers conducts the class, opening each session with a lecture. Mr. Rogers, a keen observer of men and things, has a graphic and attractive style of communicating information and the rare faculty of making dry subjects palatable. They had their first meeting on Tuesday, which was attended by a large number. With so many pressing engagements as our ladies have already, it is greatly to their credit that they should propose to take up new work, but they have always chosen wisely, for no study can be more profitable or interesting than that of current events, and it need not be said that ladies, as a general thing, have not until very recently given them much attention. Judging from the number present on Tuesday there must be considerable interest in these questions among our ladies. Quite a number who were not present have united with the class. It looks as if there would be upwards of forty regular attendants of the course. We doubt if another village of its size in the country can match "The Century" in quality and number of members. If the ladies really want to study politics and current topics here is a good place for a start. The librarian of the reading room, Mr. Peck, will give members of the class a good idea, practically, of what a tariff is, by collecting a duty for tickets, and when that is paid he will allow them to advocate free trade on the floor of the hall. Success to "The Century."

—The next meeting will be held Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock, subject "The Tariff."

—At the meeting last Tuesday representative from Newton Highlands and West Newton were among those present.

—The committee consists of Mrs. Robert R. Bishop, Mrs. Alvah Hovey, Mrs. Theodore Nickerson, Mrs. Andrew F. Leatherbee, Mrs. Avery L. Rand, Mrs. Edward W. Mason, Miss Minnie G. Spear, Miss Mabel W. Mason.

NEWTON HIGHLANDS.

—Mrs. C. H. Brown is recovering from her long illness.

—Mr. H. M. Beal, carpenter and builder, claims attention. See adv.

—Mrs. C. B. Lentell of Boylston street has been very ill for some weeks.

—Mr. W. B. Bennett has been quite ill with pneumonia but is now improving.

—The next meeting of the Monday Club will be with Miss Webster on Chester street.

—The Chautauqua Club will hold its next meeting with Mrs. Bryant on Columbus street.

—The "West End Literary Club" will meet at Mrs. Johnson's next Monday at two o'clock.

—Quite a delegation from Newton Highlands attended the fair at Waban on Wednesday evening.

—The estate on Cook street and adjoining the railroad, also laid in that vicinity, is reported as being sold.

—The Methodist society will hold a hallow e'en social in Stevens' Hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 30th.

—Mrs. Guild and Miss Sweetser went to Northampton to attend the annual meeting of the American Missionary Association.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Ayer have as their guest Miss Agnes Thresher of Portland, Maine, who was formerly a resident of the Highlands.

—The subject of the first lecture in the English literature course will be "The Early Prose Writers." Meet Tuesday at three o'clock.

—Mrs. Holman from Newton Centre, who has taken a tenement in Deacon Whiting's house, does artistic embroidery and also teaches art work.

—Rev. G. W. Shinn, D. D., of Newton addressed the Monday Club on Thursday at Trinity church, Boston, on the subject of the Brook Farm Experiment.

—Mrs. Phipps is the delegate to attend the meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Association at Park street church, Boston, on Wednesday, Oct. 25th.

—Miss Chandler of Auburndale, who has been a missionary in India, addressed the Woman's Home Missionary Society in the Congregational chapel on Friday afternoon of last week.

—Mr. Henry Hodson has been making some alterations on his house, which much improves the appearance and also enables him to conform to the restrictions under which the land was sold.

—We hear that Mr. H. E. Durgin, whose place of residence is at the corner of Walnut and Hyde streets, has purchased a house lot from the Wm. Hyde estate, fronting on Hyde street.

—A large number of the members of the Newton Congregational Church from the Newton Highlands church attended its first fall meeting in the parlors of Rev. Mr. Patrick's church at West Newton on Monday evening.

—List of advertised lectures: H. R. Barney, E. Virginia Barney, Lydia Beaumont, John E. Carmen, Dramatic Club, Miss Nellie Evans, James Mahoney, G. G. Masters, James Martin, Walter Phillips, Mrs. Wm. Sanderson.

—The house lately built for Mr. E. H. Tarbell on Bowdoin street and adjoining Deacon Whiting's estate was sold a few weeks since to Mr. Burbeck. The house is now being furnished and Mr. Burbeck with his bride will occupy it on their return from their wedding trip.

—A house lot on Hillside avenue and adjoining the estate of Rev. Mr. Harriman has been sold to Mr. Ayer of Boston. The cellar for a house to be built immediately, has been commenced and when completed will be offered for sale. Mr. McAleer, the builder from Upper Falls who is now building Dr. Eaton's house, has the contract.

—At a meeting of the Red Men, E. Whight, F. B. Spear and J. C. Newcomb were appointed to confer with the Odd Fellows to ascertain if Odd Fellows' Hall could be secured for the meetings of the tribe. The installation of its officers, will soon take place and name of the tribe be announced.

—Tuesday, Oct. 28th, will be the great day of the season among lovers of fine horses at Newton Highlands. On that day at Elm Park, Natick, our popular provision dealer will trot his well known horse, "Highland Beauty," against John Cope's celebrated stepper, "Annie Nelson." Horses called at 2 p. m. sharp. A large attendance is expected.

—Mr. Oscar Truesdell, a former resident, has been in town this week visiting his old friends.

—Hose 7 has entered the race in voting for councilmen in the Globe contest, and has thirteen.

—Mr. McAleer has the contract for a house to be built for Mr. Ayer of Boston at Newton Highlands.

—The highway department have been busy clearing up the leaves and refuse in the streets for a week past.

—An English tea is being prepared by the Methodist society of Highlandville to be given next Monday evening.

—Miss Isabelle Strong Waban has gone to Florida and will spend the winter at Rollins College at Winter Park.

—Mr. W. F. Stevens, who has been at work for the Fanning Printing Co., has gone south on account of ill health.

—Mr. Spencer Wood intends removing to Boston, where he has been employed the past summer. He was formerly pattern maker at the Pettie Machine Works.

—There was a large number present at Quinobquin Hall, Wednesday evening, with the object of forming a benevolent and Friendly Aid Society, a benefit order paying $100 in 6 months with monthly assessments of $4.

—Mrs. S. G. Curry of this village will preside at the sale table for jellies, preserves and pickles at the Pomroy Home fair, contributions for this table are solicited and contributors are requested to send the same directly to the home if convenient.

—The Newton & Watertown Gas Co. have made connections now with Phillips & Train's Gas Mill and Peterborough, N. H., Mr. Bernard Billings will introduce gas into the post office and will also pipe his residence on High street, and the Quinobquin intend lighting their hall in this way.

—The Methodist church was crowded for the first time Sunday evening, and it is probable there will be a large number of other consumers in the near future.

—Rev. Dr. Chadbourne preached to a large audience at the Methodist church last Sunday morning, taking for his subject, "The growth of the Methodist society since 1700." He gave interesting statistics of its growth from the smallest society until at present it is the largest in the United States. Rev. John Peterson, the pastor, spoke in the evening, having for his theme, "Methodism up to 1700; giving a description of its birth in England, until its emigration to America. He spoke also of the first Methodist sermon delivered in this country in Boston by Joseph Lee in 1700.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Mr. Daniel Warren has been ill with malaria.

—The Misses Swallow of Concord street entered a number of their friends Wednesday evening.

—Two birthday parties were celebrated last Friday evening in this vicinity.

—Mr. Cephas Brigham remains seriously ill at the residence of Mr. L. E. Leland.

—The new mill of R. R. Bishop is now well advanced and the work of stocking with machinery will commence about Nov. 1st.

—The works of Billings, Clapp & Co. are employing more hands and doing a larger business at present than for the past two years.

—A Republican rally was held in Boyden Hall, Thursday evening, Mr. P. J. Conlan of Boston was the speaker and interested the audience on the tariff question; music was furnished by the Boston Marine band.

—Burglars are doing a rushing business in this vicinity, four places were entered Friday night last, the office of Dudley Hosley was the last place visited in this vicinity, and the safe worked, but not successfully.

—A pretty home wedding took place last week Tuesday at Newton Lower Falls, on contracting parties being Miss Mary Hunting, daughter of Mr. Edward A. Hunting, and Mrs. Arthur B. Smith, of Orono, Me. The house was charmingly decorated with autumn foliage by the friends of the bride. The latter, a tall, graceful blonde wore an exquisite gown of white embroidered crepe, with a demi-train and trimmed with silver feathers. The long tulle veil was held in place by sprays of myrtle. There were no bridesmaids. The maid of honor, Miss Anna Hunting, wore pink crepe, and Mr. and Mrs. Smith will take up their residence in Orono.

—Four cases of breaking and entering into Waban came to light last Saturday morning, including Mr. Gould's residence. Mr. F. A. Collins, the City Alms-house and Cottage Hospital in order of name. Mr. Gould loses to the extent of $5, entrance being effected through the front door. Mr. F. A. Collins's suffers to the extent of about $20, including two gold watches, a few pieces of jewelry, $15 in cash, and a few other articles. The contents of a safe were taken. The safe is of the old pattern being looked by a key. The burglars by a clever search discovered the key which was hid in a clock. Their plunder here amounted to about $50 in money. The Cottage Hospital was last entered this being a bold break as nurses for night attendance are employed. He was discovered when in the corridor leading to left wing and made a hasty exit, leaving his coat. As the following day was the usual pay day this was probably learned by the thieves and was the motive for their work.

NONANTUM.

—On Saturday last Charity's Olive Branch, Juvenile Temple, 1 O. G. T. held a union temperance meeting in Lower Athenaeum Hall, about eighty children being present. Mr. John Anderson of the Mass. Total Abstinence Society, delivered the first address, and was interspersed with some rousing temperance songs, and he roused the children to great enthusiasm. The members of the Temple sang some of their rallying songs. The second address was by Miss Jessie Forsythe, Grand Superintendent of juvenile work, who was listened to with great attention. Miss Forsythe is a great favorite with the children wherever she goes. After the addresses a plentiful supply of coffee, sandwiches and cake were provided of which all partook heartily. The meeting was brought to a close by singing.

The Waban Fair.

A fair under the auspices of the Eunice L. Collins Benevolent Association, for the benefit of the Cottage Hospital and other charities, opened auspiciously in Nehoiden Hall, Wednesday afternoon and closed Thursday evening. Nehoiden, an appropriate Indian name, is given to the first public hall in the pretty community known as Waban, possessing many natural beauties and so situated that it is accessible to the surrounding villages, which are being drawn upon in making up the rapidly increasing population of the new suburb.

Nehoiden Hall is situated in the pretty new building, facing the station, recently completed. It is owned by Councilman E. L. Collins and was erected by Lyman Ross from plans drawn by Mr. H. L. Warren. The lower floor is divided into two stores with an ample entrance and wide corridor leading to the hall above. One of the stores has been leased for the grocery business to Mr. Erastus Moulton, who is also postmaster, and the other will be occupied by a provision dealer. The building is finished in Carolina pine and its exterior appearance suggests cozy comfort and good cheer. The hall has been leased by the Waban Improvement Association. The fair will be the scene of many pleasant future social gatherings and entertainments.

A GRAPHIC reporter visited the fair Wednesday afternoon and inspected the numerous attractions temptingly displayed. The tables were well supplied with the usual variety of fancy and useful articles, and a rare collection of Turkish rugs, loaned by H. Boggian of Boston, were arranged about the apartment, forming a very effective decoration. The decorative properties of the Persian rug is being recognized and it is used for wall drapery in many of the modern houses. An inspection of the collection of rugs, valued at about $1000, was alone worth the price of admission. Among other attractions may be mentioned a rare piece of Persian embroidery and Japanese art production from the studio of Mr. L. K. Harlow, and a collection of beautiful Venetian lamps imported from Venice and loaned by Walter Kimball & Co. of Boston. The fair was a success and well patronized. The fair paper, a beautiful specimen of the typographical art, published under the direction of Mr. Chauncey B. McGee, alone netted over $300 profit, and the sales were very satisfactory.

VOTERS OF NEWTON!

HONOR YOURSELVES AND HONOR
YOUR DISTRICT BY VOTING

FOR
Hon. JOHN W. CANDLER,

FOR YOUR REPRESENTATIVE TO CONGRESS.

He is man of the people. A thorough business man. He is an experienced law-maker. He is a man of influence in the halls of Congress. He is capable, industrious and painstaking in the interests of his constituents and of the country. He has a National Reputation, becoming world wide as the Chairman of the Worlds Fair Committee.
Do not fail to vote for him.
Vote early. Polls open at 7 a. m., Close at 4.34 Tuesday, Nov. 4.

To the Voters of Newton.

The undersigned, independent citizens of Newton, recognizing that the consideration of national issues is liable to distract attention from local affairs, desire to urge upon the voters of our city the importance of electing to the General Court a man who shall most nearly represent the principles which we consider of highest importance at this time, namely, honest politics, tariff reform and civil service reform. Such a man is Richard M. Saltonstall, the Democratic nominee for representative from this district, the son of the ex-collector whose administration at the Custom House was endorsed by every honest man; a native of Newton who has secured an honorable position at the bar by hard work and faithfulness to the trusts committed to him; an honest, reliable, vigorous man.

If elected, he cannot fail worthily to represent the City of Newton.

The Mary F. Palmer Memorial.

At the meeting of the Trustees of the Newton Cottage Hospital a letter was read from the first matron of the Hospital, Mrs.
Davison, formerly Miss Pray, suggesting that a fitting memorial to the memory of Miss Palmer, the late matron, would be an endowment to provide for a perpetual free bed in the Hospital, to be called the "Mary F. Palmer Memorial." A committee was appointed to act in the matter, and they have enlisted the services of a committee of the Ladies' Aid Association, appointed for this purpose. The sum of five thousand dollars will be needed, and those having the matter in charge have no doubt of a speedy and generous response from the many friends of Miss Palmer, who will delight to thus honor her memory. The first contribution to this fund is $30.00 from Mrs. Elizabeth Belknap of West Newton.

Mrs. Belknap is an earnest friend of the Hospital and has a sincere appreciation of Miss Palmer's devotion to duty. It is hoped that many more such friends will make themselves known. All amounts received will be acknowledged in the Newton papers.

Contributions may be sent to Mr. J. R.
Leeson and Mrs. R. R. Bishop, Newton
Centre; Mr. Geo. S. Balleus, Newton; Mrs.
M. L. Bacon, West Newton, and Dr. E. A.
Whiston, Newtonville, or to the Board of Trustees, and to Mrs. E. W. Redpath, Newtonville, and Mrs. W. P. Ellison, Newton, of the Ladies Aid Association.

High Praise for Capt. Howard.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

I wish to testify to the worth and ability of Capt. S. E. Howard, who is candidate to the General Court from our city.

I have always known him, having been born and raised in the same county, and served with him in the same regiment during the war. He was quartermaster of the 8th Vermont Vol., during the Port Hudson and subsequent campaigns, and by his zeal, fidelity and efficiency in providing for the needs of the men in those campaigns, won for himself the highest regard from both officers and men.

There could be no severer test of a man's business executive ability than a quartermaster in the field.

At his old home in Brattleboro, he is very highly esteemed as a business man as public spirited and patriotic citizen, and if elected will do equal credit to himself and our city. H. W. Downs.

Capt. S. E. Howard.

(Brookline Chronicle.)

The Republicans of Newton have nominated for the House, Capt. S. E.
Howard. He is favorably known among the business men of Brookline and last winter he gave a very interesting paper before the Thursday Club, which was highly commended. Capt. Howard is a native of Vermont, is a gentleman of literary taste and alive to all the living questions of the day. He served with distinction in the war of the Rebellion, entering the army as a private, and for brave and faithful services was promoted to a captaincy in his regiment. He will honor the city of Newton and take a high rank as a legislator.

Pure Milk.

Mr. Hiram Coldwell, the well known milkman, whose daily trips from his large farm in Waltham have been made to his Newton customers for ten or twelve years, is now prepared to deliver the best quality of pure milk in any of the Newtons on either the north or south side of the railroad track. His address is P. O. box 992 Waltham. 2t.

BOTH BRANCHES MEET AND TRANSACT ROUTINE BUSINESS.

Both branches of the City Government met Monday evening, the business being mostly of a routine nature.

In the board of aldermen, President Pettie presided, Mayor Burr being absent, and Aldermen Johnson, Bond, Coffin, Fenno, and Harbach were present. Petitions were presented by S. W. Tucker for repairs of concrete walk on Church street; for a concrete crossing on the corner of Temple and Prince streets; Chas. I. Travelli for concrete walks on Highland and Chestnut streets; John Lowell and others for plank sidewalk on Middlesex road, from Hammond street to the Brookline line; Henry Lee and others for street lamps on Middlesex road, to meet the lamps of the town of Brookline.

John McLaughlin gave notice of intention to build a house 25x40 on Hale street, Ward 5; and John M. Robblee one 29x31 on Cherry street, Ward 3.

Alderman Bond made a report from the Board of Health recommending that the brook leading from Mague meadow be cleaned out and freed from obstructions, in order to relieve the district from malaria and other health destroying influences, and that $500 be voted to the Board of Health to enable them to do this. An order was then passed appropriating $500, and to be charged to any unexpended balances or to next year's taxes. It was explained that as the brook was on private grounds to a great extent only the Board of Health had power to do the work.

On recommendation of Alderman Bond an order was passed appropriating $500 to purchase a pair of horses for the chemical engine, one of the old horses having fallen dead recently in going to a fire.

On motion of Alderman Harbach the following water mains were ordered laid, 110 feet of 4 inch pipe on Beecher place, Ward 6, $120; 150 feet of 6 inch on Clyde street, $200; 40 feet of 6 inch and 350 feet of 4 inch on Church street, $277; and 30 feet of 8 inch on Winchester street, Ward 5, $60; total $557.

A petition was received from the trustees of the Cottage Hospital, asking for a fire alarm box and a hydrant, on the Cottage Hospital grounds; referred to appropriate committees.

A petition was received from trustees of the Woodward estate, stating that the covered brook on said property was a nuisance and asking for its removal; referred to the City Solicitor to ascertain the powers of the city.

The board then went into executive session over some board of relief matters and after the doors were opened adjourned to Nov. 4th, at 9 p. m. to receive election returns.

The Common Council transacted concurrent business and adjourned to Nov. 10th, at 6.45 p. m.

The New Newton Centre Minister.

The Toronto Evening Mail of Oct. 21, says: Rev. A. T. Bowser, who for four years has ministered with much acceptance and success at the First Unitarian Church on Jarvis street, is about to leave Toronto, having accepted the unanimous and pressing invitation of the Unitarian Church at Newton Centre, a suburb of Boston, Mass.

Mr. Bowser will take with him the hearty good wishes of numerous friends who have become attached to him during his residence here, not only in his own religious community but in others to which his kindly spirit and broad and generous sympathies have been freely acknowledged. In his sermon on Sunday morning, which was the last he will preach here for some time, Mr. Bowser alluded to his coming departure and to the kindly relations which always have existed between him and his congregation.

During his pastorate at Jarvis street the church increased in numbers and in influence, and much information with regard to liberal Christianity has been diffused throughout the Dominion. Partially as a result of his efforts a Unitarian Church has been established at Hamilton, and a Unitarian Association, holding regular Sunday evening meetings, has been formed at the west end of this city.

Discarding in the pulpit the services of oratory and the tricks of rhetoric, Mr. Bowser's is characterized by a direct straightforwardness and simplicity, and a fearless seeking after truth, which will cause him to be long remembered among those who are now called upon to regret his departure.

It is dangerous to tamper with irritating liquids and exciting snuffs. Use Ely's Cream Ointment, which is safe and pleasant, and is easily applied. It cures the worst cases of catarrh, cold in the head and hay fever, giving relief from the first application. Price, 25 cents.

Save the boys and the girls from scrofula and other forms of impure blood by giving them Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Board of Public Works.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

Do the voters of our city understand that on Tuesday next they are to vote upon the question of putting the city under commission?

The last legislature passed an act authorizing the City Government to establish a "Board of Public Works," which should have charge of pretty much all of our public interests. Under the fostering care of some of the representatives of our City Government the bill, as reported by the committee, provided that the term of office of these officials should be perpetual, subject to removal for cause; and after conferring upon them about all the specific duties that now belong to any department of the government wound up with an omnibus clause, providing that "said board shall have such other powers, and exercise such other duties, as the City Council may direct."

It contained no provision even for a vote of the people upon it.

When the attention of the legislature was called to this wonderful bill, it promptly struck out the perpetual clause and the omnibus clause, and provided for a submission of the act to the people at the next State Election.

If the bill had passed in its original shape, it would have been the most spurious and remarkable act ever imposed on a municipality; as it is, the bill is simply an abdication by the City Government, of its proper responsibilities and functions, and putting the city substantially into the hands of three or five men for management. Of course they all have handsome salaries, as befits Lord High Commissioners, and will leave the City Council simply the fifth wheel of a coach, with no powers or consequence, except as obstructionists and raisers of money for the commission to spend.

It is a radical change in our whole system of municipal business, altogether inconsistent with Massachusetts Municipal policy—a dangerous experiment, and tending inevitably to the establishment of a little official oligarchy at the mercy of which the people must be and remain the only remedy of the people in the matter being to remove one oligarchy, for cause, and put in another; or take their power away altogether by ordinance.

If this commission should be established there never would cease to be a contest in a city election over the commission and its powers; it would be an unending source of contention and trouble, and would serve no good purpose whatever.

The increased expense in salaries would be from twelve to fifteen thousand dollars a year.

The people will give five minutes thought to this bill, which never yet has been fully presented to their attention or consideration, it will receive very few favorable votes. It provides a dangerous, and to our City Government such a "Board of Public Works."

Do we not need a system of sewerage and drainage rather than an ornamental addition to our City Government such as a "Board of Public Works?"

The vote, on the acceptance of chap. 344, of the acts of 1890, should be decided by an overwhelming "No."

EDWIN O. CHILDS.

Newton, Oct. 31, 1890.

About Sewerage.
The fact that the Hospital Trustees and the Emergency Society have called the attention of the authorities to the necessity of constructing sewers has led many persons to ask whether the city government is likely to do anything about it now. It is gratifying to find that there is a disposition to start work as soon as possible, so as to meet the Metropolitan system when it reaches Newton, say in January 1892, a little over a year from now.

If plans are adopted and loans ordered this winter by the city government there is no reason why workmen should not be digging up the streets as soon as the spring opens.

There can be no excuse now for no action. All our influential citizens are convinced that sewerage is a necessity, and now that a practical scheme has been adopted they expect Newton to be put in condition to be benefited. The thickly settled parts of our city can be brought into connection with this Metropolitan system in 18 months from today.

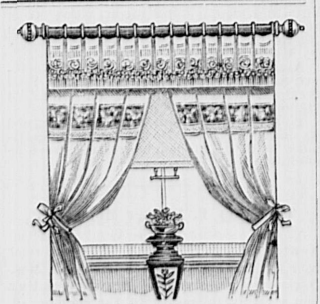

Two Made a Quorum.
"Papa," said the senator's daughter, looking at the clock.

"What is it, love?" asked papa, who had lingered in the parlor with the young people.

"It is nine o'clock, at which time George and I usually go into executive session."

Then papa retired.

There is a man in Paris named Boecker, who may fairly be considered to be quite the meanest among all the mean rogues which a great city can produce. Boecker planned a robbery and induced his wife to commit it. Then he went to the police and said that his conscience compelled him to the painful duty of denouncing his wife, hoping thereby to escape punishment. But inquiry proved that he, and not his wife, had planned the theft, and now the owner of this tender conscience is awaiting his trial in jail.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

City of Newton.

To RODNEY M. LUCAS, one of the Constables of the City of Newton. GREETING:

In the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, you are hereby required to warn the citizens of PRECINCT ONE, WARD ONE qualified to vote at the law directs, to assemble at

ARMORY HALL,
IN SAID WARD,

On Tuesday, the 4th day of November next,

at seven o'clock in the forenoon, and from that time until thirty four minutes past four o'clock in the afternoon, then and there to give in their ballots for a Governor, Lieutenant Governor, one Councillor for District Number Three, a Secretary, Treasurer and Receiver-General, Auditor, and Attorney General for the Commonwealth aforesaid; for a Representative of said Commonwealth in the Congress of the United States for the Ninth Congressional District; for one Senator for the Second Middlesex District; for two Representatives for Middlesex District Number Seventeen, to represent them in the General Court to be held in Boston, on the first Wednesday of January next; for one County Commissioner for the County of Middlesex. Also to vote upon the following proposed amendments to the constitution: Article of amendment to prevent the disfranchisement of voters because of a change of residence within the Commonwealth—No person otherwise qualified to vote in elections for governor, lieutenant-governor, senators and representatives, shall, by reason of a change of residence within the Commonwealth, be disqualified from voting for said officers in the city or town from which he has removed his residence, until the expiration of six calendar months from the time of such removal. Article of amendment relative to soldiers and sailors exercising the right of franchise—Article twenty-eight of the amendments of the constitution is hereby amended by striking out, in the fourth line, thereof, the words "being a pauper," and inserting in place thereof the words "receiving or having received aid from any city or town— and also by striking out, in said fourth line, the words "if a pauper," so that the article as amended shall read as follows: Article XXVIII.—No person having served in the army or navy of the United States in time of war, and having been honorably discharged from such service, shall be disqualified therefor on account of receiving or having received aid from a city or town, or because of the non-payment of a poll tax. Also to vote in answer to the question: "Shall an act passed by the General Court in the year eighteen hundred and ninety, entitled 'An act to enable the City of Newton to establish a board of public works,' be accepted?" being Chapter 343 of the Acts of said General Court for 1890. All of the above officers and upon the amendments to the Constitution and the acceptance of Chapter 343 of the Acts of 1890, to be voted for on one ballot.

The polls will be opened at 7 o'clock in the forenoon, and closed at thirty-four minutes past four o'clock in the afternoon, on the day aforesaid.

And you are directed to serve this Warrant by posting attested copies thereof in not less than four public places in said Precinct One, Ward One, seven days at least before the time of holding said meeting, and publishing the same in the Newton Journal and Newton Graphic.

Hereof fail not, and make due return of this Warrant with your doings thereon, to the Warden of said Precinct One Ward One, on or before the fourth day of November next.

Witness, Heman M. Burr, Mayor of our said City of Newton, on this thirteenth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

H. M. BURR,
Mayor.

The form of warrant is the same in all the wards and precincts, with exception of numbers and the places of meeting as hereinafter stated.

The Tariff is a Tax.

Every person interested in the subject of the tariff is cordially invited to take part in the discussion carried on in this column. Respectful consideration will be given to all inquiries, criticisms and communications of every kind, whether coming from Tariff Reformers, Free Traders, or High Protectionists. Address Secretary of the Tariff Reform Club, Newton Centre, Mass.

Who Are With Us?

All voters of Newton who believe in a real reform of the tariff, in the interest of the consumer, and in the true interest of the manufacturer, should send their names to C. Howard Wilson, Newton Centre, for membership in the Newton Tariff Reform Club. There is no admission fee, and the constitution does not bind the members to any political party.

What It Costs Us.

The Boston Herald of Monday gave an illustration by diagrams of what the Tariff costs the people on some articles. It is not convenient to give the diagrams here, but we will give a table which will show at a glance how the tariff bleeds. In the following table we show what one dollar would buy in certain lines of merchandise if the buyer got his money's worth, and also what it buys after the tax collector has made his "grab" for the benefit of the United States Treasury or of the domestic manufacturer:

ONE DOLLAR WOULD BUY.

Article.	Without Tariff.	With Tariff.
Caster Oil,	5-2 qts.	2 qts.
Sumatra Wrappers,	12 oz.	1 lb.
Havana Tobacco,	1-10 lbs.	1 lb.
Cigars,	12	12

Lined Oil,	3-3-4 gal.	1-4-5 gal.
Refined Borax,	20 lbs.	10 lbs.

In the above table we have only put a few sample articles of common consumption to show the purchasing power of a dollar with or without the tax. It will be observed that the proportion of the tax to the cost of the article varies greatly, which indicates that there was no general principle in the swindle, but that the grabbers who were most persistent in their demands got the most. The consumers were not heard.

Of Course They Like It.

The Boston Herald published interviews with a lot of merchants and shopkeepers in that city, and a majority were disposed to think well of the McKinley Tariff. Of course they do. Their shops are crowded with merchandise bought before the taxes were increased. The Custom House was amiably kept open until midnight the day before the bill went into effect to help them, and they will make handsome profits on their stocks. But how do the consumers enjoy it?

Goods Marked Up.

An intelligent Republican jobber said to the writer: "How absurd it is for these Republican stump speakers to declare that the McKinley Tariff will cause no increase of prices. We immediately sent letters to all our drummers to return samples for a revision of prices, and marked up our goods. Don't you suppose we know what we can get for them under the new Tariff? If the Tariff didn't affect prices what good would it do?"

Our First Tariff.

When our first tax bill was enacted in 1789 it declared in its preamble that its object was to protect manufactures. They were then in their extreme infancy. We had just passed through a long and exhausting war, in which we were reminded every hour of the want of manufactures. Our fathers felt that we ought to submit to an extraordinary exercise of the taxing power, not only to raise revenue, but to raise the pride of the infant manufactures, so that they would be encouraged by large profits to hurry up their development, grow fast and soon become independent of government aid, and able to stand in life-battle against all comers. In order to accomplish the much desired object, a protective duty averaging 8-12 per cent. on dutiable goods was imposed. This encouraging duty of $8.50 on the $100 worth of dutiable goods was about ten times as much taxation as they were paying for the support of their state governments, and was regarded as a very liberal encouragement, and under it they confidently expected the infant would soon be able to stand alone and cease to depend upon the bottle for its nourishment.

They never contemplated that the infant was to remain a perpetual imbecile, and that the longer it lived the more nursing it would require. But after 100 years have gone the bottle-sucking policy is more importunately demanded than it was then. Instead of the bottle the infant is now crying for a demijohn filled with protection and strengthened with an infusion of free whisky. Instead of its growing stronger on protection it is growing weaker, and the milk has to be mingled with alcohol and administered in greater quantities. Protection to the infants is like Col. Sellers' eye salve to the sore-eyed Asiatics, the more they take the more they want.

The average tax on dutiable goods is estimated at 50 per cent., or 600 per cent. as much as the rate of 1789.

It was admitted by our fathers that high duties were a contribution from the tax-payer to the domestic manufacturer, and it was so designed by them when the duties were imposed. They had an old-fashioned way of paying the tariff, high or low, increased the price of the taxed article. None of them denied that the consumer paid the tax on both the foreign and domestic product. He paid on the foreign goods for the support of the government, and he paid on the domestic goods for the support of the manufacturer. They admitted that it was a burden, but it was a burden which, in their infant state, was necessary to be borne. They did not say that it lowered the price of goods, but raised them. They did not say that the foreign producer paid the tax on the goods, but the domestic consumer.

SULPHURIC ACID.

CONGRESSMAN CANDLER EXPLAINS HIS OWNERSHIP OF STOCK.

In a speech at Hyde Park, Tuesday night, Congressman Candler explained his ownership of shares in a company making sulphuric acid, on which he succeeded in getting a duty, in the McKinley bill. The Boston Journal gives Mr. Candler's own words as follows:

In regard to this matter, I will say that some 33 or 34 years ago, with what I thought considerable enterprise, I started, with some other gentlemen, a factory for manufacturing sulphuric acid. I paid but little attention to it. I put some capital into it, and some other men developed it. It went on for a few years. My brother-in-law and myself had quite an interest in it. We wanted to draw out of it, so we sold a large part of our interest to other gentlemen in Boston in 1863. I gradually sold out my interest. I had been president. I didn't wish to be president. I had been a director. I said I was going to dispose of my interest in it largely and attend to other things. I didn't want to be bothered with it. In 1863, when the stock company was formed, I became possessed of this stock. One of the largest owners there is in the company is a very wealthy Mugwump in Brookline. All the directors are Democrats or Mugwumps. I felt a good deal of compassion for them when they felt obliged to come to me to ask me to advocate the protection of their industry, they being free traders. [Laughter and applause.]

Mr. Candler read letters from the manufacturers at this point, asking him to use his influence to protect their sulphuric acid and thanking him for his early attention to this matter. These letters excited much laughter. One of these from Charles O'Neil & Co. of Pennsylvania stated that the proportion of labor in the total cost of the manufacture of sulphuric acid was 70 per cent. "You see," said Mr. Candler, "that I was asking not for the interests of the rich, but for the interests of the laboring men, that they must have their work and thus we should be able to pay them good wages. I owned that stock to which reference has been made many years, and my friends purchased it of me from time to time. I owned about 1500 shares. I own 45. Mr. Williams says he looked through the ninth district, and there was only about $1200 worth of sulphuric acid made. How narrow a view to take! It doesn't matter whether it is made in the ninth district. The president of that company, a Mugwump, owned $50,000 of stock. My old partner owned some of it. They didn't vote the Republican ticket. I only regret that I have to have a campaign with a man who is not informed upon public questions, and who, when his misstatements of fact are explained, has to come down to personal reflections. I voted as I believed was for the best interests of the country at large, without regard to my stock. If the same candidate should come over again I should vote just as I did before." [Great applause.]

WATCHES AND THE TARIFF.

A VALUABLE CONTRIBUTION TO THE CONTROVERSY.

To the Editor of the Herald:

The advocates of the protective principle affect much pleasure over the replies of Mr. Royal E. Robbins, treasurer of the American Watch Company, to Mr. Sherman Hoar's illustrations of the burdens of the McKinley bill as applied to the manufacture of timepieces in this country, and this chiefly, as I infer, because in his contributions to the subject the former has endeavored to show that, at best, the gross sum paid by way of duty on materials entering into the construction of watches would not have the slightest appreciable effect on the wages of the American artisans engaged in that industry. Judging the disputation from that standpoint, I am not prepared to say that Mr. Robbins' rejoinders have not the appearance of demonstrating that the tax, as applied to materials entering into the manufacture of watches is not burdensome; hence, as to that branch of the McKinley bill that tariff reformers have either a weak case or none at all. But Mr. Hoar went farther, if not with illustration, certainly with affirmation, and I am not aware that Mr. Robbins has vouchsafed a reply. Dismissing his line of argument as to materials, Mr. Hoar has affirmed that timepieces can (are) be produced more cheaply in this country than in England or on the continent, and that position, if true, strikes at the vitals of the McKinley bill as to watches, and proves that the tax of 25 per cent. on watch movements of foreign manufacture is not necessary for the protection of the American watchmaker, while it compels the American purchaser to pay a premium for the products of home manufacture that they would, were the tariff removed.

I think it may fairly be claimed that until Mr. Robbins has addressed himself to this branch of the discussion, an answer which essentially admits the proposition of Mr. Hoar, but seeks to blunt its force with the argument that it is a small matter at best, may well be termed incomplete, if not evasive. Now, whether or not it is true, as Mr. Hoar asserts, that manufacturers of American watches can successfully compete with like goods of foreign make in a free market, must largely remain a subject of dispute, should its accuracy be denied, for the reason that the actual cost of production in this country, and the precise amount of profit, are facts that nothing short of an inspection of the books of the successful watch companies, covering a series of years, will show.

I know, in a general way, that the profit of the older American companies have been, and are, very large, though, of course, for obvious reasons, Mr. Robbins will hardly admit this any more than he will tell what portion of the present capital stock of his company is represented by stock dividends; whether it is not true that the earnings of his company in one year exceeds 175 per cent.; if his present factory buildings—erected in 1882, '83 and '84—were not paid for out of current earnings, ordinary or extraordinary, and if the dividends being made and provided for at the same time? Indeed, so prosperous has his company been that within 18 months a stock dividend of 50 per cent. has been declared, in addition to such dividends as satisfy ordinary investors!

The pertinency of these observations will be obvious when applied to Mr. Hoar's assertion that the tariff tax of 25 per cent. on watches of foreign make is in no sense necessary for the protection of this important industry, and that the McKinley bill in this regard obliges the American workman and all others to pay $20 for an American watch that the home manufacturer could place on the market at a good profit for $15, and even then—through improved methods and more efficient labor—undersell, grade for grade, goods of foreign make.

In this connection I beg to remark that, of the price of a watch, there is but a single one that this country cannot produce vastly more than 25 per cent. less than can foreigners—watch jewels. Jewel making, being practically hand labor, into which improved machinery does not enter, our workmen, are, as to those, brought into competition with operatives across the ocean. But to be consistent in his claim of consideration for the American watch work people, Mr. Robbins should have urged the imposition of a duty sufficiently high to overcome this disadvantage; yet, on the contrary, he procured the repeal of the duty heretofore existing on jewels, and they now come in free. The United States Watch Company's orders for export are increasing beyond its present power to fill promptly. This would appear to support Mr. Hoar's proposition that American watches can more than hold their own in competition with the world on equal terms as to cost.

Since the tariff is worth to Mr. Robbins' company as good as $750,000 a year, that being 25 per cent. of the amount realized from the sale of his products, his warm defence of the McKinley bill, but more particularly that portion thereof relating to watches and watch materials, can be appreciated, though I would not be understood as implying that he does not honestly defend the policy of his party on this vital question. By that party's course and his great business capability the tariff has compassed much for his stockholders, but when he said that it has also helped his employees by unconsciously robbing mechanics, like the late Charles V. Woerd, of the credit that is theirs by right, for by their inventive skill in the creation of wonderful machinery, and not to the tariff, has the American watch maker been enabled to find honorable, steady employment, at wages considerably above the average.

The company of which I have the honor to represent, through a beneficiary through the operation of the McKinley bill, exerted no effort whatever to influence legislation conferring exceptional advantages on manufacturers of American watches for the reasons, in substance, herein set forth.

Why They Are Leaving.

To the Editor of the Graphic:
The "Republican for 28 years" gave some of the reasons why conscientious men are leaving the Republican party, and he might have added even stronger ones. The Republican party of Quay, and Dudley and Clarkson, and Ingalls and Reed, is not the Republican party of Lincoln and Sumner and Henry Wilson. That is the case in a nutshell. It has substituted patriotism for patriotism, expediency for principles, and old time Republicans, who have gotten wide enough awake to pull the cotton out of their ears, are beginning to realize what a horrible change has come over their once beloved party.

They see its leaders openly boasting that "the decalogue and the golden rule have no place in modern politics," and in proof of this Senator Quay, a known defaulter, compels Congress to pass the McKinley bill, in payment for foreign contributions from favored manufacturers, monopolies and trusts.

The Republican party used to boast that it attracted the young men, the educated men, the progressive thought of the nation to its ranks, but where are all these going nowadays? Certainly not to the Republican party. Some of its voters still fondly imagine that it is the party of their youth, and by shutting their eyes to all facts, refusing to read all but their own party organs, they can still keep up their delusion, but the wide awake and well posted voter can no longer see the great changes that have come over the party.

The once great party of liberty and freedom and conscience now denounces men who dare to have convictions and to vote in accordance with the dictates of their conscience; it reviles those who believe that the decalogue has a place in the politics of this country.

The early Republicans had convictions, and many of them died for these convictions, and will their descendants be frightened by the same intolerant cry that is now raised against them? John Brown, Garrison, Phillips, and their followers were the anti-slavery mugwumps.

THE CITY ELECTION.

Next Tuesday the state and congressional elections will be disposed of and the decks will be cleared for the city election, which promises to have unusual interest for Newton people. Mayor Burr will not accept a renomination as he is satisfied that he has done his duty by the city, and the arduous duties attached to the mayoralty.

There is no doubt of the intention of the Citizens' party to run Mr. H. E. Hibbard again, and the argument of a second term, which induced so many Republicans to support Mayor Burr last year, although they usually vote the Citizens' ticket, will not be in force this year, so that the Citizens have every prospect of success. Many prominent Republicans are saying that when such a man as Mr. Hibbard can be induced to run all parties should endorse him; he is a good Republican, and therefore the Republican party should unite with the Citizens' and make this nomination and election unanimous. Whether this will be done remains to be seen, but it is certain that Mr. Hibbard will have a good many votes in the Republican convention, if one is held.

Of course there are some who oppose this plan, for various reasons. They grant that Mr. Hibbard is a good Republican, and would make an admirable mayor, but say that he should not have the Republican nomination because he ran as the Citizens' candidate last year. They urge with a great deal of force the excellent record of Alderman Harbach, as in last week's Journal, and say that it is not fair to pass him over in selecting a mayor. But Alderman Harbach is in just the place where he can do most good to the city and he can not be spared from the highway and sewerage departments, when so much is to be done in the way of digging up the streets next year. He is certain to be reelected alderman, but if he is put up for mayor and defeated, the city would lose all the benefit of his experience and his untiring energy, just at the time when it would need them most. It would be worse than folly to run such a risk.

Then the name of Alderman Pettie is presented by others, as the senior member of the city council, who has for years done faithful service. All this is admitted. Mr. Pettie deserves all that is said in his favor, but he is too good a man to be sacrificed and many men all through the city who intend to vote the Citizens' ticket, would feel sorry to be compelled to vote against him, and he should not be made to lead a forlorn hope.

The question of sewerage and drainage will be settled next year, and the mayor should be a man from the centre of the district to be sewered, who is personally interested in pushing the work forward as fast and as thoroughly as possible. This alone would make Mr. Hibbard in the thickly settled wards a much stronger candidate than he was last year, and the feeling that he is just the man for this work is very strong among those who favor immediate action on this matter, on which depends the future growth of Newton, and this is one of the reasons why they think he should have a unanimous nomination.

THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

It was a surprise to most Newton people that they were to vote on the question of establishing a board of public works in Newton at next Tuesday's election, as, being a city matter, it was naturally supposed it would come up at the city election.

The act passed by the last legislature is not according to the plan brought before the City Council, as for one thing it provides for five Commissioners, and for that reason it ought not to pass. A board of five men would be a useless expense, and although the number could be limited to three, the act allows of five, and there is no certainty that the latter number might not be appointed. In other respects the act is not satisfactory, and we have yet to find any large number of citizens who are satisfied with the act or who think that it should be passed.

Judging from the revelations made in the large cities which have boards of public works they are not always economical, to say the least, and there is always a chance that such high salaries positions would become rewards for political service, or filled with men not in every way qualified for such positions. Of course if ideal men could be selected, who would work in an ideal way, the board might be a benefit.

The present system answers fairly well, and it is doubtful if any board could have done more work, or done it more economically, than has been done the past year under the present officials, with the advice and oversight of the members of the City Council. If this is so, then the ten or fifteen thousand that such a board would cost, would be just an added expense, and if the city has that amount of money to spare, it would be wisest to use it in increasing the police force, or improving the condition of some of the main streets.

The question is whether new and inexperienced men would do any better in the water department, for instance, than Mr. Nelson Hyde is doing, or in the street department, than the late Superintendent Fuller, or Alderman Harbach, has done the past year. The men at work in the department do not think so, and they ought to know something of the matter.

A board such as is proposed, would introduce too much red tape into city affairs, and in the government of cities the simplest method is the best. The work to be done by such a board is now performed free of cost by the Aldermen and members of the Common Council, and as long as the city can secure such efficient service without expense, it is hardly worth while to go to a large expense to secure practically the same thing. Voters should think this matter over seriously before next Tuesday.

CHAIRMAN C. F. RICE, secretary of the 5th district Republican congressional committee, has answered the inquiry of the GRAPHIC, in regard to whether ex-Mayor Fox was not the candidate of the Democratic-Butler-Greenback convention that met in Eliot Hall, when Newton was in the eighth district, and says that Mr. Fox was not the candidate at that time. We were informed by a prominent citizen of Newton that he was, and so accepted the statement without investigation, as our informant is generally correct in his facts. On receipt of Mr. Rice's letter we hunted up the records and found that the convention was held in 1878, and that an ex-Mayor of Cambridge was nominated. So far our informant was right, but he was a little mixed on names, for the candidate's name was Bradford and not Fox. We asked the question in regard to Mr. Fox for information, but no one seemed able to say who was the defeated candidate twelve years ago, and hence we supposed the charge was true until we received the letter of Mr. C. F. Rice, through the kindness of the Watertown Enterprise, to which paper the letter was addressed. We are glad that Mr. Fox has proved his claim to having been always a Republican, as we notice that he and his friends regard that as one of the strongest, if not the strongest argument in his favor. When a candidate's claim to an election rests on such a claim as that, the importance of proving it beyond any doubt is easily recognized.

The campaign of education is certainly progressing, when it brings the Boston Journal to admit that "Possibly the tariff will advance prices of some few things" although it argues that "the purchasers will be better able to pay them, for the general prosperity of the country will be advanced." Perhaps, but take the case of Newton, for an example. The great majority of men here are salaried men, schoolteachers, bookkeepers, clerks in banks, stores, etc., salesmen, etc., whose salaries are fixed, and are increased neither by high prices nor lessened by low prices. If prices are advanced it costs them more to live and they are just so much out at the end of the year. They have less money to lay aside for future use, or less of comfort. Of course, if they have been enabled to save enough by low prices in the past to buy stock in a mill, or even in a sulphuric acid factory, the advance in prices might benefit them and they could rejoice in the general prosperity, but to ask the average man on a salary to rejoice because of a prosperity that raises prices, calls for the exercise of more philanthropy and unselfishness than the average man possesses.

REV. Washington Gladden has in the November Forum an essay on "The Embattled Farmers" in which he reviews the work of the Farmers' Alliance, now making such havoc among the politicians. These Alliances have caused some lively dodging in this campaign in the South and West, and have united these sections and destroyed the old sectional prejudice. They admonish "The Demagogue politician, who now attempts to sway sectional prejudice in order that he may keep farmers equally divided on important questions" that he is about to confront "a superior intelligence that will soon convince him that his occupation is gone." These alliances do not approve of Mr. Lodge's Force Bill, but how much influence they are to have will be shown in next week's election. Mr. Gladden does not think the Farmers can hold together very long, but he says that it will be something of a shower, and in some quarters a cyclone, and will clear the atmosphere. The movement does not appear to have made much headway in the eastern states.

In another column will be found the vote of the Ninth District for Congressman in 1888, which is now being anxiously studied by the politicians. It is certainly a curiously arranged district, but political exigencies determine such things. The vote in '88 was very large, as is always the case in a presidential year, and at such times it has a large Republican majority. But in an off year the district is always uncomfortably close, with the result in doubt until the votes are counted. Neither side are making any very strong claims, but both are hopeful. No other Democratic candidate has ever made such an energetic and active canvass as Mr. Williams, and the issues presented tend to still more complicate the problem. The importance of Newton's vote can be seen from the list, as well as that of the smaller farming towns, which usually give a Republican majority. We are surprised to find that Milford, in which the Journal is published, is in the Democratic list, and the Journal should try and have more influence this year.

So much has been said about the lobby in this campaign, and its influence in electing a speaker and passing bills, that it is only fair to say of the three gentlemen, who are candidates for representatives from Newton this year, that no one of them could be bribed by the offer of any committee position to vote for an unfit candidate. To hint of such a thing to Mr. Dwight Chester would insure his vote against the proposer, and his friends say that the same is true of Capt. Howard. Mr. Saltonstall of course would not be troubled, being of the minority party, but if elected he would make as honorable a record as Quincy or the other bright young Democratic leaders of the last house. Newton's interests will be safe in the hands of such men as these.

The list of polls in this city, given elsewhere with the changes in the voting list, shows that there are 2631 men in Newton of voting age, who do not take the trouble to get their names on the voting list. They are enough in number to decide any contest in this Congressional district, half of them would decide in this senatorial district, and a quarter of them could usually decide a city election. What a lot of fun the 2631 could have if they should get registered and bind themselves to vote in a body. They could dictate nominations for Congressmen, Senators, Representatives, and all the city officers from mayor down. It is their duty to vote and why do they neglect it?

HORACE P. TOBEY in his letter in the Boston Herald makes an interesting Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island that there is a great difference between a politician and a practical business man. The letter shows that he knows what he is talking about and that Senator Aldrich has only a very superficial knowledge of the bearing of the present tariff law upon the interests of the workers in iron in New England. Mere theories are slimy arguments when one has to meet such a man as Mr. Tobey.

It was certainly cruel, after the recent dinners at the Newton Club, for our contemporary to say that any prominent man who comes to Newton is taken to the Newton Club to be made acquainted with "the hoi polloi" of the Garden City. Such a reflection on the members of the ward and city committees who have recently entertained prominent men there, and on the membership of the club would arouse indignation if it were not so awfully funny. We hope no one will hint to these prominent visitors that they have met only "the hoi polloi" of the Garden City.

The Prohibitionists of Newton did not get their nominees for Representatives in the Secretary of State's office in time to get them on the regular ticket, but then there are three good candidates up. Mr. Chester, Capt. Howard, and Mr. Richard M. Saltonstall, any two of whom would do honor to the city. The first and last are the better known but Capt. Howard is vouched for by those who know him and also by Col. Geo. N. Carpenter, the popular Brookline representative.

THE Saturday Evening Gazette says that the Ninth District Republican committee had a dinner Saturday afternoon, forty gentlemen being present, and "their reports relative to the canvass made by the Hon. John W. Candler were not encouraging." This is in its news columns, but editorially it states that Mr. Candler is sure of being elected.

PREPARING FOR SEWERAGE.

THE WORK WHICH HAS BEEN DONE BY THE CITY ENGINEER.

A visit to the City Engineer's office, to learn some details of the plans for sewerage, showed that a good deal of preliminary work has been done. The City Engineer and his assistants have drawn up some five plans, differing in regard to some of their details, which are awaiting the action of the sewerage committee. The sewerage of Newton is a very difficult problem, on account of the great abundance of territory to be covered, and also on account of the many different water sheds, with their accompanying hills and valleys, which makes necessary a large number of branch sewer systems.

The main metropolitan sewer will enter Newton between the railroad and the Charles River and will follow the line of the river to Waltham. There will be openings for the Newton sewers to enter at Lemon brook; at Laundry brook near Boyd's Pond, and at North street, near the Waltham line. The branch sewers will follow the main streets with smaller tributaries from the side streets. The City Engineer is now making estimates of the cost of the several plans they have drawn up, which will vary in cost, and when this is completed a report will probably be made at once to the City Council, and then the amount of money needed for next year can be determined and also the method of raising it.

The advantage of having the plans made by men familiar with the topography of Newton is that they know the lay of the land, and the direction of the different streams, what standing water can be carried off by surface drainage and what must be carried off by the sewers, and other information which an expert from outside would have to spend months in learning.

As little surface water as possible will be carried off by the sewers, as the city will probably be taxed annually for the maintenance of the system on the number of gallons contributed to the Metropolitan sewer.

Grand Temperance Lecture.

Eliot Hall, Newton, will be crowded next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to hear Rev. J. H. Hector of Col., familiarly known as the Black Knight of Temperance, who will deliver one of his great lectures to our people. He is one of Nature's most gifted speakers, full of wit and pathos which he knows how to use effectively. Jubilee songs will be sung by his family who attend him. Hector and family were denied entertainment a few days since by Pittsfield's two best hotels on account of color. Can there be race or color prejudice in anti-slavery Massachusetts? Come early for seats. Every body invited. Seats free.

Resolutions.

Inasmuch as it hath pleased Almighty God in His wise providence to call unto the higher ministries of Paradise, His servant and our dear friend, Charles Edward Parker, we, the rector and his associates of the Church of the Messiah of West Newton and Auburndale, desire to record our heartfelt sorrow in this, our great loss, and to express our deep sympathy and love for his bereaved family.

We recall with devout gratitude his loyal attachment to the parish which he so faithfully served as warden, and in which he will be so sadly missed. His love for the church was an enthusiasm, to work for her was his very life, her services were a never-ending joy, her eucharist the very "gate of heaven," her holy days overflowing with benedictions, and his belief in the Catholic faith a most intense reality.

May the memory of his faithfulness comfort his sorrowing family and ourselves; may his example be an incentive to us to do like brave work; and may his reward be the opportunity to serve unceasingly in the presence of the Master. "Grant him eternal rest, O Lord; and let perpetual light shine on him!"

Henry Aiken Metcalf, rector; John Goodrich Litch, M. D., William P. Wallace, Charles Willard Carter, Edward Anderson, Maurice E. Beardsley, Joseph Foster.

All Saints' Eve, 1890.

At a meeting of the wardens and vestry of the Church of the Messiah of West Newton and Auburndale, held last evening, to take action upon hearing of the death of Mr. Parker, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God, in His wise providence to remove from us Charles Edward Parker, so long a pillar in this parish and a Christian light in this community;

Resolved, that we bow in humility and sorrow before our Heavenly Father, meeting the divine decree which has called our late associate from the burdens of the flesh unto everlasting joy and felicity, with all reverence and sorrowful submission;

Resolved, that cherishing the memory of our departed Christian churchman and brother, we desire to place on record the appreciation felt by this parish and by the members of this vestry individually, of the pure Christian character and deeply conscientious motives that so strongly marked the life of Charles Edward Parker; our high estimate of his worthiness, his helpfulness, and his many Christian characteristics as shown in his labors, his public services and private life, all conforming to high standards of true manhood, true churchmanship and true Christianity.

Resolved, that as a further mark of our respect we attend in a body the funeral services of our deceased parishioner in Christ; that the clerk of the parish be requested to convey in person to the widow of the deceased assurance of our sorrowful sympathy, and also to send the family a copy of these resolutions.

Resolved, that in testimony of our sorrow for the loss and esteem for the memory of the dead, these resolutions be entered in the records of this parish.

ABOUT SHOES.

Quality is the essential thing in Shoes. The quality of mercy is not over strained half as much as the quality of Shoes.

They should therefore be made of the best of leather, tough and firm. Carefully sewed with linen thread. Smooth finished without nails or tacks.

So shaped over common-sense lasts that they don't need "breaking in." Have all leather soles. We know our shoes will meet these requirements.

The price is as noteworthy as the quality of the shoes.

For Father, Splendid Seamless Congress or Lace, $2.85
For Mother, French Dongola Kid, Button, 2.25
For Brother, Strong Seamless, Lace, 1.49
For Sister, Elected Goat, Regular or Spring Heel, 1.87

These are representative offers. We have shoes of every style, quality, and price.

HOW TO ORDER BY MAIL.

Take a piece of paper, and standing upon it in stocking feet, trace around outside of your foot with pencil. The diagram will look something like this. Send us this sketch, and we will, by return mail, quote you price for any quality shoe you desire, delivered free to you by mail, and guarantee the fit.

The regular meeting of the Goddard Literary Union will be held at the usual place next Tuesday evening, Nov. 4, at 7.45 sharp.

The list of unclaimed letters in the post office, Oct. 25, is appended: Laurence P. Curtis, Mrs. Higgins, Ellie May, Mrs. Lucetta H. Maynard, Mrs. Joseph Work.

A special meeting of the Newton Club will be held at the clubhouse, Saturday evening, Nov. 8th. The report of the committee on the new clubhouse will be presented.

Messrs. Higgins & Nickerson are building a new house for Mr. Park on Clyde street and making improvements on Mr. Berry's house, corner of Central avenue and Turner street.

The election returns will be received at the Newton Club House on the evening of Tuesday, November 4th, special arrangements having been made to that effect through the courtesy of Mr. Cobb, the president. All are invited.

The Warren Club met on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Maude E. Davis, committees were appointed to select plays, and after a short business meeting, a pleasant evening was passed. The next meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. Dr. Talbot.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Universalist church held a meeting Sunday evening at 6.30 in the ladies' parlor. Subject: Singers; what is our song? References Isa. LI, 1:16; Eph. V, 19; Col. III, 16. This will be a public meeting to which all, young and old, are most cordially invited.

The Warren Club, lately formed in Newtonville, has no connection whatever with any church or other society. It is strictly a private theatrical club with a limited number of members, organized for the purpose of giving drawing room plays at the different residences of the members.

Services at the Universalist church next Sunday morning at usual hour, pastor, Rev. R. A. White will preach. Topic: Inferior Hindrances. The first of the special evening services to be held will begin Sunday evening, at 7.30 o'clock. The speaker will be the Rev. Charles Conklin of the Shawmut avenue church, Boston.

Capt. Higgins and a delegation of members of the truck company will attend the fair under the auspices of the Gloucester Firemen's Relief Association which commenced in the city Oct. 25 and continues until Nov. 1. Over $1800 in cash and presents to be given to season ticket holders. Tickets can be procured from Capt. Higgins.

Herbert W. Pierce of Boston has purchased the business formerly owned and conducted by the late O. B. Leavitt. Mr. Pierce was formerly a partner in the Boston house of Scott & Pierce and is familiar with all the details of the business. He will add to the existing stock a complete line of hardware and will make a specialty of hot water heating.

When Dyer was about to remove from the old block his sign blew down, and strange to relate the sign over Fitch's market met with the same mishap a few days ago, just as he was getting ready to move into his new store. Verily, a coincidence which may be explained by some of our readers learned in the sign manual.

On Sunday afternoon at the residence of Captain Elliot on Lowell street, funeral services were held over the remains of his cousin, Mr. Henry Brown, who died suddenly at Falmouth on Friday morning of last week. Mr. Brown had but just returned from a long voyage and was visiting friends at Falmouth when the end came. Rev. Dr. Worcester conducted the services.

It is rumored that "In a Balcony" is to be presented in New York this winter, at the Berkeley Lyceum by Mrs. Alice Kent Robertson, Mrs. Linzee Tilden and Miss Annie Payson Call. The production will be under the management of Mrs. Wm. Amory, and the proceeds of the entertainment will be given to one of her favorite charities. Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Tilden have already made brilliant successes in the roles of the Queen and Constance. Miss Call will take the part of Norbert.

D. H. Fitch moved into his new store today in Associates' block. It has been very neatly fitted up in Southern hard pine which permits a very handsome finish. The office is situated in front of the store in order to secure ample light and is also well arranged for ventilation. The new market is provided with every convenience including the Chase cold blast refrigerator, with an ice capacity of three tons. It was constructed by Higgins & Nickerson, the interior being finished in selected white spruce, without knot or imperfection of the grain. An overhead system ensures constant circulation of air and the sanitary details are first-class in every particular. The meat chest, butter and cream-burner tank are thoroughly trapped, preventing contamination caused by foul odors. The main chest is provided with an inside partition and sliding door, a new feature. The chest can be entered from the outside, the outside main door closed and the sliding door then opened, thereby confining the cold air completely within the chest and also preventing the admission of warm air from the outside. The exterior of the chest is walled up in Southern hard pine conforming to the general finish of the store.

A musicale for members, under the direction of Mr. E. P. Marsh, was given in the Newton clubhouse Saturday evening. There was a large attendance and the program was thoroughly enjoyed, calling forth frequent encores. The talent comprised, Hartshorne's orchestra; Edward W. Emerson, humorist and impersonator; John D. Shepard, tenor soloist; Edmund P. Marsh, bass soloist. Mr. Emerson was especially funny, and his facial acting and comic recitations brought down the house. He gave imitations of sawing wood, planing and the peculiar vocalism of the circular saw, his greatest hit, however, being an imitation of the buzzing noise of that little busy bee which stings as he finds time when not making honey. He also appeared to good advantage in the "Young House," in which Mrs. Claffin has such an active interest. The entire lower part of the house was thrown open to the friends, and in the parlor a large table loaded with attractive articles, was in care of Miss Susie Dickinson and Miss Abbie Sherman. Miss Sherman also took many orders for Mrs. Claffin's "Brompton Sketches" and sold numerous copies of "Real Happenings," the proceeds to go to the home. Mrs. Claffin told a true story of vital interest relative to two young girls, former members of the home, and made statement of present condition of affairs. There is need of funds to carry on the good work and this occasion must have added materially. At the "Touch and Take" table there were good sales, as also at the candy table in the back parlor where were displayed for the entertainment of guests many curios from far away lands and some old relics even of our comparatively new America. In the dining-room where Mrs. Geo. Kimball and Mrs. Charles Ames presided, tea, chocolate and cake was served. Mrs. Edna Dean Proctor kindly gave some recitations, among them "Christmas Eve, at Bethlehem" and her exquisite poem, "The Mountain Maid, New Hampshire." It was a very pleasant and profitable hour.

An organ recital will be given at the Unitarian church next Wednesday evening, Nov. 5th, at 7.45 o'clock, by J. Wallace Goodrich, assisted by Mrs. Charles Atkins, organist, and Mr. Charles S. Johnson, organist. This recital will be a formal opening of the new organ recently built for this society by George S. Hutchings of Boston. Members and friends of the society are cordially invited to attend.

At the Daily House, located in a retired spot off what is known as Cranberry lane, Saturday night, Michael and John Manning and Richard Taffe, were the principals in what the police believe was a general fight, brought on by too much indulgence in stimulants. When the officers arrived at the place they found that Daly's house had been besieged and the front door battered in with huge stones. Taffe had received a severe blow on the head and John Manning, an ugly cut in the neck, which came very near the jugular vein, and in which several stitches were taken. The participants in the melee were reticent in giving information concerning the trouble. The Mannings and Taffe were arraigned in court this morning.

A splendid present for an invalid or aged person is one of the great Easy Chairs, with tender sides to shut off all draughts of air, and broadly cushioned arms and shaped back. There is a fine chair of this description now being sold at a very low price by Paine's Furniture Co., 48 Canal street, Boston.

Mrs. Henry A. Pemberton issued informal invitations to a few intimate friends for a dinner in honor of her husband's birthday anniversary, which occurred last Sunday. Mrs. Pemberton's dinners are always a social and musical treat, and she always succeeds in following them.

Officer Quilty found a suspicious character hanging about the depot Sunday night, who made tracks as soon as he found himself discovered. He was chased by the officers, and Officer Shannon of West Newton joined in the search, but it proved fruitless. The back door of the depot was found open on examination. Officer Quilty captured two men near the depot Monday night, and arrested one drunk Thursday morning.

A charming wedding took place in the Congregational church, Wednesday evening, when Miss Lucie A. Johnson, daughter of Mr. Chas. H. Johnson, and Mr. J. P. B. Fiske, son of Mr. Geo. M. Fiske, were united in marriage.

The church and altar were prettily trimmed with ferns and flowers, and the church auditorium was filled to its utmost capacity with relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father, preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Annie Plummer, and followed by the ushers, Messrs. Winthrop Coffin, Charles Thomas, Edwin Jordan and Frederick Plummer. The ceremony was performed in an impressive manner by Rev. Calvin Cutler, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. E. E. Strong. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's father on Grove street, at which nearly three hundred persons were present. Mr. and Mrs. Fiske later departed on their wedding trip, and on their return will reside in Lynn, where Mr. Fiske is engaged in business.

Edward Hind's furniture wagon met with a strange mishap Wednesday afternoon. It was well loaded with household goods and chattels, enroute from the Auburndale freight house. The driver of the wagon was walking along behind with his hands on his hips, his assistant sat on the tailboard with a mirror in his hands and the horse was left to pursue his own course. The road by the freight house is paralleled by tracks of the Boston & Albany railroad which are, however, about five feet below the level of the highway. The horse made a sudden and unexpected detour and plunged over the embankment, dragging with him the wagon and the driver who had frantically thrown away the clock and grabbed the horse by the bridle. The astonished assistant threw away the mirror and jumped from the rear of the wagon. He presented a comical appearance as he stood on the embankment gazing in amazement at the queer scene below. The badly damaged furniture was strewn about the tracks, the wagon was pretty well wrecked. The poor driver was well shook up, but the horse came out of the accident smiling, not having received serious injury. Station Agent Dooliver hurried out to sign the train and the tracks were promptly cleared.

Mr. Charles Edward Parker died at the home of his eldest son in Newport News, Va., on Sunday last. He had been quite ill, but rallied and appeared to be improving, being seized rather suddenly with unfavorable symptoms, death resulting from a congestion of the brain. The deceased was born in Keene, N. H., Feb. 27, 1826. He came to Boston when 20 years of age and commenced his professional labors as an architect. He followed the profession throughout his life, and was the supervising architect of the Shawmut Congregational church, Boston, the old Elliot church, Newton, numerous town halls and private dwellings, and the transept of the western postoffice. In 1883 he succeeded Thomas Brown in the superintendence of the construction of the Boston postoffice and sub-treasury building, his work winning many commendations. His ability was such that he was prominently mentioned as the successor of Supervising Architect Bell of the government treasury department and the Washington Capital at the time in its editorial columns urged his appointment by President Cleveland, alluding to him "as a Democrat of the best New England type, a man of pronounced ability and a thorough business man." Mr. Parker was the brother of Horatio G. Parker of Boston and of Prof. Henry E. Parker of Dartmouth College. He had resided in Newton about 40 years being first married to Miss Perkins of Newton Lower Falls, and secondly to the daughter of a friend of his, Miss Jennings of Newton Centre. In Newton he was universally respected and honored. At the time of his death, he was a member of the Newton school board and had been senior warden of the Church of the Messiah. Personally, he was a man of genial character and kind disposition. His loss in society on account of his probity and purity will be sincerely mourned, and his memory will be tenderly cherished by those who knew and loved him. A widow and seven children survive him. The funeral took place from St. Mary's Episcopal church, Newton Lower Falls, Wednesday afternoon. The services were attended by many of his relatives and friends, the teachers of the Auburndale schools attended in a body. Members of the Newton school board were also among those present. Rev. Henry Aiken Mead, rector of the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, officiated, assisted by Rev. George W. Shinn, D. D., rector of Grace church, Newton. The floral tributes were very simple, including a sheet of wheat entwined with evergreen and a beautiful floral cross from the family. The remains were interred in the family lot in St. Mary's cemetery in Newton Lower Falls.

A sneak thief entered the residence of Engineer Geo. Sanderson, last evening, while he and his wife were out riding, and secured a small amount of money.

A second attempt to enter the Cottage Hospital as occurred Monday night. An employee of the hospital detected a man acting in a suspicious manner summoned for an officer.

Mr. Daniel Warren, Jr., purchased the express business of the late R. S. Bullard, Monday, taking possession Tuesday. The amount paid for business was $2300. Mr. C. H. Spring was a bidder to the extent of $2,280.

The residence of Mr. William Chatworth was entered by burglars early last Friday morning and they succeeded in making away with $75. The money was left in a careless position and had been removed by Mrs. Chatworth to a place considered most safe. A bundle of extremely valuable jewelry was found afterward tied up which through some oversight they missed. Officers have been at work on the case.

The burial of Lieutenant Samuel Jackson of the Charlestown navy yard, a retired Surgeon of the U. S. navy, took place at St. Mary's churchyard here, Wednesday. The burial took place with military honors, a detachment of the marines numbering thirty-six accompanied by a drummer and bugler escorted the body to the grave. Firing three volleys at intervals of one minute between each after the body was buried. The procession presented a striking, handsome appearance in full dress uniform and white gloves and guns lowered. A lunch was served in Boyden Hall, after services. Lieutenant Jackson's father, a younger brother from West Point and other family connections were present.

Lasell Notes.

A cablegram from Principal Bragdon from Yokohama, sent and received at Lasell Oct. 29, shows that the party has arrived safely in Japan, all well, at the end of a "splendid passage" across the Pacific. They sailed from San Francisco Oct. 9, and have, therefore, been out just twenty days. Just about the time expected.

Mrs. Jenness-Miller's lecture was a great success, the dresses were "perfectly lovely," and every one was in sympathy with the beautiful lecturer and her hygienic life.

The Temperance society met on Sunday and elected Miss Flora Gardner president for the year.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ogler were visitors at the school from the Maine M. E. conference.

Some members of the faculty attended the funeral of Mr. C. Edward Parker, Wednesday afternoon.

Some of the pupils have been hearing Mr. Robert Kennan in Boston, some more have been in the Angelus and Boston pictures. Others attended the Methodist centennial, and yet others the Mechanics Fair.

The private cooking classes began this week.

A party of pupils attended vespers at the Congregational church Sunday evening.

Abolish the Grade Crossings.

Newtonville, Oct. 29, 1890.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

Can any one explain or give a reason why the board of aldermen fail to take any action in the matter of the grade crossings on the Boston & Albany road at Newton, Newtonville and West Newton. The year 1890 is rapidly drawing to a close and it is high time that something be done if the city of Newton is to have the benefit of the appropriation of five million dollars made by the legislature at its last session, as an aid for the doing away of grade crossings on steam railroads. Under the law as passed the board of aldermen of a city or the selection of a town may petition to the su-perme court for the doing away of a railroad crossing and while the railroad must pay no less than sixty-five per cent. of expense, the state assumes not less than twenty-five per cent. leaving only ten per cent. for the city or town to pay. Here is Newton's opportunity, and never again will she have such a chance to get rid of her dangerous grade crossings at so small an expense as she has today. By the rapidity with which petitions to do away with grade crossings are going in, the limit of the state fund will soon be exhausted and Newton left out, if the board of aldermen delay much longer to make the needed petition. Gentlemen, please take action in this very important matter.

HOW TOPPY HELD THE FORT.

BY LILLIAN L. PRICE.

"Now, mind you, Topsy! No didoes while I am gone! You are to knit fifty rounds on your sock, an' sit on the back porch stiddy, an' keep the hens out of them dryin' apples."

"Yes'm," replied Topsy. She stuck one lean little finger into a morning glory bell and looked up with a queer little glance from her two bright, twinkling eyes to Miss Mehitable.

"And mind you nobody gets into the house! Be a good girl Topsy, and mebbe I'll let you off with twenty-five rounds on your sock to-morrow."

Miss Mehitable gathered up the reins, and started old Sulky off toward Dover, whither the austere spinster made fortnightly pilgrimages with butter and eggs.

She did not see Topsy's small nose turn up; but turn up it did, for this day Miss Topsy watched the blue tailboard of the wagon vanish down the road; then she picked up the corners of her long brown apron, and with speed in her heels, fire in her eyes, and vigor in her elbows, she shoed every chicken into the large water chicken-coop and shut it up tightly.

She returned slowly to the house, and picked up her gray sock and yarn ball from the place on the porch seat.

"You nasty, horrid thing!" said Topsy, glaring at the dangling leg vindictively. With sudden energy, she gave the needles a toss and a wish; the stocking landed among the grape leaves of the arbor. Topsy danced a bare-footed double shuffle on the soft turf.

"How'd ye get up there?" she asked, eyeing the stocking with a little snapping, sideways quirk of her eye. "You flew up there, sockies, to get away from being made wuss lookin' than you are already."

She sauntered down to the gate with a jaunty air, and looked up and down the road.

"Taint just time for 'em yet," she said reflectively. "Guss! I'll make me a wreath."

"She invaded Miss Mehitable's patch of marigolds."

"They hain't sweet," said Topsy, culling them profusely, "but they'll make a jolly good-lookin' crown."

She pulled them with long stems, and wove a wreath very dexterously. When she had placed this firmly on her smooth mouse-colored hair, braided into two pig-tails which branched out behind her ears in perpetual defiance, Topsy was an imposing spectacle.

"I'll wear dahlyers in my button-holes," she said, surveying her little shawl and a calico jacket. "Dahlyers are dandies for triumph."

A loud "Ahem!" sounded from the region of the garden gate.

Topsy turned quickly. Her garden party had arrived in full force. There were six of them. They were poorhouse children, the same as Topsy, and bearing the stamp of their pauperism plainly upon them. Such clothes, such misfit hats, such pathetic gowns and trousers!

Topsy flung open the gate with a magnificent air of hospitality.

"All here? Yes, there's Cracy and Tom and Junnie, and Martha, and Bobby and little Pete. You've had a hot walk! Didn't nobody ask you where you were a-comin', to did they? Sit down on the porch! Tell me 'bout a sock and a calico jacket. 'Dahlyers are dandies for triumph.' Wait till I hook Miss Mehitable's turkey-tail fan. It gives wind splendifer, and you can pass it round."

Topsy whisked into the house and returned with the fan.

Six yellow pumpkins were placed in a circle out behind the hop poles.

"Them's dahlyers, ladies and gentlemen, sit right down," said Topsy.

Three overturned milk pans served for tables. There were apples, bread and butter, a mug of milk, the largest fraction of a molasses cake, and a pile of cookies. For dessert there were some half-ripened hazel-nuts and some early-ripe sour grapes.

How the hungry eyes of the children dilated as Topsy brought the viands on! They began with low "Ahs," gradually rose to squeals as luxury overtopped luxury, and Pete put his small teeth into a cookie with a snap that told of keenest appetite.

Topsy watched them eat with her arms on her hips and satisfaction in her eyes.

"Taste good, Martha?"

"Awful," replied Martha, with a mouthful of apple. "Miss Mehitable is terrible good in givin' away her vittles."

Topsy's lips became a thin line. Her eyelids lowered slowly. She pretended she saw a refractory chicken in the hops, and made a sudden dash among the poles. But Tom had his suspicions. He rose from the pumpkin and followed Topsy. She stood quickly among the vines, looking flushed and uneasy. "Top," said Tom, "did you hook all them things for us?"

"Yes," said Topsy, compelled by his tone to reply, "but I hain't eat as much as I wanted to for a week, so's to make it fair. And to-night I'll just tell her, and get an awful whopping. That's all."

Afterward there was a grand promenade through the garden and barn, into the parlor to have a peep at its sombre horse-hair elegance, and finally out into the field to see Barnie. Barnie was Miss Mehitable's three-year-old colt, and a regular beauty.

"He's wild yet," said Topsy, "only half broken, and he won't come to nobody so quick as me."

She armed herself with an enticing ear of yellow corn, and they started for the pasture. It was a long, sloping lot, covered with clover rowen. The colt was in an upper corner. They could see the whisking of his tail as he stood with his head across the rails as if he had sought the wood lot cover for the shade.

"That's queer for Barnie to do," said Topsy in a puzzle. "You kin only peep through the bars, young ones, for that colt's a kicker."

She started across the lot, swinging her ear of corn by the husks, and singing in a cooing tone, "Here, Barnie, Barnie, Barnie!"

Barnie bore out his reputation as a kicker by raising his unshod heels and beating the ground furiously as Topsy advanced toward him.

"What ails you?" cried Topsy, in a tone of superior command. "You don't think I'm scared of your heels, Barnie! Lathered, do you?"

But on nearing the fence she saw to her astonishment the cause of Barnie's demonstrations. A rope noose had been thrown over his head and drawn almost to the choking point. The rope was fastened hastily to a tree trunk in the wood, and a man, who had been preparing to take down the fence rails at Topsy's first hail, stood glaring angrily at her. He was a flashily-dressed man. A wood road led down for a mile through the woods to the Shawangunk Club House. Topsy knew men of questionable reputation often congregated there from the city.

Nothing daunted, she climbed upon the rail as light and nimble as a squirrel, and addressed the man.

"What you want with Miss Mehitable's Barnie, mister?"

"Get off that, you kid, and clear out!" growled the man, pouring a string of oaths out at her which might well have frightened a more carefully reared child.

"Who cares for your swearin'?" said Topsy, winding her supple soles close on the old rail and standing up, with the marigold crown skewing rakishly over one eye, to survey this very evident horse-thief more fully. "You can't steal my Barnie with me here, I tell you that!"

Barnie whinnied at her well-known tones, and stood still. The man made a sudden dive for her, but Topsy had half expected it. She swayed sideways as his hand came out, grasped Barnie's mane, and with a spring leaped lightly from the fence to the colt's back, where she settled, striding him like a boy, with a look of triumph at the man.

"Now, mister," she cried in excitement, "Barnie has never had no one on his back but me, and he'll send you higher'n a kite if you try it! As soon as you ontie that rope, you bet I'll show you how this colt can scoot! And here I stay!"

Conscious of her advantage, she showed her little white teeth at him in a mocking smile.

"I'll climb that fence and murder you!" threatened the man.

"You darsent, for that rope haint tied tight enough around that tree but what I can get over there while you're gittin' over here, an' let Barnie loose!"

"An' if you lead Barnie off, you'll take me, too, mister, or he won't go a step."

Topsy sat there, her heels clinging to Barnie, and her eyes flashing clearly the mistress of the situation.

The man reflected. Then he whipped out an ugly-looking knife, and cut a long, thin switch.

"I'll see if this won't tickle you off that horse's back," he said, with a cruel glance at the little brown legs.

"No, twont," returned Topsy, turning pale but not a bit daunted. "You kin switch till you kill me, but I won't git off!"

Then, as a fine stinging cut came across her foot, she pulled it up as high as she could under her little scant skirt, and said between her teeth, doubling her fists and winking back the tears, "I won't git off, Tom!"

He voted against advertising applicants for licenses.

He voted against submitting the Prohibitory Constitutional Amendment to the people.

Once he did address a temperance meeting in the town where he resided, but not a word for Prohibition. In short that record looks like free rum.

He never voted for the weakest sort of a temperance law. Never!

He not only voted every time against every kind of a Prohibitory law but every time voted against placing any more stringency in existing license laws.

Every single time for the rum seller. That's his legislative career.

In his first and only message as Governor he craftily suggested to his Police commissioners, giving the Bums and Dons a rest, a chance to sit and gnaw old cheese, hard-tack and dry salt-fish, and guzzle rum and beer, recognizing the fact that these week-kneed partisans after finding it inconvenient to stand needed to sit in order to better maintain their standing.

His abolitionists you ought to know that Gov. Brackett is a complete misnomer as the weakest kind of a temperance legislator, and a perfect failure as the weakest kind of a temperance executive. This is plain talk. It is plain undeniable truth. Will you not tolerate the statement of truth enough to read it, think upon it, and follow the logic thereof?

You cannot plead ignorance. Your eyes are now wide open.

If you are a Prohibitionist vote for a Prohibitionist for Governor. You cannot vote for Mr. Brackett. Voting against such a man is better than talking prohibition forever. Talk is cheap. Deeds are golden.

Do you want a Prohibition Governor? You know just where to find one. Don't equivocate before the demands of conscience. Your duty is plain. To fail to vote for a Prohibitionist must be a sin against your conscience. Republican and Democratic license believers this is not for you. You are at home in your own parties and get every time what you want.

Prohibitionists are you afraid or ashamed to help swell protesting moral minorities on this or any other question.

REPUBLICAN DESERTERS.

MR. GEO. M. FISKE REPLIES TO A VETERAN REPUBLICAN.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

I notice an article in your last week's issue, wherein "a prominent Republican of Newton" who has voted with that party for 28 years, gives his reasons for now leaving it. It is such a typical Mugwump argument, and the writer, withal, "gives himself away" as the saying is, with such refreshing innocence and unconsciousness, that to reply is tempting.

This writer says in substance, that on account of its recent tariff and silver legislation, he who now votes with the Republicans, "votes to legalize robbery."

 The robbery of every man who works for wages.  The practical subjection, if not enslavement, of the laboring man, etc. Now the special significance of his article is this. For 28 years he voted the Republican ticket.

During that whole period, the policy of the Republican party as regards protection was precisely what it is to-day, therefore, he convicts himself of voting for 28 years to legalize robbery, etc., etc.

He would probably say as all Mugwumps do, "Oh no! I have not changed. The Republican party has changed." But his statement does not prove it. Let us see what the facts are, in regard to the great change which, Republican deserters claim, has taken place in the party.

Thirty years ago the Republican party espoused the cause of equal rights. It inscribed upon its banners the mottoes Liberty and Justice. It met prompt, determined, and armed opposition, but for four long years of bloody war, it held those banners aloft till the slaveholders of the South and their northern allies were completely routed. I do not claim the preservation of the Union as a party work, all honor now and forever to those loyal men of the Democratic party, who stood shoulder to shoulder with Republicans, beneath the old flag, and but for whose loyalty the Union could not have been preserved. I am simply defining the policy of the Republican party. The same mottoes are on its banners to-day, and it is as true to them now as ever.

At the same time, while the same old dominating spirit of tyranny, which confronted it in '61, has tramped upon the laws of the land and upon the rights of American citizens at the South. The Federal Election Bill, in its exact keeping with the sentiments of justice and equity which have ever animated the Republican party. The Democrats may call it a Force Bill if they wish. Perhaps it is a proper name for it, for, in my opinion, it is certain, that if they do not stop their policy of intimidation and fraud at the South, they will feel again the same "force" which they felt in '61, and if it comes a second time, it will do its work thoroughly.

The Republican party early espoused the cause of protection of American industries. Firmly and consistently it has held to this policy, viz. The necessary revenues of the country, which otherwise must come by direct taxation, to be provided by a tariff, which should be so applied as to give protection to our industries. No excess of duties for protection alone, has ever been advocated. The facts tell the story; "In 1857 only 18 per cent of our imports were free. From 1873 to 1883 30 per cent. 1889, 30 per cent. 1890, 30 per cent. 1891, 30 per cent. 1892, 30 per cent. 1893, 30 per cent. 1894, 30 per cent. 1895, 30 per cent. 1896, 30 per cent. 1897, 30 per —Rev. O. W. Gates and family of Parker street will remove to Boston, where they will stay for a few months, thence going south or west permanently. Their large circle of friends in this place regret greatly their leaving here and wish them continued prosperity in their new home.

—The leader on Dyson's three horse express team of Upper Falls was attacked with colic when coming up Beacon street bound homeward, Friday night, and after a good deal of excitement about the village, Dr. Bunker of Newton was finally summoned and disposed of the suffering animal.

—Progress on the foundation of the new depot was stopped last week, there being no sound foundation for the stone work to rest upon being found without digging 12 feet deeper on the depot side of the cellar and upwards of 15 feet additional on the street side. This is what has caused delay this week but they will soon continue work.

—The proposed project of a large hotel to be erected on the land corner of Beacon and Summer streets is still under discussion, although nothing definite has been arrived at as yet. There is no doubt that a first class hotel, similar somewhat to the Woodland Park Hotel at Auburndale, would be a grand good thing for the village and in the hands of the men who are at present interested in the movement there is little doubt something will be done about it.

—A reception was given to Dr. Mary E. Bates, the retiring President and founder of the Newton Associated Charities, on Monday evening, at the residence of Mrs. Frances Bowen, by the friendly visitors of the society. The spacious parlors were filled with guests from all parts of the city. Dr. Bates received with the hosts. The formal exercises were opened with a song by Miss Jennie Baker, and letters were read from Mrs. M. T. Goddard and Rev. R. A. White, regretting their inability to be present, and paying a high tribute to Mrs. Bates. Mrs. Albert Brown then presented Mrs. Bates with a beautiful pair of pearl and silver opera glasses, making a very graceful speech. Mrs. Bates responded in a fitting manner, thanking the ladies for their token of esteem. A supper was served afterwards, Rev. Alvah Hovey invoking a blessing, and after a social hour the guests departed.
